TROOPS SEE NAVY BEAT U-BOATS

WARSHIPS SINK FOE IN ATTACK ON TRANSPORTS

U. S. Craft Unhurt in Two Battles—Spies Blamed.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—American forces have fought two battles at sea with German submarines and in both conflicts have been victorious.

In two attacks by submarines in force upon the transports carrying Gen. Pershing's expeditionary army of 8,000 regulars the American naval convoys beat off the enemy and sent at least one submarine to the bottom.

"Casualties: None," was the word flashed to Washington in the reports on both engagements. Every transport arrived safety without the loss of a single man.

GOOD NEWS FOR FOURTH.

This was the news of the first battles fought by America in the war for liberty and democracy given to the public by the administration on the eve of the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of America's declaration of independence.

For nearly two weeks the administration has withheld the intelligence pending the safe arrival of the last contingent of the Pershing army, report of which was received late today. The announcement was made immediately with the additional motive furnishing the American people with a fitting cause for a joyous celebration of the Fourth of July just as nineteen years ago the American victory at the battle of Santiago crowned the observance of the national anniversary.

FIRST BATTLE IN DARK.

The first battle took place on the night of June 22. The attacking submarines, which fired five or more torpedoes at the transports, were routed by the naval convoy.

The second battle took place a few days later. American destroyers which had joined the naval convoy fought off the submarines and sunk at least one of them.

All of the heroes of the navy who successfully fought off two well planned submarine attacks official announcement of the engagements says nothing except that congratulations have been cabled to Rear Admiral Albert Gleaves, U. S. N., commander of the naval contingent which conveyed the American troops to France, and to Vice Admiral William Snowden Sims, U. S. N., commander of the American destroyer flotilla, which met the Americans and participated in the second engagement.

ALL U. S. SHIPS SAFE.

The official announcement of the engagements follows:

"The navy department at 5 o'clock this afternoon received word of the safe arrival at a French port of the last contingent of Gen. Pershing's expeditionary force. Announcement was made instantly and at the same time the information was released that the transports were twice attacked by submarines on the way across.

"No ship was hit, not an American life was lost, and while the navy gunners report the sinking of one submarine only, there is reason to believe that others were destroyed in the first night attack."

DETAILS OF BATTLE.

Such details of the battles as the administration vouchsafed were contained in the following statement issued by Secretary of the Navy Daniels:

"It is with the joy of a great relief that I announce to the people of the United States the safe arrival in France of every fighting man and every fighting ship.

"Now that the last vessel has reached port it is safe to disclose the dangers that were encountered and to tell the complete story of peril and courage.

TWICE TARGETS OF U-BOATS.

"The transports bearing our troops were twice attacked by German submarines on the way across. On both occasions the U-boats were beaten off with every appearance of loss. One was certainly sunk, and there is reason to believe that the accurate fire of our gunners sent others to the bottom.

"For purposes of convenience the expedition was divided into contingents, each contingent including troop ships and a naval escort designed to keep off such German raiders as might be met.

"An ocean rendezvous had also been arranged with the American destroyers now operating in European waters in order that the passage of the danger

ARMY EDITION —OF— THE TRIBUNE

For U. S. Fighting Men in France.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Army Edition, published in Paris, is to be ready for Uncle Sam's soldiers under Pershing as they settle in their training camp back of the battle lines. It is hoped the first issue of the paper will be ready for the troops, perhaps, this Fourth of July evening.

By this extension of THE TRIBUNE'S service American soldier boys with Gen. Pershing will be kept in touch daily with the important news from home, as well as with the tabloid military reports from the battle fronts.

The French government and Gen. Pershing have joined in approval of the enterprise, and the American government has done likewise.

Joseph B. Pierson of THE TRIBUNE'S home office staff has successfully negotiated the submarine field and sends word that he is ready with his staff for the publishing of a real live American flavored newspaper in Papa Joffre's town.

Obviously the Paris edition of the World's Greatest Newspaper will be of small bulk. Print paper in France is scarce.

But the home news for the fighting boys will be there in tabloid form, particularly the important news from Chicago and the midwestern territory, and from Washington. What the American congress is doing to keep up the pace and what the home folks are thinking about the boys who are trying to pay back a part of Lafayette's debt will be there.

It is planned, furthermore, to emphasize the comradeship of the first of the fighting units from home by printing day by day, with the approval of the censor, the little human interest stories that develop "somewhere in France," and later, on "the American sector of the first line trenches."

Cartoons and sketches, little stories that float over the top and back to the big capital—stories that may be big in their illumination of the great strife—and other features will be delivered daily in the Paris edition to the Americans on duty over there.

The work is not undertaken for profit. The paper will be sold at less than cost. It is an effort on the part of THE TRIBUNE to enhance the morale of the battlers from the states and make life a little more pleasant for the brave fellows who are doing their bit where it is tough doing for the independence of the world.

GERMANS BUILD U-BOATS WITH 30 TORPEDO TUBES

LONDON, July 3.—The Morning Post prints a Copenhagen dispatch which says the Germans are building U-boats of a new, larger type.

They are described in a Danish military review as submarine cruisers of 5,000 tons, more than 425 feet long, and with engines of 18,000 horse power, enabling a speed of twenty-six knots an hour on the surface and sixteen knots when submerged. The submarine, according to this authority, can go from the Baltic ports to Japan without refilling its oil tanks.

Its armament is described as being the same as that of a medium sized cruiser, and it has thirty torpedo tubes, capable of discharging ninety torpedoes, and can launch 150 floating mines.

BILLY SUNDAY'S MEETINGS TO BE ON NORTH SIDE

The lease for the ball park at Polk, Taylor, Lincoln, and Wood streets has been canceled and the big revival meetings, lasting three months and beginning March 3, 1918, will be held on the north side.

The new site will be at East Chicago avenue and Fairbanks court near the lake front and not far from the municipal pier. The announcement is made on the authority of the Continent, a religious publication.

Three Women Robbed of $410 in Store

Dr. Norine De Vere Spencer of 4329 Spaulding avenue was robbed of $225 in Woolworth's store at 210 South State street yesterday. She was making purchases preparatory to leaving for France with her Red Cross unit. A scrubwoman to whom she had lent $75 for medical treatments was robbed of the entire amount, and Mrs. K. Mott of 18 East Delaware place lost $110 in the same store. Women are suspected of the robberies. Two detective sergeants have been assigned to the store for today.

RUSSIANS OPEN WIDER GAP IN GERMANS' LINE

Now Peril Brzezany —Teutons Lose Three Towns.

GENERAL SCOTT, U. S. A. SEES BATTLE: O. K.'S IT

PETROGRAD, July 3.—Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States army and attached to the American commission to Russia, arrived at the southwestern front just in time to witness the beginning of the Russian offensive on July 1. He was accompanied by Col. Robert E. L. Michie of the general staff, Lieut. Col. T. Bentley Mott and Lieut. Col. William St. Judson.

Elihu Root, the special ambassador and head of the commission, is in receipt of an enthusiastic telegram from Gen. Scott briefly describing the battle.

Standing on a hill overlooking the Russian and Austrian lines near Zlochoff, Gen. Scott's party had an opportunity of observing the Russian artillery preparation and the charge which followed.

Gen. Scott described the artillery preparation as "excellent," and said that he personally saw the Sixth corps of the Eleventh army take three lines of Austrian trenches.

RUSSIANS PRESS ON.

LONDON, July 3.—The Austro-German forces are evacuating Brzezany, fifty miles southeast of Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, says a Reuter's dispatch from Petrograd.

These units, with the approval of the commander in chief, are resolving to do or die in the supreme test of Russia's manhood.

They are called, respectively, regiments, battalions, companies, batteries, and squadrons of "death." They wear black and red stripes on their cuffs, with a death's head on crossed swords.

TAKE THREE VILLAGES.

In connection with the fighting in Galicia, the official reports show that around Zlochoff, north of Brzezany and east of Lemberg, Gen. Brussiloff's soldiers have occupied three villages and driven the Austro-Germans beyond the Little Stripa river.

Berlin admits this reverse and declares that only German reserves were able to stem the onrush of the Russian tide.

The number of prisoners taken by the Russians is approaching 20,000.

In Volhynia there are signs that the Russians are preparing for an offensive and already attacks have been made against the Teuton positions along the Kovel-Lutsk railroad in the direction of Kovel.

Some fighting activity also is reported from around Riga and near Smorgon, north of the Pripet marshes.

RUSSIAN MORALE GOOD, BY ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT.

PETROGRAD, via London, July 3.—The significance of the Russian advance in Galicia is much greater than the trenched and prisoners captured. It is the turning point in the revolution, and Russia today is breathing freely after a fortnight of suspense.

The advance as planned was generally known. All hinged on the morale of the troops. The question was, "Would they fight?"

They have proved their morale is unshaken and a vibration of hope has been sent everywhere.

A fortnight ago one division, prominent in the advance, was split over the question. Later the soldiers all joined for the effort except a few, who were punished for their revolt by being sent home. The highest praise is due to all the troops because they decided themselves that it was necessary to make the advance if they would have a free Russia.

GREETINGS FROM CONGRESS.

PETROGRAD, July 3.—The congress of workmen's and soldiers' delegates of all Russia and the executive council of the peasants' delegates have sent fraternal greetings to the army, "who on the battlefield is defending the cause of the revolution and giving your blood for liberty and universal peace."

THE WAR

Berlin admits Russian troops have broken across Stripa river and have extended gap made in German lines. Further Russian attacks near Koniuchy reported as failures. Petrograd reports capture of three Galician villages and 6,000 more prisoners, over 16,000 in two days.

Paris reports continuance of heavy artillery duels on western front held by French. All German infantry attacks broken up.

HARRISON ARMS DANGEROUSLY ILL

Harrison Arms, nationally known in the horse world and president of the Arms Palace Horse Car company of this city, is dangerously ill in Marshall, Mich., where he went three weeks ago on a visit to his niece, Mrs. W. C. Cary. His condition became so serious yesterday that local physicians summoned Dr. Gillman of Chicago, his family doctor, who later held a consultation with Dr. Elliott, a specialist from Northwestern university. The attending physicians say that his recovery is doubtful.

POTATO RIOTERS IN AMSTERDAM ARE FIRED UPON

Women Mob Markets, Defy Police; One Is Reported Dead.

AMSTERDAM, July 3.—Serious potato riots took place here last night when mobs attacked two markets and were dispersed by police.

Early in the evening the police closed all the streets and bridges leading to the chief vegetable market in Marnix street, but notwithstanding precautions enormous crowds collected, including many women carrying children.

The mob became unmanageable, and at 10 o'clock reinforcements of mounted police, who were hurried to the scene, began to fire over the heads of the people. A fierce battle developed in the dark streets until midnight, when troops appeared and closed the entrance to the market.

Destined for England?

Worse scenes occurred at the potato market on Handels Kade. A rumor went about that twenty wagon loads of potatoes for England were stored in a barge alongside the market. The mob stormed the market and carried off the potatoes in sacks and baskets, the small body of policemen being helpless. Later, police reinforcements drove off the mob and it turned its attention to railway cars which also were pillaged. It was necessary to call troops to disperse the mob.

Dare Soldiers to Shoot.

Several officers were roughly handled and the people dared the soldiers to shoot. After vainly firing in the air, the commander of the troops ordered the crowds back.

"Shoot," came the reply from the front ranks, some men baring their breasts. Finally an officer gave the command to fire ball cartridges and the crowd then dispersed, carrying away some wounded persons. It is reported one person was killed and many wounded, including two policemen.

Mrs. Lowden Has Flag for Record Red Cross County

Mrs. Frank O. Lowden, wife of the governor, will give a Red Cross flag, made by her own hands, to the Illinois county which enrolls the largest number of Red Cross members in proportion to its population before Aug. 1. Campaign Director Wilbur Thurber received Mrs. Lowden's offer yesterday. A tally of figures from the 102 counties yesterday shows the total membership in Illinois to be 471,892. The goal set is 1,000,000.

DR. SCOTT SUES DETECTIVES WHO 'CAMP' ON TRAIL

In these war times it is not the most enjoyable thing to be shadowed by detectives. People are apt to whisper. At least that is what Dr. Orlando F. Scott, who lives at 2922 Washington boulevard and has numerous offices about the city, thinks. Yesterday he filed suit in the superior court for $25,000 damages against the Shippy, Hunt, and Dorman Detective agency. Attorney George E. Fidler filed the precipe.

"Those amateur detectives have been following me for three months," said Dr. Scott last night. "Last Friday night one of them curled up in the tire rack of my motor and rode for miles. Recently there was a 220 pound man standing opposite our home. He was trying to hide behind a three inch tree. They remind me of a correspondence school. False beards and that sort of stuff."

Last April two detectives followed Dr. Scott past a police station. He stopped and the "sleuths" were arrested.

Nicholas Hunt of the defendant agency said Mrs. Scott had employed his company to watch her husband. Dr. Scott denied this saying that he and his wife were perfectly happy.

HEART EXPOSED, LUNGS PIERCED, BUT HE'LL LIVE

When Otto Kleiden was taken to the Columbus hospital last Friday it was thought he did not have a chance for his life. There was a hole in his chest through which the doctors could see his heart. Dr. Thomas V. Dagnault operated, sewing up two punctures in Kleiden's lungs, the heart being exposed during the operation. The patient is in excellent condition now, according to the hospital authorities, and will recover.

Wife Too Good a Hurler; Martin Gets Divorce

William C. Martin, 208 East Forty-fourth street, told Judge Foell yesterday that his wife, Honora L. Martin, liked to throw things at him. Among the various articles he said she used were red pepper, a plate of butter, a glass of water, her shoes, and a china tray. And she pulled his hair out, too. Judge Foell granted him a divorce.

EXTRA

WHITES HERE FIRE AT BLACKS NEAR SCENE OF MURDER

Four Negroes Jailed After Slaying of Aged Man.

Four Negroes were arrested late last night suspected of the murder a few hours before of Charles A. Maronde, 70 years old, for more than twenty-five years a saloonkeeper at 5161 South State street.

Ill feeling is known to have existed between Maronde and the Negroes, whose invasion of the neighborhood he had fought.

Three of the suspects were arrested in a flat at 5154 South Wabash avenue and the fourth nearer the scene of the crime.

Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning a crowd of Negro men, hearing of the murder and the arrest of the four suspects, gathered at West Fifty-third and South Federal streets.

A moment later fifteen white men appeared in a large touring car, many of them standing on the running boards and waving revolvers. As the Negroes spied them they dispersed, shouting in terror.

As the colored men scattered in all directions the whites in the automobile opened fire. Twenty shots were fired. None took effect.

Riot Calls Sent In.

Riot calls were sent into the Fiftieth street station and detectives and patrolmen were rushed to the scene in automobiles. Patrol wagons loaded with policemen from other stations were also sent to the intersection.

The automobile just before the arrival of the police had been turned west in Fifty-third street and it soon disappeared. Detectives and extra policemen heavily armed were scattered throughout the district to prevent a recurrence of the affair.

Girls Chased in Park.

About the time the Negroes were being fired upon two young white girls were chased by a Negro through Washington park. The latter was captured by two boys and taken to the Woodlawn station.

Marie Walsh, 13 years old, 21 West Fifty-ninth street, and Belle Gray, 5020 Prairie avenue, saw the Negro following them and ran. The Negro was about to overtake them at East Fifty-ninth street and Prairie avenue when the girls shouted to Walter Callaghan, 5758 Indiana avenue, and C. Chabin, 500 East Fifty-ninth street. The Negro fled, but the boys overtook him. They beat him on the head and face before he was subdued. He gave his name as W. E. Brewer, 551 West Sixtieth street.

Maronde was found murdered at the rear of his saloon.

He had been shot once through the back of the head.

Sure They Have Slayer.

Detectives Sheehan and McNally, who arrested the Negroes, say they have the murderer or murderers in custody. Three of the Negroes were arrested in a flat at 5156 South Wabash avenue. The fourth was arrested near the scene of the murder.

One of the Negroes held is Robert Heard. The detectives say he was the last one seen leaving the passageway alongside Maronde's saloon, where the body was found.

Ill Feeling Existed.

Ill feeling between the saloonkeeper and the Negroes had existed for some time. The latter held numerous "beer" parties in the Wabash avenue flat, which is just across the alley from the saloon. They did not patronize his place, but went to a saloon at 5150 South State. In going there the Negroes used the passageway adjoining Maronde's place. He ordered them out several times in the past and argument ensued.

At 9:45 o'clock last night three of the Negroes hurried through the passageway. Maronde, the police say, told them to "keep out" and lay in wait for their return.

Woman Finds Body.

A few minutes later Maronde's housekeeper, an aged woman, who was in his flat above the saloon, heard a quarrel, then a scuffle and the noise of running feet, then silence. She hurried down the rear stairway and stumbled over Maronde's body.

Two of Roosevelt's Sons Reach France for Army

PARIS, July 3.—Maj. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. and Capt. Archibald Roosevelt have arrived in France to join the American expeditionary forces.

LOWDEN BALKS MARTIAL LAW; CITY IS QUIET

Dead List Totals 29; Blacks in Flight to Missouri.

BY WALTER BURNS.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 3.—[Special.]—Gov. Lowden arrived from Springfield this evening on a special train, bringing troop D of Springfield.

He immediately went into conference with Adj. Gen. Dickson, Mayor Mollman, Col. Tripp, and Maj. Cavanaugh, commanding federalized Sixth infantry companies on bridge duty, regarding steps to prevent a continuance of the rioting which has resulted in the loss of twenty-nine lives, the injury of seventy-five or more persons, and the destruction by fire of 310 Negro homes covering sixteen and one half acres of ground.

SITUATION IN HAND.

At the conclusion of this conference Gov. Lowden and the military officers went across the street to another conference with a committee representing the Mayor, St. Louis business men, and

As he emerged from Mayor Mollman's office Gov. Lowden said:

"I believe the state authorities have the situation absolutely in hand. I have found nothing that changes my opinion that it would be a mistake to invoke martial law. I do not expect to change that opinion.

"In the conference that has just ended Gen. Dickson advises me that the troops have obeyed orders and that they have the situation well under control. We are moving in more troops, however, and if more are needed more will be sent. If necessary, every available soldier of the state will come to East St. Louis."

TABOO MARTIAL LAW.

As a result of the conference martial law will not be declared. A complete and amicable agreement to this effect was reached by the conferees.

"We are in perfect accord on what shall be done," the governor said. "These gentlemen now agree with me that it would be folly to invoke martial law. They agree with me that the situation is now absolutely controlled by the authorities and that no more trouble need be anticipated.

"The first principle will be to restore peace and order. After that it will be plenty of time to discuss causes and investigate the actions of yesterday."

MANY TROOPS ON GUARD.

Aside from numerous small fires involving but slight loss, there were no disorders tonight, bearing out the governor's declaration that the situation is "well in hand."

Twelve hundred state troops, under command of Col. E. P. Clayton and Maj. William Klauser, are now patrolling the streets of the city.

Six hundred men of the Second Illinois infantry—companies B, C, I, K, L and M—have been ordered here from Chicago, together with troop D of the First Illinois cavalry, to augment the force already on the ground.

CRITICISM FOR TROOPS.

Gov. Lowden was said to be angered at criticism of the militia by members of the Chamber of Commerce. In spite of the friendly conference with the governor the members refused to modify the assertion that had the militia acted vigorously last night much bloodshed might have been averted.

At the massmeeting of the business men today the soldiers were charged with inefficiency bordering on cowardice. The merchants also charged the police force with negligence in attempting to quell the violence and with sympathy for the rioters.

Of all the incidents of the riot related today not one told of a single act of bravery on the part of the police or guardsmen.

Anxious citizens who inquired of individual militiamen why they did not stop the looting and murder which were going on—in many instances under their very eyes—received grins for their reply. Some of the soldiers were disarmed by rioters.

SAYS SOLDIERS SHOT NEGROES.

From other quarters it was charged that the militia or guard in the devastated district sided with the rioters and shot Negroes.

"The soldiers took sides with the mob," a Negro said. "The militia, as far as I saw, fired two shots. Both shots killed Negroes. The police also were on the side of the mob."

"These reports are untrue," Mayor Mollman said. "East St. Louis' police force of sixty men was inadequate to handle the riot. Neither policemen nor soldiers, I am sure, fired shots at Negroes."

Many Under Arrest.

Two hundred Negroes and many whites have been arrested. How many of the Negroes were concerned in the actual killing of white men has not been determined. One hundred of the Negroes were released today. Some were fined for carrying concealed weapons.

Three of the prisoners accused by witnesses of dragging a Negro through the streets with a rope around his neck were held to the grand jury.

Three hundred Negroes either shot or injured by fire are being treated in local hospitals. Many of the injured were taken to St. Louis.

Gov. Lowden remained in East St. Louis tonight. Tomorrow morning he goes to Carrollton to make an address at the unveiling of a monument to former Gov. Carrollton. He expects to remain in close touch with events here and will be in Springfield as early as it is possible tomorrow afternoon.

POLITICS BASIS OF RIOTS

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 3.—[Special.]—The breakdown of civil government in East St. Louis and a big part of St. Clair county surprises nobody who has kept even faintly in touch with politics as it has been played here for years.

Though it will be denied by men who are now in county and city offices, and by men who have been handling the political machines in East St. Louis for ten years and more, the right thinking class of folk realise that the riots and the failure of the civic authorities to even attempt to keep the peace come as the logical culmination of a long period of misgovernment.

Graft charges have been repeatedly heard. Grand juries have indicted officials. "Reform" campaigns have been initiated and, after a time, have fallen down. It is little wonder to the initiated that an officer of the law could boast in the shadow of the East St. Louis city hall that he "got two of the black ——."

Hurt by Sunday Lid in St. Louis.

When Folk put the Sunday lid on St. Louis twelve years ago, East St. Louis—that part of the business district devoted to the saloon business—became the natural refuge of the St. Louis contingent that couldn't get its drinks on the Missouri side of the Eads bridge. The first Sunday that the St. Louis saloons were closed more than 50,000 men poured across the bridge. Fortunes were made by the element that controlled the saloon business on this side.

The saloon people also controlled the city government and for a long while East St. Louis as a wide open town put an ordinary western frontier place on the retired list. Only in the last year has a city administration been strong enough to close the saloons on Sunday, and this has been accomplished in a more or less half-hearted manner, according to some critics.

Brundage Causes Improvement.

Within the last thirty days the state of Illinois, exercising its authority through Atty. Gen. Brundage, was forced to step in and demand that the state's attorney perform his sworn duty in enforcing the state laws. Just at the edge of the city, across the street, dozens of the lowest type of resorts were permitted to run openly day and night where white and Negro men and women mingled.

The definite threat that the attorney general would institute legal proceedings to put the state's attorney out of business caused a change in that situation.

The bipartisan game has been played to the limit by the men who are responsible for the control of the big party organizations. In local politics East St. Louis has been accustomed to misnamed political parties that did not carry the brand of "Republican" or "Democratic." It was a case of the men who were handling the "inside business" getting together under an alleged nonpartisan banner.

Lawlessness the Natural Heir.

Out of it all has grown the general disregard and contempt felt and displayed by the men and boys who have been participating in the orgy of murder and incendiarism when they started on last night's job.

RACE RIOT WORSE THAN BELGIUM, SOCIALIST SAYS

New York, July 3.—"Swift and severe punishment" for the East St. Louis mobs was demanded by the Socialist leader, William English Walling, in a telegram to President Wilson today.

Such punishment is necessary, Walling said, because "of the dangerous effect of race riots in America on revolutionary Russia, South America, and Japan."

Walling characterized the uprising as partly the result of German agents' efforts to stir up a race war to keep American troops at home and partly the result of an attempt by the southern states to keep the Negro under their thumb.

Speaking as a member of the executive committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Walling, in his telegram, said:

"The international and military situation calls for immediate action. There must be swift and severe punishment for the mob. But this will not suffice. There should be an immediate presidential proclamation in the present military exigency that the full military power of the nation will be used in defense of the lives and liberty of our colored fellow citizens."

NEGRO BESET BY SIX YOUTHS DRAWS KNIFE

Thomas Nuby, 42 years old, a Negro painter of 3628 South State street, was arrested by Sergts. Kelly and Lurel at Thirty-first street and Calumet avenue last night when he drew a pocketknife to protect himself from a group of six young men who taunted him about the race riots in East St. Louis.

Nuby and Thomas Pittman, his brother-in-law, who recently came to Chicago from Alabama, were passing the corner when they were accosted by six young men. Nuby told the police.

"Where are you going? Better not go to East St. Louis; they would lynch you down there," the young men said.

When Nuby resented their remarks they attacked him. He sought refuge in a store while the growing crowd cried, "Lynch him!" and made other threats.

IRE OF CITIZENS FAILS TO RELAX AS RIOT DECLINES

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

East St. Louis, Ill., July 3.—[Special.]—The influx of the black man is the generally accepted cause for the East St. Louis rioting, which is unparalleled for its frightfulness and barbarity. Even twelve hours following a reign not unlike that of Nero, this community is indifferent to a situation that would seem inconceivable in these civilized United States.

It is not made up of a crowd of mere hot-headed youths. Full grown men and women are imbued with but the one slogan, "We don't want the nigger." The true situation may possibly be gleaned when it is pointed out that human torsos lying in the smoldering ruins were looked upon by the natives as but débris. When inquiries were made as to burial there was one reply, "No need! He staid in and got roasted. Why didn't that nigger come out and let us get a shot at him?"

And this was and is the temper of these citizens of Illinois.

Events Leading to Uprising.

A chronological history of the events leading up to and precipitating the lawless outbreak of yesterday are given upon facts furnished by Michael Whalen, city clerk of East St. Louis, and also president of the Central Trades and Labor council in that section. Whalen said the growing impression has been that the big employers of labor were determined to make East St. Louis "a Negro town" and in so doing destroy labor unions.

According to Whalen, it was last summer that nearly 5,000 white men went on strike in the Armour, Swift, and Morris packing plants. Nearly 1,000 Negroes, it was claimed, were imported from the south to take the places of men in packing plants, as strikebreakers.

These Negroes mostly came in box cars. They were put to work in the loading of box cars, the handling of crates of meat and lard, and trucking. This same number of Negroes, it is said, remained employed when the strike was ended. That many white men failed to get their jobs back. Negroes ever since have been coming from southern states to East St. Louis.

Big Companies Their Employers.

Whalen asserts that among the big employers who have laid off white men and employed Negroes in their places were the Swift, Armour, and Morris plants, the Aluminum Company of America, the Missouri Malleable Iron company, the American Steel Foundries, and the Cotton Seed Oil company. The imported blacks arrive principally on Sunday nights, bringing their families with them.

It is estimated that East St. Louis has a population of nearly 22,000 Negroes based upon a Negro vote of about 7,000. Between 6,000 and 8,000 Negro men, it is claimed, have been brought here from the south within the last year. It has been pointed out that many of these have failed to obtain work.

Without work they were forced to seek the shelter and food of their Negro friends. Under these conditions, it is charged, they committed frequent highway robberies, burglary, and other depredations upon the white citizens.

Seek to Protect Families.

These citizens have further charged that many of the black skinned arrivals brought with them as baggage only revolvers and razors. These same citizens defend themselves by declaring they undertook to drive them out of town to protect their property and families.

The wage scale for this class of white and Negro labor has been $2.50 a day.

President Whalen said that nearly a decade ago the packing house interests here imported a foreign element in large numbers. And that these same interests are now trying to supplant them with the southern Negroes. A general denial of the charge was made today by a representative of the Armour plant on that side of the river. The Aluminum company, through its superintendent, R. F. Rucker, stated that since war was declared a large number of the foreign element had left their employment in East St. Louis to work in the munition plants in the east at higher wages.

Says They Came Voluntarily.

He pointed out that as a result the Negro voluntarily came from southern sections. It was upon their arrival and the procuring of ready employment, according to Rucker, that they communicated to their relatives and friends, with the result that the steady influx grew.

It was only recently, alarmed by this situation, that the Illinois State Council of Defense met in East St. Louis to investigate a situation which even at that time was regarded as serious.

Shortly before noon today, despite the assurances that the disorders were over, the writer witnessed, in company with two other Chicago newspaper men, the temper of some of the citizens. A Negro home in the vicinity of Bond and Trendley avenues that had been deserted during the rioting last night was "fired." No sooner had a riot call been sent in than four other houses near Fourth street were also discovered ablaze. When the attention of the crowd was attracted to these dwellings, the responses were, "Hurrah! Who cares? Let them burn!"

Women Active in Disorder.

Other acts of unmolested depredations were when two white women boldly entered the home of a panicky stricken Negro family and began to drum a duet to the tune of "There'll Be a Hot Time." National guardsmen who stood on duty outside made no effort to interfere.

Another woman boastingly remarked, "I hit one nigger in the head with a brick and knocked him out." And there were numerous other acts and expressions of this kind.

One Man in East St. Louis Dies of Overexcitement

East St. Louis, Ill., July 3.—It was ascertained today that J. C. Doubleman, who lost his life last night, died of overexcitement.

WORK OF THE MOB

Black Valley Desolated; Exodus from the City Hall Over the Bridge Into Missouri; Setting Fire to a Baby's Crib; Some Homeless Ones.

BY WALTER BURNS.

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—[Special.]—Black valley was wiped out. Black valley was the Negro district of East St. Louis. It was distributed in a sunken space under Broadway, the principal street of the town. It contained rows of saloons and immoral resorts, permitted by the authorities, and it rang at night with the music of banjos and jass bands.

The rioting was of a character not followed usually by mobs. In fact, there was no mob in the aggregate at all. The mob was made up of fifty separate mobs. This made it more difficult for the police to control the situation.

The Municipal (free) bridge all during today showed a steady exodus of the Negro and his family. The city hall in East St. Louis, whither they fled last night for protection, served as the central depot during the day. As moving vans, automobiles, and other vehicles arrived at the city building an announcer would shout, "All aboard for St. Louis, Madison, or Venice. Who's going to Granite City?" Then the terror stricken Negro with his family would pile aboard the van, with his few scattered belongings. Many of the male exiles it was noticeable were bandaged heads, the effects of the night of rioting. As one vanload pulled out a white man was seen with a rope in his hand practicing lassoing. Though the van was guarded by national guardsmen, this act of ropesmanship did not seem to relieve the fears of the occupants, who tried to hide from sight.

"I hain't seen my man since noon yesterday," said one; "I suppose he's killed. Those white fellows came into my house, broke my furniture, smashed my windows, and told me to get out. I didn't know what it was for, but I've picked up what few things I had and got out, and here I am. I haven't got a cent. I'm homeless, and I don't know what is going to happen to me."

"I am a decent woman," said one black mammy with a baby in her arms; "I've lived in Black Valley for ten years and never done any harm to nobody. Some white boys came into my house and said to me, 'You're a Nigger; we're after you.' One of the boys lighted a match and set fire to my baby's crib. I gathered the baby and ran out of the house. I saw it burn up while I was a block away."

"I was sitting at home," said another woman, "rocking my baby in a chair by the window. My husband works in the Armour packing plant. He was a good man and always came home every evening and stayed home. I wasn't expecting nothing. I was just rocking my baby. Five white boys busted in through my house my husband came in and said: 'What are you fellows doing in here?' One of the fellows turned on him with a revolver and shot him. He dropped dead at my feet. I ran out the back door with my baby. They burned my house down."

"The last I saw of my man," said another woman, "he was sitting on the curbstone in front of our house while it was burning down. He had been shot in the back. I guess they killed him."

"I sugas this will end Niggers in East St. Louis," said a white man who had taken part in the pillaging of the night before, and who seemed to regard it as humorous. "I shot two of the Niggers. One was coming out of the door of his house. The other must have been sixty feet away from me and running to beat the band, but I got him."

Five charred bodies remained in the smoking débris of Negro cottages at Eighth street and Broadway all day. Crowds slid down the precarious sand slopes which led into "Black Valley" and looked at them. Officials made no move to take them away. The grinning skeletons lay all day long in ghastly evidence of the work of one of the most murderous mobs in American history.

LABOR LEADER WARNS CHICAGO OF RIOT PERIL

Sees Grave Danger in Vast Influx of Blacks.

A warning to Chicago and other northern cities, "where the same conditions which brought about such frightful results in East St. Louis exist," was sounded last night in a statement made by Victor A. Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and one of the members of the state council of defense.

Earlier in the day the council issued details of a report made to it by its labor committee, which investigated the first riots several weeks ago, and which backs up Mr. Olander's view in many respects.

Explanation Simplified.

"Southern Negroes were induced to come north in such numbers that they could secure neither work nor proper living quarters," Mr. Olander said. "Certain interests desired a surplus of labor on the market, and they got it. The effect was to make easier the exploitation of labor, both black and white, and to cause a sudden disarrangement of social conditions, which added to the bitterness.

"Organized labor protested. Its warning was unheeded. One of the officers of the East St. Louis chamber of commerce warned that organization weeks ago. He urged the chamber to use its influence to put a stop to false advertisements and other methods being used to mislead Negroes in the south for the purpose of bringing them to East St. Louis, but the chamber of commerce declined to act. The influx continued. You see the result.

Unemployment Here Growing.

"I don't care to say much about the situation here in Chicago, but there should be an investigation. Unemployment is increasing. Certain classes of employers are seeking cheaper labor—Negroes and women—on the pretext that additional labor is needed on account of war conditions. As a result, thousands of white men are being thrown out of employment.

"Much of the story is told in the words of the president of one of the foundry companies in this city (the Tarrant Foundry company), whose employes are on strike. He is quoted as having said today:

"'Negroes are being imported to replace the strikers.'

"The most sinister thing about all this is that it is being done under the cloak of patriotism—'the national need.'"

CORONER CLEARS POLICEMAN FOR KILLING NEGRO

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Policeman John Rose of the Town Hall station for the killing of Clarence Kelly, the Negro who slashed Fred J. Hohing, 2600 Leland avenue, attempted to stab Mrs. Hohing, and terrorized passengers on an Evanston elevated train on Monday night.

The Negro was seated in the Evanston train near the Belmont station when Mr. Hohing entered. The latter accidentally stepped on Kelly's foot and apologized.

Kelly drew a knife, slashing the white man across the hand. Other passengers tried to subdue him and several were cut. At the Belmont station the train was stopped and Policeman Rose called. He tried first to subdue Kelly with his club, and finally had to shoot to save himself.

Negro Shot Dead Trying to Escape After Crime

Orange, Tex., July 3.—Gilbert Guidry, Negro, arrested by officers and being taken to jail, was shot to death in the outskirts of Orange early today when he tried to escape from his captors' automobile. The Negro was charged with an attempted attack on the 5 year old daughter of a well known oil man of Vinton, La.

U. S. READY TO RUSH TROOPS TO END RACE RIOTS

Gen. Barry Ordered to Make Inquiry at East St. Louis.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—If there should be any further outbreak of mob violence in East St. Louis United States troops may be dispatched to restore and maintain order and afford protection to the Negro population.

Although reports late in the day asserted the state and local authorities had regained control of the situation, the war department instructed Maj. Gen. Barry, commander of the central department of the army, to investigate and report the conditions without delay.

The order to the general restricted his activities to investigation and it was stated at the war department that no federal troops would be sent to the scene of the rioting except upon the request of Gov. Lowden. It was intimated, however, that troops might be offered the governor if it should appear that the militia are unable to maintain order.

Prepare for Emergency.

The instructions to investigate and report the conditions were dispatched to Gen. Barry, it was explained, in order that the government might be prepared to move troops in preparation for serious contingencies.

"I have had several telegrams from residents of East St. Louis asking me to urge the federal government not to meddle in the riot situation there," said Senator Lewis today. "They feel that the local authorities and the state authorities can handle the situation."

Senator Lewis said that as soon as any attempt was made here to have the federal government move in the matter, he would enter a protest. He said the Negroes would take it that the government was "behind them" if such a move was made. He had heard, he said, that an effort might be made to have the federal government interfere in East St. Louis.

Took Places of Strikers.

Senator Sherman, up to tonight, had received no messages in regard to the East St. Louis riots, which, he said, were due to economic conditions brought about by the importation of Negro labor from the south.

Representative Rodenburg of Illinois explained today the causes of the riots in East St. Louis. Through the navy department he informed Arthur Coppedge, who is on the battleship Florida, of the death of his father, Detective Sergeant Coppedge, who was killed in the rioting.

"While I do not know all the details, there is no doubt the difficulties are economical," said Mr. Rodenberg. "Strikes have occurred in a number of the big plants, especially in the packing plant and in the plant of the aluminum company. Thousands of Negroes from the south have come in and are filling the places of the strikers. The companies have refused to recognize the unions and have insisted on the open shop."

New York, July 3.—Negroes and whites fought for more than an hour tonight in the section of the city known as San Juan hill as the result of the arrest of Lawrence Joaquin, a Negro private in the Fifteenth infantry, on a charge of disorderly conduct. Pistols and night sticks were used by the police reserves and clubs, bricks, and knives by the rioters. Joaquin and two other Negroes were arrested.

Smallpox Breaks Out Among Riot Refugees

East St. Louis, Ill., July 3.—Smallpox was added to the terrors of East St. Louis refugees, more than 500 of whom are under protection in the city hall grounds tonight. A Negro woman was found to have a well developed case. Authorities refused to make a statement, but it was declared that twenty Negroes had been taken to pesthouses in closed cars.

LAWYER WARNS NEGROES HERE TO ARM SELVES

Former Prosecutor Sees Danger of Riots in Chicago.

"Arm yourselves now with guns and pistols," said Ferdinand L. Barnett, a former assistant state's attorney, in speaking to 100 Negro men at a mass-meeting held last night to protest against the riots and bloodshed in East St. Louis. The meeting took place at 3005 South State street.

"Don't buy an arsenal," continued Barnett, "but get enough guns to protect yourselves. You may be victims in Chicago within a fortnight of such murders and outrages as have taken place in East St. Louis. And when trouble starts let us not hesitate to call upon our Negro militiamen to defend us."

Condemn State Officials.

Barnett and A. H. Roberts, another speaker, sponsored resolutions condemning Gov. Lowden and other public officials' "laxness of duty" because the riots took place, and demanding punishment of the participants in the riots.

"The fact that the governor let this mob run its course is forever a black spot on the executive record of the state," said Mr. Barnett. "The officer who told the militia not to shoot should be court martialed and branded a traitor and murderer. I don't know who is to blame, but a mob is a mob, and ought to be dispersed or killed.

"We are going to rectify this in some way. The 10,000,000 of our race will not stand for this massacre.

"Behind an army go the guerrillas—looters, cowards, and thieves. Behind this riot is the public defense council, whose fulminations are written without consulting a single Negro. They breathe the same spirit as the mob of East St. Louis did.

Hold On to Your Guns.

"Get guns and put them in your homes. Protect yourselves. And let no black man permit a policeman to come in and get those guns."

Roberts told his audience that he hoped "God would demand 100,000 white lives in the war for each Negro slaughtered in East St. Louis."

"I love my race better than my country," he shouted. "This country under Woodrow Wilson is asking us to carry the flag of democracy to Europe. God forbid that we take across the Atlantic any of the democracy of East St. Louis."

"There are three causes for this riot. The first is the great metropolitan press of Chicago—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the Chicago Examiner, and the Herald. They have been diseasing and poisoning the minds of the people of the nation, and the blood of 200 murdered men, women, and children in East St. Louis rests on them.

"Another cause to what I believe is a conspiracy between the labor unions of East St. Louis and the white man in the south. They have entered into a conspiracy with the Chicago newspapers to inflame the people and cause these riots against Negroes."

Tells Negroes to Organize.

L. W. Washington, another speaker, told the Negroes to organize.

"Tell the governor that every Negro in Chicago and Illinois is behind these resolutions," he said, "and if we don't get justice from him, then send them to the president of the nation."

The applause was loud while the speeches were being made. A plea was made for contributions to pay traveling expenses of Mrs. Ida Wells Barnett to Springfield to present the resolutions to Gov. Lowden.

ONCE SEIZED AS JEAN CRONES, NOW AS ANTI-DRAFTER

Federal agents yesterday arrested Andrea Sistoni at his home, 73 East One Hundred and First street, on a charge of using the mails to advocate treason and resist the draft law. The government alleges that a recent issue of a radical periodical, "The Social War," edited by Hippolyte Havel, and of which Sistoni admits he is treasurer and secretary, is seditious.

Sistoni, when given a hearing before United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote, admitted that he is an anarchist. He was held in $10,000 bonds for further hearing.

When questioned by Commissioner Foote he admitted that he had been arrested on suspicion of being Jean Crones, the anarchist who is still being hunted for poisoning guests at the University club at the banquet given in honor of Archbishop Mundelein.

The article complained of by the post-office officials says in part: "Resistance to conscription must take place here and now, and all and every means are justifiable. Down with conscription! Resist! Resist! Resist!"

NEGRO HELD FOR TRIAL ON GIRL'S STORY OF ATTACK

"He locked me in a room in his house and kept me there for seven hours," little 13 year old Helen Weiss told Lieut. Garrick in the Desplaines street station yesterday. "He mistreated me and threatened to, cut me with a big knife if I screamed or made a noise. Some one told my mother that he had me there and I heard her come to the door and ask for me. He said I wasn't there."

"It's a lie," said Daniel Hart, a 43 year old Negro, living at 764 Boston avenue, the "he" named by the girl. "I wouldn't think of harming any white girl, or any other girl."

Lieut. Garrick ordered the girl subjected to a medical examination and sent Hart back to his cell to await a trial in the Desplaines street court on July 5.

All Negro prisoners in the county jail—150 of them—have been locked in their cells and will be kept there on bread and water until they agree to abide by jail regulations. They were found shooting "craps" in the "bull pen" and refused to stop when the guards ordered them to. Jailer Davies had to go into the "bull pen" himself and take the dice away from the men.

PROTESTS COME TO NATION AND STATE AT RIOTS

Negro Revolution Peril Hinted—Congress Asked to Act.

Boston, Mass., July 1.—Telegrams to President Wilson, Gov. Lowden of Illinois, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, were dispatched tonight by officers of three Negro associations having headquarters here, appealing to them to use their influence to prevent a recurrence of the race riots in East St. Louis.

The New England League for Afro-American Suffrage said press reports "indicate, in our judgment, great danger of an uprising of 12,000,000 colored citizens who will not much longer submit to injustice and outrage by white Americans and to indifference of the national government."

The National Equal Rights league declared in its telegram to Samuel Gompers that the "most murderous massacre of colored Americans in the country's history was committed by labor unionists."

Asks Congressional Inquiry.

Kansas City, Mo., July 2.—An appeal for immediate congressional investigation of the riots in East St. Louis was contained in a memorial sent to Representatives James R. Mann and Claude Kitchin by an emergency meeting of the Negro National Educational congress held here tonight. J. Silas Harris, president of the congress, appealed to President Wilson, saying that a continuation of the riots would "chill the patriotism of every Negro in America."

Negroes Appeal to Wilson.

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—A group of the leading Negroes of this city today addressed a telegram to President Wilson asking him to take steps to stop the killing of Negroes and the burning of their homes.

Baptists Urge a Halt.

Jacksonville, Ill., July 3.—Two hundred delegates to the forty-ninth annual session of the Wood River Baptist Sunday school convention, a Negro organization, in session here today sent a telegram to Gov. Lowden and Mayor Mollman of East St. Louis, expressing grief at the wanton destruction of human lives and property at East St. Louis.

"We are interested in keeping the name of the great state of Illinois free from such crime," said the telegram.

Moton Is Grieved.

Tuskegee, Ala., July 3.—Maj. R. R. Moton, head of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute, Booker T. Washington's successor, gave out the following statement tonight concerning the East St. Louis riots:

"I am pained, chagrined and discouraged that these riots on the eve of the celebration of the Declaration of Independency, should occur to bring shame to our country, especially at a time like this when we are calling upon Negroes, as well as white men, to defend democracy and to stand for a 'square deal' for weaker nations and weaker peoples."

BRUTALITY

Assailant Fires Bullet Into Head of Negro as He Lies in Gutter, Apparently Dead.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., July 3.—Samples of the sheer brutality of last night's mob came to light today. Here is one:

On Fourth street, near Broadway, three men saw a Negro, apparently dead, lying in a gutter. One flashed a pocket light in his face and saw that he still breathed.

"Well, what do you know about that!" he exclaimed. "Not dead yet."

He and one of his companions then drew their pistols and fired a bullet into the Negro's head.

Another was the attack on a young Negress. White men and women were among the assailants.

"Let the women have her," was the cry among the men and white women began tearing the garments from their victim. The Negress' cry, "Please, please, I ain't done nothin'," was stopped by a blow in the mouth with a club which a woman swung like a baseball bat. Another white woman seized the victim's hands and the blow was repeated. Fingers tore at her hair and her waist was stripped from her.

"Now let's see how fast she can run," suggested a bystander, as the Negress broke loose. The women were loathe to leave her alone, but after following her with their blows for a short distance they stopped and she ran crying down the middle of the street.

A newspaper reporter who was in the thick of the trouble last night related a particularly brutal story. A white man, observing a cowering Negro, approached and said:

"Come with me into this alley; you'll be safe there; there's a soldier there." His tones were inviting and the Negro followed. Once in the alley, the white man calmly shot his victim through the head and sauntered back into the street, presently joining a mob intent on a rope-and-lamp post lynching.

CHICAGO TROOPS OFF FOR RIOTS, 600 MEN STRONG

Six Companies of Second Infantry Mobilize in Six Hours.

Six hundred men of Col. John [illegible]'s Second infantry, Illinois national guard, swung out from their armory at 2033 West Madison street at noon, bound for East St. Louis to assist in quelling the race riots.

Companies B, G, I, K, L, and M, with parts of companies A and D, a machine company, and a sanitary detachment formed the contingent—600 men in all. Maj. Philip H. Garrard was in command, with Lieut. Louis Lazard as his adjutant.

Ninety Rounds for Each.

The men carried heavy marching equipment—shelter tents, rations for three days, blankets, and ninety rounds apiece of ammunition. Their machine gun supply, aggregated, was 1,000 rounds of riot, or small shot cartridges, and 30,000 rounds of the regulation .30 caliber ball cartridges.

Trains awaited the guardsmen in the Chicago and Alton yards and were scheduled to pull out as soon as the troops were aboard.

Gov. Lowden's call for 600 men came at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. At once company clerks were notified and given the task of getting together the necessary number of men. Many were caught just as they were preparing to leave town over the Fourth of July. They cheerfully canceled their vacations and began to report at the armory by 4 o'clock. Four hours later the quota to go was filled, but shortage of transportation and supplies delayed immediate movement.

Company Chiefs Report.

Company commanders reported as follows: B, Capt. Thomas Robins; G, Capt. Joseph G. Brady; I, Capt. Frederick G. Nusbaumer; K, Capt. Robert G. Hagen; L, Capt. Iver M. Hansen; M, Capt. Clyde L. G. Thompson; machine company, Capt. Frederick E. Bond; sanitary detachment, Maj. John M. Lee.

Chaplain John R. O'Donnell also accompanied the battalion.

As usual when Chicago's soldiers are going away Chicago's girls came in to see them good-by. The company quotas were filled early in the evening and remained so until half an hour before the order came to form ranks.

SPIRIT OF '17 MAKES JULY 4 A WORLD BEATER

Plenty of Reasons for Nation to Make the Eagle Scream.

Washington, D. C., July 3.—The American nation will celebrate a war time anniversary tomorrow with the consciousness of having written much history within the short space of a few weeks.

Three months ago today President Wilson asked congress to declare a state of war with Germany and to prepare the nation, after years of peace and almost entire inattention to preparedness, to use all of its resources to "make the world safe for democracy." Tomorrow American troops will march through the streets of Paris ready to take their places behind the firing lines on land while American warships hold important sectors of the naval lines which command the seas.

10,000,000 Register for War.

Upwards of ten millions of men have been registered under war legislation for military service and the work of organizing a universal service army is under way.

Scores of American merchant vessels have been armed and have taken their toll of U-boats and a big shipbuilding program to crush the U-boat blockade is under way, though there are and have been mistakes and difficulties.

More than a billion dollars has been loaned to the enemies of Germany to relieve their economic needs and a two billion dollar bond issue has been floated with a large oversubscription.

A food administration has been organized, an export control council has been created, and the nation's industrial resources have been marshaled for national service. A program of food legislation over which congress is still fighting is expected to be worked out.

Clearing Nation of Spies.

Besides the universal service law congress has enacted an espionage act under which the country has been scoured for German agents and many of them brought into custody.

A war budget totaling more than three billion dollars to meet the initial costs of the war and many other measures have been passed.

A bill empowering the president to direct what necessities shall have preference in commerce has passed both senate and house and is in conference. Another to raise more than a billion and a half in war taxes has passed the house.

American destroyers were outfitted and sent to the North sea within a few days after war was declared. With them went their own supply vessels and numerous converted craft adapted to naval use. They have been recognized as a formidable part of the grand allied fleet. This was evidenced by the designation recently of American Vice Admiral Sims to command all the forces in the important zone off Ireland.

Rushed Force to France.

Similarly in the south Atlantic the move of which was assumed by the United States along with the patrol of American shores, Admiral Caperton with a squadron of Pacific coast cruisers has assumed command. All the French and British warships remaining there are under his authority.

The first expeditionary force to France included regulars brought from the Mexican border and marines hastily transported from Haiti and Santo Domingo. They had to be recruited to war strength, equipped and supplied for months of campaigning. Only one of the vessels used was ready for transport duty when the order came.

In the three months the navy has been recruited up to 126,000 men from less than 60,000, and training given to thousands of gunners and crews for hundreds of submarine chasers. The marine corps has been recruited from 17,000 to nearly 30,000 and the regular army from about 120,000 to 280,000.

The plans for the new army to be drawn by the selective draft have progressed so far that exemption regulations have been prepared and exemption boards appointed.

Greatest of Aerial Fleets.

To provide officers nearly 50,000 men have been selected, equipped, and sent to training camps, where they have been under instruction for six weeks.

Preparations are under way for an aerial service of a size never before dreamed of. The first cost will be $600,000,000. The nation's automotive engineers have been mobilized to design a new, powerful airplane motor, the first of which will be ready for testing this month. The aid of technical schools has been invoked to help train the necessary thousands of aviators.

The hundred million dollar humanity fund asked for by the Red Cross war council was heavily oversubscribed.

These and many other developments convince officials here that the nation is awake to the emergency ahead, and that the achievements of the three months just passed will be duplicated many times over in the months to come.

U. S. TO CALL OUT GUARD FOR DUTY ON FIRST DATES

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.] Pressure brought to bear by governors of states has induced the war department to give up its plan to delay the calling out of the national guard until Aug. 3.

Secretary Baker definitely announced today that the guard will be called out as originally planned on July 15, July 25, and Aug. 5. When drafted into the federal service the entire national guard, however, will be drafted as of July 15, so that there will be no inequality in the relative rank of officers.

Objections of governors to delaying the draft were based on the fact that all over the country national guardsmen have resigned their positions or made arrangements for leaves of absence dating from the time of their call, and in most instances new men have been employed to take their places.

TRENCH MORTAR BLAST STARTLES FORT SHERIDAN

"Home Made" Gun Explodes in Deep Pit.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., July 3.—[Special.]—One of the trench mortars put into use today at the reserve officers' training camp exploded with a warlike realism. The base of the gun was blown off, the cast iron tube was torn in two, and the shock was like that from a big gun.

But, for the sake of relatives and friends of the thousands of students, let it be said no danger was incurred.

Fixes Cause of Accident.

Capt. Oscar M. Solbert, engineer officer, who supervised the making of the guns and the firing of them, said the explosion was due to the lack of a proper cap to close the breech end of the improvised mortar. The mortar was fired from a deep pit dug for it, and as all leave the trench when the fuse is lighted there is no danger to the candidates.

Capt. Solbert, who supervised the use of similar mortars at West Point, says they are entirely safe. A smaller mortar was then used with excellent results at 100 yard ranges.

During the experiments with the "tomato can battery" four companies of the Michigan-Wisconsin regiment were advancing on the trenches through the woods and ravines south of the reservation. Several arrors were pointed out in the simulated attack, one being a too free use of ammunition.

First Case of Drinking.

The first case of intoxication in camp came up today. A young man arrived here in a taxicab clad in his uniform breeches and a dress shirt. He went to sleep on his bunk and when he woke up he no longer was a member of the camp.

The holiday leave for the Fourth for the students, to the disappointment of some, extends only from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

DRAFT WEALTH, REPLY OF LABOR

Ottawa, Ont., July 3.—Conscription of material wealth by refusal of every workingman in the Dominion of Canada to toil for private gain if conscription of man power becomes law was advocated today by J. C. Watters, president of the Trades and Labor congress of Canada, in reply to an inquiry from the British Columbia Federation of Labor as to the attitude labor should assume to conscription.

Fourth of July Exercises in All Sections of City

Representatives of twenty-five nations, 30,000 of them, will take part in eighty-seven community Independence day celebrations that are to take place in Chicago today. Recruiting for the army and navy will go on actively at every point where there is a celebration.

Chief Schuettler has ordered flying squads into districts where it is feared firearms and other illegal noise makers may be used.

The Americanization celebration committee intends to make the meaning of the day clear to all naturalized citizens. A pamphlet, "Why We Celebrate," will be distributed to all who attend exercises during the day. The war has given an unusual solemnity to the day.

All Over City.

Exercises will be held in sixteen parks on the north, south, and west sides, in seventy playgrounds, and on the municipal pier. There will be no celebration in the downtown district.

An American flag ninety feet long will be carried by 400 newly naturalized citizens at Dvorak park, Twentieth and May streets. Five hundred girls will form a human flag a block long. There will be 250 Bohemian Red Cross nurses in the parade.

Two thousand Italians will take part in the parade at Stanton park, Vedder street, near Larrabee.

A big celebration has been arranged by the South Chicago Business Men's association and other organizations of the Eighth ward, including Windsor Park, Cheltenham, and South Deering. Congressman Medill McCormick will start the speaking at 1 o'clock at Columbus square. A number of foreign societies will take part in the parade. Mr. McCormick will also speak at Hamilton park.

Melting Pot Idea Prevails.

Fifteen floats will be seen in the parade at Helstein park and folk dances of various nations will be shown.

"Columbia calls" will be one of the floats in the parade at Eckhart park, in which ten nationalities will be represented by big delegations.

"The Melting Pot" will be the feature of the celebration in Stanford park. Representatives of many races will pledge anew their allegiance to the American flag.

More than 100 automobiles will be seen in the parade at Garfield park.

Several hundred girls will form an American flag in the parade at Pulaski park. Polish and other organizations will take part.

Chinese, Japanese, Croatians, Lithuanians and people of fifteen other nationalities will join in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" at Harden square.

At Municipal Pier.

The Chicago Woman's club will have charge of the exercises at municipal pier. The program will begin at 4 p. m. Frank I. Bennett and Henry R. Rathbone will speak.

Blue jackets from the Great Lakes Naval Training station will take part in practically every celebration in the city. The sham battle will be repeated with the addition of many spectacular details. The station hydroaeroplane will be used for the first time.

Gen. James A. Stuart, postal inspector, and Daniel A. Campbell, former postmaster, will speak at the meeting of the Union Scottish societies at Riverview park.

Children of the Nettlehorst school district, Broadway and Melrose street, will be entertained by the Parents' club at their playground in the evening.

The Optimates Canoe club is to provide a carnival on the Desplaines river as a feature of the celebration at Riverside.

Residents of Smoky Hollow are to hold a massmeeting in Thomit's apple orchard a few blocks west of the Carl Schurz High school for the purpose of discussing a change of name for their district.

Association house at 2150 West North avenue is to hold a patriotic celebration on the community plan.

The program at West Pullman park will last all day. It will begin with an automobile parade and will close with dancing.

DRAFT ARMY TO BE MADE UP OF PERFECT MEN

Plan High Standard of Physique for New Soldiers.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Every effort of Provost Marshal General Crowder's staff is now being turned toward the fixing of quotas for the various states, and physical standards to apply in exemption hearings.

No announcement has yet come from the president or the secretary of war as to how many men are to be called for examination as to their fitness to serve with the colors.

In fixing the number of men to be called from each state the administration will make allowances for the number of men already in the military establishment from that state.

Will Instruct Physicians.

In the matter of physical examinations, physicians who will serve on each local board will be furnished with a complete manual of standards for the new national army. These standards will be generally published as soon as they are made up, but more explicit information on just what type of manhood the army wants will be mailed to the examining physicians within a few days.

When finally examined at the post to which he is assigned, any eligible accepted for service will have to be nearly as perfect a physical man as any member of the national guard or regular army. Army officials can see no reason why they should not be able to secure a sufficient number of men of high physical development. The examination to be given by the physicians on local boards, while it will not be final in many cases, will be rigid.

Regulations against "flat feet" and other minor ailments, including minor organic disorders, are expected to be included, but whether the same standard in these cases that is required in the regular army will be demanded on the first examination is not yet known.

Wilson Picks District Boards.

After the physician acting on the local board has examined any eligible coming under the jurisdiction of that board and found him unfit for service the members of the board may require his reexamination, but it is not expected many such cases will arise, as the regulations provide that any doubt about the fitness of any eligible for service on the physical examination shall be resolved in favor of accepting him. If after this acceptance he is really unfit for soldiering he will be discharged by the army physician who handles his case at the post to which he is assigned.

WAR FIREWORKS TO GIVE THRILL AT BALL PARKS

A climax to the patriotic events today will come with the two big fireworks displays at Weeghman and Comiskey parks tonight. These pyrotechnical displays have been annually given under the same management.

This year's programs, it is said, are to be bigger than ever—more fireworks, greater bands, and as an added attraction the Haydn Choral society of 150 voices, under the direction of H. W. Owens, will give a war song concert at Weeghman park, and the American Choral society, also with 150 voices, under the leadership of Dr. Daniel Protheroe, will give a patriotic program at the Sox park.

The set pieces will include a great portrait of President Wilson, followed by the largest American flag ever displayed in fireworks, and an elaborate set piece, "The Spirit of '76." While they are on view the choral societies and the audience in each park will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner," accompanied by the brass bands.

COME ON IN, THE FIGHTING'S FINE, PARK PLEA TODAY

THE REGULARS ARE IN FRANCE. JOIN THEM NOW!

Every effort possible will be made to stimulate recruiting for the army today. A tour of all the parks will be made by a committee of the State Council of Defense and speeches will be made by men of the committee. This is being done to end the recruiting drive in a blaze of glory, but recruiting for the army in the Chicago district will continue for an unlimited time, according to an announcement by Capt. Franklin R. Kenney, chief of the recruiting forces in the Chicago district.

Infantrymen Only.

Recruits are now being taken for the infantry only. For several weeks only the artillery and the infantry were open to the new men, but the artillery was recently closed.

The applications for enlistment in the army came in slowly yesterday. The reason for the slump in recruiting after the high mark of 200 on Monday was attributed to the Fourth of July celebrations. Not many men want to get away from home just before the Fourth.

Judging by the number of applications that are to take effect on Thursday, Capt. Kenney expects that day to be a banner one.

Wisconsin Doing Well.

Up to this week Wisconsin has been backward, and was far behind her quota of men for "recruiting week."

DRAFT BOARDS GET SUPPLIES; WORK ON 4TH

Fifty of the eighty-six exemption boards in Chicago received their supplies yesterday at the election commissioners' office. The remaining boards will get their supplies today. Chief Clerk Dennis J. Egan announced that the Fourth of July would be celebrated in his office by "working for the independence of the world."

All the boards will make an effort to have the names listed on the official sheets by Saturday night.

BREWER'S PRICE FOR LAND SENDS AVIATORS AWAY

Army School May Stay Here in Case Uihlein Gives In.

Whether Chicago is to have one of the great aviation training fields of the country appears to be up to Herman Uihlein, multimillionaire of Milwaukee.

Mr. Uihlein, whose brewery interests proclaim they helped to make Milwaukee famous, owns 320 acres of the Ashburn field in the southwest section of Chicago. All the other owners of the mile square of level land have offered their acres to the government at a nominal rental—5 per cent on a valuation of $300 an acre. Mr. Uihlein values his land at $700 an acre.

When the government first looked to this field for a station it is reported Mr. Uihlein thought his land was worth about $1,800 an acre or thereabouts. He finally came down to $700 an acre and there stopped.

Order Removal to Rantoul.

The government authorities, therefore, ordered the flying equipment sent from here to Rantoul, Ill., and the equipment is now being prepared for shipment.

In a last effort to have Mr. Uihlein come down, prominent business men, Representative John H. Lyle and President Dickinson of the Illinois Aero club yesterday decided to send a committee to Milwaukee to hold converse with the Schlitz man.

If Mr. Uihlein can be persuaded, a message will be sent to Washington requesting the order to move the flyers out of Chicago be rescinded.

Chicago Field Ready.

At the meeting at the Hotel La Salle yesterday Mr. Dickinson said:

"Down at Rantoul the government is spending between $600,000 and $1,000,000 to put that field in shape. Two bankers of that community were patriotic enough to lease the land required and turn it over to the government at a nominal rental. The weekly payroll there is now running about $40,000. They've had to dig up trees and remove houses to clear that field, while our field is level and clear, all ready for the school, except tiling, which can be done quickly."

U. S. ARMY AT SEA WATCHES CONVOY DEFEAT U-BOATS

First Attack on June 22.

"The first attack took place at 10:30 on the night of June 22. What gives it peculiar and disturbing significance is that our ships were set upon at a point well this side of the rendezvous and in that part of the Atlantic presumably free from submarines.

"The attack was made in force, although the night made impossible any exact count of the U-boats gathered for what they deemed a slaughter.

"The high seas convoy, circling with their searchlights, answered with heavy gun fire, and its accuracy stands proved by the fact that the torpedo discharge became increasingly scattered and inaccurate. It is not known how many torpedoes were launched, but five were counted as they sped by bow and stern.

Brave Shots from Warships.

"A second attack was launched a few days later against another contingent. The point of attack was beyond the rendezvous and our destroyers were sailing as a screen between the transports and all harm. The results of the battle were in favor of American gunners.

"Not alone did the destroyers hold the U-boats at a safe distance, but their speed also resulted in the sinking of one submarine at least. Grenades were used in firing, a depth charge explosive timed to go off at a certain distance under water. In one instance, oil and wreckage covered the surface of the sea after a shot from a destroyer at a periscope and the reports make claim of sinking.

"Protected by our high seas convoy, by our destroyers, and by French war vessels, the contingent proceeded, and joined the others in a French port.

"The whole nation will rejoice that so great a peril is passed for the vanguard of the men who will fight our battles in France. No more thrilling Fourth of July celebration could have been arranged than this glad news that lifts the shadow of dread from the heart of America."

Secretary Baker's Thanks.

The revelation of the victories at sea was initiated by Secretary of War Baker, who, immediately upon receipt of a cablegram from Gen. Pershing, announcing the safe arrival of all contingents of the army, addressed the following letter to Secretary Daniels:

"Word has just come to the war department that the last ships conveying Gen. Pershing's expeditionary force to France arrived safe today.

"As you know, the navy assumed the responsibility for the safety of these ships on the sea and through the danger zone. The ships themselves and their convoys were in the hands of the navy, and now that they have arrived and carried, without the loss of a man, our soldiers who are the first to represent America in the battle for democracy, I beg leave to tender to you, to the admiral, and to the navy the hearty thanks of the war department and of the army.

"This splendid achievement is an auspicious beginning, and it has been characterized throughout by the cordial and effective cooperation between the two military services."

German Spies at Work.

While victory to the American navy appears to have been complete, there came with the glorious news the startling revival of suspicions that Germany's tentacles of secret espionage still grip the military secrets of the United States.

"What gives it peculiar and disturbing significance," says Secretary Daniels of the first battles, "is that our ships were set upon at a point well this side of the rendezvous and in that part of the Atlantic presumably free from submarines."

This is the portion of the news that has struck deeper than the tidings of victory into the heart of official Washington tonight. That Germany had advance information of the departure of the troops and also of the rendezvous selected for assembling of the American contingents in midocean, officials have no doubt.

Knew Flotilla Was on Way.

The first intimation that Germany is getting information of American military movements was given a few weeks ago, when Vice Admiral Sims, cabled Secretary Daniels that German submarines had laid in wait for the flotilla of American destroyers sent to European waters. He said that the Germans had mined the waters in the neighborhood of the ports to which the destroyers were destined.

The administration immediately began a hunt for the "leak." It was conjectured that there are German spies in the navy department, but so far as is known such spies, if they exist, have not been identified.

That the destroyers had been dispatched was known, however, generally in Washington, and it therefore was apparent the intelligence might have been transmitted to Germany by some person outside the government departments.

In the case of the army transports, however, the evidence indicates that some person communicated to Germany information of the route and rendezvous which was not known outside the navy department.

Consequently the hunt for the German spy in the department will be renewed with vigor.

OFFICIAL REPORTS ON ALL WAR FRONTS

RUSSIAN FRONT

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, July 3.—In the direction of Zlochoff our offensive continues successfully. Yesterday afternoon, after a severe, stubborn battle, the Zorafsky regiment occupied the village of Presovce, while the gallant troops of the Fourth Finnish division and the Cheshako-slovatsky brigade occupied the strongly fortified enemy positions on the heights west and southwest of the village of Zboroff and the fortified village of Korshiduv. Three lines of enemy trenches were penetrated. The enemy then retired across the Little Stripa.

The Finns have taken 1,500 officers and soldiers prisoner, while their captures include four trench mortars, nine machine guns and one bomb thrower.

The Cheshakoslovatsky brigade captured sixty-two officers and 3,150 soldiers, fifteen guns and many machine guns. Many of the captured guns were turned against the enemy.

Enemy positions to the west of the Narayuvka also were taken.

Altogether in Monday's battle in the neighborhood of Zlochoff we took 6,300 prisoners, officers and soldiers, twenty-one guns, sixteen machine guns and several bomb throwers. Prisoners are continuing to arrive.

Southeast of Brzezany the battle continues with less intensity. In Sunday's battle in this region we took prisoner fifty-three officers and 2,200 men.

AVIATION.

On June 28 a German Zeppelin dropped twelve bombs on the town of Venden [northeast of Riga]. A German battleplane brought down one of our machines in the region of the village of Savitch on the Beresina river [west of Mitsk]. The airmen were killed.

A German airplane has dropped a note within our lines from which it is evident that one of our machines lost on June 28 fell in the rear of the German positions and that the dead airmen were buried by the Germans with military honors.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, July 3.—Army group of Prince Leopold—Although between the Baltic and the Pripet the activity of the fighting increased only at Riga and Smorgon, there was heavy artillery fighting on the middle course of the Stokhod, where Russian local attacks on the Kovel-Lutsk railway line failed with heavy losses, and also on the Zlota Lipa.

The battle in East Galicia continued. Breaking forward across the heights on the western bank of the Stripa, Russian massed attacks succeeded in extending northward the gap which the enemy made in our lines on the previous day. Assistance given by our reserves enabled us to cause the enemy to halt.

At Koniuchy strong Russian attacks in the morning and afternoon broke down with heavy losses in front of our new positions. Further south the enemy up to the present time has not found strength to resist his attacks against the height positions at Brzezany.

In the Carpathians the situation is unchanged.

FRENCH FRONT

FRENCH.

PARIS, July 3.—Marked artillery activity was displayed north of St. Quentin and on the left bank of the Meuse, near Hill 304, as well as in Champagne in the sectors of Mont Carnillet and Mont Teton.

East of Coucy-le-Chateau there were patrol encounters. We make some prisoners, including one officer.

DAY STATEMENT.

After a renewed bombardment the Germans at about 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening began a series of violent attacks on the trenches we had recaptured on both sides of the Ailles-Paissy road. Severe fighting continued throughout the night, resulting in a complete check of the enemy. We maintained all our positions.

Two attacks on small French posts further west were repulsed with ease.

A—Kovel and Lemberg, present Russian objectives.

3—Berlin reports failure of Russian attacks near Koniuchy and says farther south the enemy has been unable to repeat attacks.

4—Petrograd reports offensive in direction of Zlochoff continues, with the occupation of three more towns. River Stripa crossed.

On the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) the artillery fighting became violent toward the middle of the night in the sector between Hill 304 and Avocourt wood. At about 2:30 o'clock this morning the Germans attacked on a front of 500 meters at the southeast corner of the wood. Their vain assaults were broken up by our fire and the enemy, unable to approach our lines, did not renew the effort.

In a raid on German lines in Champagne we blew up a blockhouse of the enemy. There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front.

BRITISH.

LONDON, July 3.—In the Ypres region there has been considerable artillery activity on both sides. The enemy raided our trenches this morning southeast of Laventie; two of our men are missing.

AVIATION.

Hostile aerial activity has shown a marked increase in the last few days. Successful artillery work and bombing raids were carried out yesterday by our airplanes.

One German airplane was brought down by gunfire within our lines. Three more were brought down in the air fighting. Two others were driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing.

DAY STATEMENT.

We successfully raided west of Havrincourt and north of Nieuport, capturing a few prisoners, last night. South of the Cojeni river the enemy attacked our advanced posts, but was driven off.

BELGIAN.

PARIS, July 3.—The artillery fighting, was spirited in the region of Woesten, Liserne, and Steenstraete.

An enemy attempt to cross the canal in the neighborhood of Het-Sas was broken by our fire. The artillery was moderately active on the rest of the front.

AVIATION.

BERLIN, July 3.—The artillery activity did not revive generally until toward evening when it reached considerable strength in the Ypres salient.

Front of Crown Prince Rupprecht—Our own advances into the British lines north of the La Bassee canal, west of Lens, and at Bullecourt, gave good reconnoitering results. In an outpost engagement at Hargicourt, northwest of St. Quentin, prisoners were taken by us and war material captured.

Front of the German crown prince—The French again attempted to recapture lost trenches on the plateau of La Bovelle (Champagne) and on the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun). Southeast of Cerny two attacks broke down with heavy losses before our defense.

At Avocourt wood and Hill 304 our destructive fire prevented the enemy storming troops, which were preparing for an attack from leaving their trenches. On Poehl mountain, in Champagne, one of our enterprises succeeded in accordance with our plans. Our reconnoitering party brought back prisoners and booty.

Six enemy airplanes were shot down, one of them by Capt. Baron Richthofen.

NEW ARRIVALS WILDLY GREETED; U. S. TROOPS AID

A FRENCH SEAPORT, July 2 [delayed.]—The last units of the American expeditionary force, comprising vessels loaded with supplies and horses, arrived here today amid the screeching of whistles and sirens. Their coming, one week after the first troops landed, was greeted almost as warmly as the arrival of the troops themselves, because it meant complete success of the undertaking.

Many of the American soldiers crowded down to the wharf to greet the ships. Their late arrival was due not only to later departure from America, but to the fact that the vessels were slower.

The arrival of the horses and supplies makes an early getaway for permanent training camps possible. One battalion will leave Paris Thursday for their permanent training camp, to be located behind the front "somewhere in France." The departure of these troops will be the forerunner of a general exodus of the men arriving during the last week.

Equipped with supplies, the troops today began an intensive schedule of training, including long strenuous marches about the country. This schedule will continue every day except tomorrow, which will be celebrated as a holiday.

Probably the happiest man in port today was Rear Admiral Gleaves, commander of the convoy. From the bridge of his flagship he watched the successful conclusion of his plans, then insisted upon bestowing the lion's share of credit for the crossing on the navigation officers.

Germans Lose 282 Planes, Allies 110, During June

LONDON, July 3.—Battles for supremacy in the air during June, according to the Times, were not, as a whole, on so large a scale as those which were fought in April and May. In those two months, respectively, 717 and 713 aeroplanes were put out of action, either permanently or temporarily. Last month, as recorded in the daily official reports, there were only 392 airplanes thus damaged, of which 110 belonged to the allies and 282 to the Germans. The

HARDINGE FAILS TO MOVE LORDS BY KUT DEFENSE

They Listen in Absolute Silence to Apology for Campaign.

LONDON, July 3.—There was an unusual scene in the house of lords this afternoon when Baron Hardinge, the former viceroy of India, appeared to defend his share in the first Mesopotamia expedition, which culminated in the surrender of Maj. Gen. Townsend at Kut-el-Amara with the largest British force that had laid down arms in more than a century.

The charges contained in the recent report of the commission on the Mesopotamia expedition created a greater sensation in Great Britain than any similar episode since the Crimean war, and a portion of the press has been calling for impeachment or dismissal from office of all concerned.

All Evidence Not Published.

Lord Hardinge began with an expression of regret that all the evidence taken could not be published. After a detailed review of the management of the expedition he said:

"The viceroy is theoretically responsible for everything that happens in India and outside of India where Indian interests are affected. But he has to trust to his lieutenants and advisers for information and guidance.

"Private rumor said that things were going badly. The official report said they were going well. It was my first duty to ascertain the truth. It may be difficult for people in England to realize the inherent difficulties in personal supervision by the viceroy of medical arrangements on a river 2,000 miles away in the midst of his other heavy labors of governing a country bigger than Europe and with more than 300,000,000 inhabitants."

Fears Effect in India.

He expressed regret that the commission's report might create a feeling in India that India's efforts and sacrifices had not been adequately appreciated at home. The report scarcely referred to the greatest military effort every made in India's history in dispatching expeditions to France, Egypt, and East Africa, so that the military equipment and stores were almost exhausted before the Mesopotamia campaign was considered.

Dealing with Gen. Sir John Nixon's advance from Kut toward Bagdad with an insufficient force, Lord Hardinge said that the government of India was absolutely opposed to an advance without reinforcement by another division, and he read correspondence to that effect.

Gen. Nixon had reported directly to the home government that he could defeat the Turks and occupy Bagdad, but that if the Turks were reinforced he would need another division. "It must be remembered," said Lord Hardinge, "that Gen. Nixon was at the head of a victorious army. The decision rested with the home government."

Audience Unconvinced.

Of the general effect of Lord Hardinge's explanation, it may be said that the large audience came sympathetic but separated unconvinced. The peers are never demonstrative, but the practically unbroken silence in which they listened to the ex-viceroy's apology constituted the most chilling and damning of condemnations.

JAP FLEET MAY ENTER ATLANTIC, KATO TELLS DIET

TOKIO, Monday, July 2.—If necessary, Japan may send a fleet to the Atlantic, said Tomosaburo Kato, minister of navy, in the diet today. The minister was replying to criticism of the opposition that the dispatch of Japanese warships to the Mediterranean was not required by the terms of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and was merely for the benefit of the entente and not for Japan. M. Kato declared the government was justified in cooperating with the allies to bring about the defeat of Germany.

France to Build Shaft to U. S. Relief Workers

PARIS, July 3.—A beautiful monument will be erected in some prominent square in Paris to commemorate the cooperation of American men and women in relief work in France during the war. The committee for the erection of the monument is under the patronage of President Poincare and is presided over by Leon Bonnat, head of the National School of Fine Arts.

JOHN BULL IS GOING TO HELP CELEBRATE 4TH

LONDON, July 3.—Tomorrow, for the first time in the history of Independence day, it promises to be made an English as well as an American celebration. American buttonhole flags already have had an extensive sale through the west end, while the demand for Old Glory for home decoration has taxed the resources of the bunting makers.

In addition to the usual reception by Ambassador Page there will be services at many churches and bells are to be pealed and an American anthem played at all places of entertainment.

But the American Society of London has arranged the most important fixture in having Mr. Balfour as guest of honor.

Kisses for U. S. Marchers in Paris.

PARIS, July 3.—A battalion of American troops arrived in Paris this morning to parade on July 4. The Americans were greeted by wildly enthusiastic crowds which packed streets through which they marched to Neuilly barracks, where they are quartered. The officers are being entertained at the Military club. Several times groups of shopgirls on their way to work slipped through the police lines and kissed the soldiers, to their great embarrassment.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1917.

—Stephen Decatur.

THE SHAME OF ILLINOIS.

The riot at East St. Louis is one of the worst blots on the good name of an American community in our whole history. Illinois must bow her head in shame before this disgrace. We have no excuse. There can be no excuse for such a breakdown of the most primitive safeguards of civil government, for such betrayal of the first duty of ordered society.

THE TRIBUNE, which has flailed the evil of lynching and especially reproached its countrymen of the south for their failure to stamp it out, does not propose to offer any palliation of this outrage in Illinois. The blood of victims spatters the state. The riot will burn as an unforgettable dishonor in our memories. We do not propose to talk now about race hatred or economic rivalry or any other learned aspect of the offense. There is just one truth, one sickening, shameful truth—in an American city, in a city of Illinois, there has been a loathsome irruption of the brute, and neither civilized public sentiment nor constituted authority was capable of arresting it.

If Illinois has a conscience it will solemnly resolve that no such dishonor shall ever lift its head among us again. We ask Gov. Lowden, and if need be the legislature, to examine at once the conditions which created this outrage and the conditions which left society at the mercy of brutishness in this region.

We demand especially that it be made clear why neither the police nor the militia were capable of strangling the riot at the beginning. We demand that the guilty be tracked down remorselessly and punished to the full extent of the law. We understand the difficulty of this task. We understand how a mob and even its leaders escape in a jungle of anonymity and political influence. We realize how race prejudice and other complications will block discovery and punishment. We know that whites are guilty. We know that blacks are guilty. But we know also that the community and the state are guilty before all. And if we cannot punish the community and the state more than in the punishment already visited upon its good name, we can at least study its guilt and do our utmost to root it out.

We ask the governor especially to probe at once into the causes for the deplorable showing of the militia. Twelve companies, a regiment, were called out for service which half a troop of regulars or a handful of Pennsylvania constabulary could have handled with swift effect.

We know this is not entirely the fault of the men of the guard. There may have been weak individuals, officers or privates, or both. But the system under which they exist and the laws under which they are compelled to act are all wrong, and have been proved wrong time and again. We demand that the governor and the legislature wipe out this system and create one that may be relied upon to protect civilized communities from anarchy.

The East St. Louis riot is nothing to be covered with official whitewash. Illinois stands shamed before the world. Her authority has been proved futile. Her name will be a by-word if she does not establish that authority so it will never be defied again.

THE DECLARATION—THEN AND NOW.

Queer feelings beset an American who re-reads the declaration of independence on this its 141st birthday. It seems strangely modern and at the same time incredibly ancient. It fits our present case. Most emphatically it does not. Precisely as in '76, America has locked horns with a great European power in a war for democracy against autocracy, and yet we neither feel nor feel that we ought to feel the flaming ardor that pervades the declaration.

"All men are born equal." Yes, theoretically. "They are endowed with inalienable rights." Well, perhaps, though they must deserve and be prepared to defend them. "To secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." Amen! It might have been written this morning.

But when it comes to repeating the tirades against a European autocrat, we find it difficult to substitute Wilhelm II. for George III., though there are circumstantial parallels very curious to note. "He has cut off our trade." "He has destroyed the lives of our people." "He has excited domestic insurrections among us." "He has endeavored to bring upon the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless"—no, not Indians, but Japs and Mexicans who would have served far better. At Babern, he "affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, civil power."

Thus might the eagle scream today without stretching of the truth. But you can guess how a crowd would take it should an orator shout in the words of the declaration, "He is a prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define the tyrant. His history is a history of repeated injuries, having in direct object the establishment of absolute tyranny over these states." Some would assent, but in the main we are thinking now in different times.

We know the German maxim, "World dominance or downfall." We know that through the exigencies of war, Germany has been forced to include America in the world that must be dominated. We know that our liberties are at stake. We know that—by implication, at least, and perhaps against his will—every American has "pledged his life, his fortune, and his sacred honor" to defend them. Yet where today is the fury that marks each paragraph of the declaration? We are not furious at the Germans. We are not insanely furious at their emperor. It is doubtful if a great nation ever went to war more coolly. But our resolution does not falter for all that.

The issue, as we see it, amounts to this: An abominable Asiatic idea, that of military despotism, has prevailed in Prussia. Through Prussia it controlled central Europe. In 1914 it attempted to control western Europe. Now it attempts to control America. America resists, and will fight to the last ditch. In the words of our second declaration of independence, dated 1917, "God helping her, she can do no other."

WHEN CONGRESS CRIES "WOLF."

The United States congress, which is one of the most wasteful, extravagant bodies in the world, presents a fine spectacle when it attempts to set itself up as an arbiter of economy and honesty in the matter of government contracts. The situation reminds us of one of Emerson's observations. "How can I hear what you say," he asked, "when what you are keeps dinning in my ears?"

If we could forget about those millions of dollars of "pork" that are appropriated by congress every year, we might be more convinced by the cries of "wolf, wolf," that are emanating from Washington. It is a little hard to believe that the same congress which wastes millions could or would save millions by kicking out the members of the council of national defense.

Yet the senators and representatives are asking us to believe something like that. They are raising a big outcry about the council of defense for the purpose, we assume, of replacing the members with politicians of their own choosing.

The particular issue is whether a contract may be let to any concern in which a member of the defense board is interested. The highly developed ethical sense of congress is outraged by the idea. It is proposed to prohibit the government from dealing with any company that is represented on the defense board.

The immediate effect will be to wipe out the present board. The council is made up of business executives whose interests include the largest industries in the country. They are industries vitally needed to provide supplies and munitions for the government. If congress enacts the proposed "rider" to the food control bill, the members of the defense board will necessarily return to their private business and the government will lose their services.

In that event, Julius Rosenwald suggests we may expect a repetition of the embalmed beef and other supply scandals. We do not think he is exaggerating the danger. We believe the members of the council are capable and anxious to conduct the purchase of supplies without scandal. When we consider that the alternative is political control of purchases, we think there can be no question the defense board is infinitely to be preferred.

Men like Mr. Rosenwald and Mr. Coffin certainly know more about the intricate business of purchasing supplies than any politician, and we think their standard of patriotism and integrity is just as high, to say the least. There is perhaps a danger that a few members of the board may try to take advantage of their government connection. It might be advisable to devise certain safeguards. If the council gave out the facts regarding each case where a contract is let to a firm in which one of the members is interested, it would go a long way towards preventing this brand of profiteering.

But we think the country would be better pleased if congress did a little housecleaning on its account before trying to reform other branches of the government.

AN UNOFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE.

AMERICAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.—On the eve of the great American offensive a Chicago major made a stirring address to his command. There seems to be some doubt as to the proper spelling of his name, but he is commonly spoken of as Maj. Bunkhouser.

"In this great engagement," the major said, "America expects you to do your duty, but I wish to take this opportunity to warn you against all hatred and resentment of the enemy. Especially would I warn you against using expressions like 'dirty boche' or any other terms derogatory of the enemy soldiers.

"You are Chicago boys and you will recall my fight back home. You will remember that I suppressed all moving pictures that tended to arouse hatred against the enemy. As I go into battle I am particularly proud of having put the ban on Mary Pickford's anti-German film.

"Some of you men will soon be going over the top. I trust you will keep in mind your major's courageous stand against Mary Pickford. You go forth to kill the enemy, but I expect you to do so with loving kindness."

The above dispatch is incomprehensible. There is no Maj. Bunkhouser in the military directory. Somebody must have been kidding somebody.

Editorial of the Day

ALIEN LAND OWNERS IN UNITED STATES.

[From the Boston Herald.]

Secretary Lane wants congress to do something about the vast tracts of unused land that foreign syndicates and individual owners hold in some of our western and southern states. The figures as to the extent of these holdings come as a surprise to most of us. Attention has recently been called to them by the sale by Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg of a large tract that he has owned in Texas—perhaps a confession on his part that he has given up hopes of budging Mexico's "lost provinces" out from under our flag.

Naturally Secretary Lane is not inclined to dispute the titles to the foreign holdings, but he wonders if there is not a way to enact legislation that would oblige the alien owners to use the lands more generally for crops or for live stock raising.

They tell of a Dutch syndicate which owns 4,000,000 acres in New Mexico—a region nearly as large as Massachusetts—and of a German-American syndicate, which, curiously enough, has its office in London, that owns 750,000 acres in the same state. One British syndicate owns 2,000,000 acres—an area larger than Delaware—in Florida, and another owns 1,000,000 acres in Mississippi. There are two British syndicates that own about 1,500,000 acres each in Missouri.

The list is a long one and there is an amazing number of aliens, individuals and corporations, that own tracts of 100,000 acres or more in the United States. Much of this land was obviously bought as a speculation, to be sold in small lots as the price goes up. In some cases the tracts are held as game preserves. Alien landlordism is never popular in any country. Secretary Lane has touched on a matter that we shall hear more about in years to come.

And drive it howling to the winds headlong,
Dishonored and disgraced, beyond the pale

SAVING THE COST OF THE COUGH.

THE Medical Critic and Guide quotes a German statistician as calculating that a man who coughs four times an hour for ten hours uses up as much nourishment in doing so as is furnished by three eggs and two glasses of milk. In these war times the Germans cannot waste seven eggs and five glasses of milk a day on coughs for one man. Of course a person with a violent cough would use even more. Now multiply this by the millions of people having consumption, pneumonia, whooping cough, and common colds and we can understand why they have stripped Roumania bare and are paying out their scanty gold to Holland for food.

Australia is at work on a program to save its milk and eggs now fed to consumptives. They plan to eliminate the disease by 1920. In 1887 Victoria had a consumption rate of 152. That is about the rate prevailing in American cities. In 1915 the Journal of Outdoor Life says they had a rate of 72 in the commonwealth and 70 in Victoria. The decline in ten years was 25 per cent. The rate is declining somewhat faster than is that of this country. They have much less consumption than we do. And this is what they are doing:

They pay $2 a case for each case reported. This plan is only working fairly well. According to the estimate this method only finds about one-fifth of the cases. They will find a better method to add to this one.

All dangerously infective cases of the disease are removed to sanitariums and detained there forcibly until they are no longer dangerous.

Early cases are systematically and repeatedly visited in their homes by tuberculosis nurses and physicians. Where necessary the families of consumptives are pensioned. The number pensioned at the time of the report was 2,532.

The conditions for the control of the disease in Australia are unusually good. The average wages are high. It is an agricultural country in the main and there is no bad overcrowding such as prevails in most of our industrial cities. Their housing problem is very much simpler than ours. I do not think their native population is as nonresistant to consumption as our Negroes are. They have an unusually well developed social conscience. They can carry out measures for the control of careless consumptives with the support of public opinion.

Dr. Dublin shows that Victoria has not gotten rid of consumption, as Dr. Heiser reported that they had done. He does not think they will be wholly rid of the disease in 1928, as they hope, but I am sure he thinks that by that year they will be advanced to the point where they can see their way out.

CAN QUIT HIS BEER.

F. M. writes: "(1) Do you think it would undermine my health to stop drinking beer after drinking it for about twenty years every night before going to bed? I am 55 years old and get tired very easy. When I go to bed, no matter how tired, I will lie there for about two hours, sometimes less. (2) Do you think that well water is constipating? (3) Would it be all right to boil the well water? Would that make it safe to drink?"

REPLY.

1. I think you can stop beer with safety. Some surgeons have found that habitual beer takers do better if allowed a little beer after operations, but you do not seem to be in any emergency.

2. Well water is not constipating. Certain hard waters are, just as the minerals in certain waters are laxative.

3. Boiled water is safer than ordinary well water unboiled. Water that has been heated about 50 degrees short of boiling is just as safe as boiled water.

RINGWORM TREATMENT.

V. E. M. writes: "What is the cause of ringworms, and are they contagious or infectious? What can one do to prevent their spreading and itching? Is it beneficial to paint them with iodine, and will this effect a cure? If not, what do you suggest for treatment?"

REPLY.

Ringworm is due to a parasite. It is contagious. If you are where you can get X-ray treatment, have it, for it is much the best method. If you cannot get X-ray treatment, proceed as follows: Use tweezers to pull out all hairs in the ringworm area. Shave to a certain distance around the area. Paint with iodine. Repeat several times. Between iodine applications use a precipitated sulphur ointment. Spend twenty minutes rubbing this ointment in. You will find that your physician can do this better than you can.

SUGAR EATING HABIT.

Mrs. J. W. B. writes: "I have a habit of eating sugar. Is it harmful? I have a baby 6 months old. I eat heartily and plenty of vegetables, but as soon as I finish eating a meal I must have some sugar to eat. Can it do harm to either self or baby?"

REPLY.

The sugar habit can be easily overdone, causing dyspepsia, obesity, or diabetes. So long as it does not harm you it will not harm your baby.

USE OF DICTAPHONE.

M. A. wishes to know if the use of the dictaphone is harmful.

REPLY.

It is not. The ear training required for the dictaphone is somewhat different from that required in taking telephone messages or in stenography. Therefore a dictaphone operator is not at her best in taking shorthand, and vice versa. Of course, some dictaphone operators break down just as some stenographers and some housewives break down.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright, 1917, By the Ironwood Co.]

PREMIER RIBOT is making a considerable number of changes in the higher ranks of the diplomatic service of France. He has appointed Joseph Neulens, a distinguished lawyer and deputy hailing from Bordeaux, to the post of ambassador at Petrograd in the place of Maurice Paleologue, who was held to have identified himself too much with the imperial régime and to have failed to exercise the prevision and the influence which have rendered his English colleague, Sir George Buchanan, one of the most important factors in Muscovite affairs.

Neulens is a Radical in politics and cannot fail to find himself more in sympathy, both with his own government and that to which he is now accredited, than M. Paleologue, who was rather overwhelmed by the conviction that he was descended from the Paleologue rulers of the Byzantine empire, a weakness which was played upon by designing persons on the banks of the Neva.

Another change is the recall from Athens of Jean Guillemin, who has been envoy there for nearly three years and whose place is now taken by Charles Jennart, a former cabinet minister, a former governor general of Algeria, and a member of the senate, who, having been dispatched to Greece as special ambassador, with full powers, brought about the abdication and expulsion of King Constantine, and who is to remain on for some time to come as plenipotentiary of the entente powers in Greece.

He is the son-in-law of the colossally wealthy Lyons banker, deputy, and member of the institute and regent of the Bank of France, Edouard Aynard. Guillemin is well known in the United States, through his litigation and that of his American wife in the courts of New York to upset the will of the late Benjamin Hart.

Mme. Guillemin is the adopted daughter of old Hart of New York and was brought up to a great extent in Paris, where she made her début in cosmopolitan society under the chaperonage of the American Minnie, Dowager Marchioness of Anglesey, through whose instrumentality Isabella Hart's marriage to Jean Guillemin was arranged.

Jean Guillemin is the son of the late Francois Guillemin, who founded and owned the great dry goods store in Paris known as "the Trois Quartiers," opposite the Madeleine; and his sister, the Marquise de Montebello, now widowed, was for a number of years French ambassadress at Constantinople, and then at Petrograd, where, although a clever woman, she created no little amusement by the extravagance of her aristocratic pretensions. Indeed, it was her arrogance in this connection towards the members of the French Republican government with whom she was brought into contact, and towards their wives during the first visit of ex-Emperor Nicholas and of his consort to France, that wrecked the diplomatic career of her husband, and led to his being placed on the retired list.

She was the object of a good deal of ill-will on the part of the late Queen Victoria, who never forgave her for her refusal to postpone a dinner at the French embassy, set for the day of the French prince imperial's funeral at Chislehurst, when her husband, the late Marquis de Montebello, was acting as chargé d'affaires in London.

Although a number of weeks have elapsed since the British expeditionary force from Egypt was reported to have reached Gaza, and to be thus within striking distance of Jerusalem, nay, almost within sight of the walls of that city, there does not seem to have been any advance since. Apparently the commander of the expeditionary army, Gen. Sir Archibald Murray, declared that he needed reinforcements, owing to the elaborate character of the defenses organized by the Turks and by their German officers around Jerusalem. The reinforcements have been sent, including a number of Italian regiments.

But Sir Archibald has been superseded and the command of the expeditionary force has been entrusted to Sir Edmund Allenby, who on the occasion of the recent birthday of King George, was promoted to the rank of full general.

Allenby, like Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, and like the latter's predecessor in the supreme command of the British armies in France, namely, Field Marshal Lord French, is above everything else a cavalry man. French and Haig got all their regimental experience in the Hussars; whereas Allenby, who comes from an East Anglian family, received on joining the army a commission in the Sixth Dragoons, known as "the Skillingers," and remained with them, seeing active service in various parts of the world, until the Boer war.

At the close of the latter he had the command of the Fifth Royal Irish Lancers for three years, and the outbreak of the present war found him as inspector general of the cavalry of the British army, with the rank of major general. He was in command of the entire cavalry of the first British army in France, and contributed in no small degree with his cavalry to save the sorely tried infantry in their now historic retreat, and subsequently when his cavalry were obliged to discard their horses for service in the trenches, showed himself as capable and resourceful an organizer under the modern conditions of siege warfare as he had formerly showed himself a brilliant cavalry strategist and fighter.

Allenby is married to Miss Adelaide Chapman, a niece of Sir Lancelot Aubrey Fletcher, and has one son, who is serving as a subaltern in his father's old regiment, the Skillingers.

Baroness von Stumm-Rumbols, whose death has just taken place in Switzerland, was the colossally rich wife of Richard von Kuhlmann, who last year was promoted by the kaiser from the post of minister plenipotentiary at The Hague to that of German ambassador at Constantinople.

The circumstance that the ambassador should have borne a different name from his wife was due to the fact that some years ago Emperor William created Frau von Kuhlmann a baroness in her own right, by the name and title of Baroness von Stumm-Rumbols. She was the daughter and heiress of the late Baron Hugo von Stumm, whose iron works and coal mines rivaled in importance those of the Krupps at Essen.

Ambassador Kuhlmann is regarded by many, both in Germany and abroad, as largely responsible for the present war. He was first secretary, councilor, and de facto head of the German embassy in London during the two years prior to the outbreak of the conflict, his titular chief, the ambassador, Prince Lichnowsky, knowing little of diplomacy, being nothing, in fact, beyond a German grand seigneur, Von Kuhlmann had convinced the kaiser that Great Britain was powerless to participate in any European war.

ALLEY UPKEEP.

Chicago, July 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Our alley has not been cleaned for about three years. There are accumulations which render it almost impossible for even a small car to enter a garage. We pay taxes and are we not entitled to an alley cleaning once a year, even though it is closed at one end? RESIDENTS.

The alley complained of runs along the Illinois Central railroad wall and is what is known as a blind alley, and the people living on this half block have always been given ash and garbage service twice a week. They are on what is known as a "street can route." The alley was thoroughly cleaned in February and notices served on residents to stop throwing refuse into the alley. No one is to blame for the condition that exists there at the present time (which is not at all bad) but these people themselves, as the twice a week service should be ample to care for their needs. We are cleaning up the dead ends and shall inspect that hereafter, they will endeavor to co-operate with us to the extent of desisting from throwing refuse into the alley.
F. J. MITCHELL,
Superintendent of Streets.

BARN TO BE TORN DOWN.

Chicago, July 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—At 1720 Washburne avenue is a barn on the rear of the lot which appears very much dilapidated and the brick wall looks ready to topple over. Can we have this remedied? READER.

The department of buildings has had this matter in court and the owner has been fined $50 and costs and an order has also been given to the police department to close the building. Owner has assured this department contract has been let to tear down barn, so that in all probability same will be removed within the very near future.
CHAS. BOSTROM,
Commissioner of Buildings.

BAD ODORS FROM NORTH SHORE CHANNEL.

Chicago, July 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—An oder of gas emanates from the waters of the north shore channel in the neighborhood of Lawrence avenue. The water itself seems to be covered with oil and the flow is weak. Can an investigation be made with the view of eliminating the source of the trouble?
T. A. CHARMA.

It was necessary to close down the sewer pump at the sewerage pumping station for necessary repairs. However, this condition has been remedied and I am informed that a flow has again been established.
JOHN DILL ROBERTSON,
Commissioner of Public Works.

NEW CANS ORDERED.

Chicago, July 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—What can be done to compel the owner of 1214 Winnemac avenue to put in a new fence garbage can. Ours early last spring that can has been rusted through and the garbage strewn into the middle of the alley. At times there are as many as three rats eating at once, not to mention the flies. Several letters were written the department of alleys without result. Would greatly appreciate any assistance you can give.
READER.

In reply to complaint quote report of the superintendent of the Twenty-first ward: "I made a personal inspection of premises at 1214 Winnemac avenue and find alley to be unimproved and a private alley. Garbage can has a hole at bottom which exposes the garbage, but found none on the ground. Our files fail to show any previous written complaints in regard to the matter. However, notice was served on owner of building to provide new can."
A. J. MITCHELL,
Superintendent of Streets.

ESTATE SHOULD BE PROBATED.

Chicago, July 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—If a [illegible] child was left an estate and named in the will as executrix without bond, with full power, would it be have legally? What arrangements would be made to care for it during her childhood. The father is alive, the estate being willed to the mother, who died years since. [illegible] expected and had already made a will naming the child as heir. S. S.

The mother's estate should be probated. Probably the court would appoint an administrator with the will annexed to take the place of the infant executrix. A guardian should be appointed for the infant's estate.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE WASHINGTON SQUIRREL CAGE.

Quincy, Ill., July 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If you could once be out over this western country at crossroads, hotels, on trains, street cars, in office and field, and hear the grumblings and rumblings of the people over the condition of affairs in Washington, you would hardly hesitate to become the Northcliffe of the country and shake things up like h——. You are doing well—better than thousands of others—but you are not vigorous enough.

Mr. Hoover asks the ministers to speak on "Food Conservation;" next, we will hear of a day of prayer, and then something else, and then again something or another all calculated to blind us to the imperative need of getting soldiers equipped for a fight. Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia has recently said: "Here in Washington one goes to one man, is sent to another, relegated to someone else, shunted off to a different department—and can get nothing done whatever in the long run."

Bust the squirrel cage! Do it now! The Globe Democrat of St. Louis, following THE TRIBUNE'S lead, says: "Mr. Wilson's cabinet, with two, or perhaps three, exceptions, is composed of mediocrities. The country cannot trust them to select capable subordinates. The membership of the president's various boards and commissions averages very low. Both for the country's good and for his own future fame, the president might well consider the suggestion of Senator Weeks of a joint committee of congress to advise with him in the conduct of the war."

Without the newspapers of this country taking up this matter in dead earnest, it will not impress Washington. In time of the world's greatest war does THE TRIBUNE dare take the risk of not throwing in that monkey wrench? Grape juice statesmanship needs another kind of a nursing bottle. If not to W. C. N., then "Lord, to whom shall we go?"
J. M. RUDY.

MAMMIES AND CORN FOR ENGLAND.

Chicago, July 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In the editorial, "Eating Corn," you advise feeding America on corn. I can go it one better and suggest it now is good for Uncle Sam's children, for it is equally good for John Bull's children. Therefore let us be generous and give "full measure running over" with each cargo of corn we send over to John Bull; let us also provide a sufficient number of southern mammies to teach our English cousins how to prepare delicious southern corn dishes. M. A. S.

NO CAUSE TO SING, SHE SAYS.

Chicago, July 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have been reading THE TRIBUNE for fifty-three years every morning and, of course, sometimes disagreed with you, but aways found inspiration in it, ever truth prevailed in your columns. I read your editorial on music in war. You are right.

There is no inspiring music now! Because the people do not care to sing in this war. There is no real "Marseillaise." The people's voice is in the "Marseillaise." It is a scream of the people for freedom set to music. "Die Wacht am Rhein" is a holy desire of the people to protect their country. What else can people sing and shout that democracy shall reign in other countries, while in our own beloved land this same democracy is trodden under foot?

Please tell me what shall Rouse us? The trenches in France? Or our Christian churches, who have "Peace" in their towers and ask innocent boys away from their mothers, so they may be killed in the trenches? Give them something tangible to fight for and the people will find voice in song and music that thrills. JOSEPHINE M. LOCK.

CAN YOUR OWN VEGETABLES.

Chicago, July 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Fresh vegetables are going mighty cheap now, thanks to the "can your own garden stuff" campaign conducted by the newspapers.

What is needed now is a "Can your own fruit and vegetables" campaign with government control of the price of sugar and glass jars. SUBSCRIBER.

GRAHAMS MUST PAY OR HE WILL ACT, SAYS HOYNE

Receiver Finds the Books Straight; Expects 100 Per Cent.

Restitution—payment by the Graham bank of every dollar due depositors—is the one way in which Frank and Ralph Graham and the officers of Graham and sons' defunct west side bank, can escape criminal prosecution in the Cook county courts. Neither the prominence of the family nor the tremendous political influences that have backed the family will make the slightest difference.

This was the statement yesterday of State's Attorney Hoyne during a few hours spent in his office before a Fourth of July vacation out of town.

The Prosecutor's Viewpoint.

"The bank situation is simply this," said the prosecutor.

"I am satisfied, from information in my hands, that many deposits were received the day the bank closed, and on several preceeding days. There will be no difficulty in obtaining evidence of this.

"The officers of the bank are therefore guilty of accepting deposits after the bank was insolvent, and I anticipate no difficulty in proving the knowledge of the officers accepting these deposits that the bank was insolvent.

"In view of the technical guilt of the Grahams and other officers the question is whether it is to the best interests of the community that evidence looking to the indictment of the officers of the bank should be presented to the grand jury at this time or whether it will be better to wait awhile for developments.

"I have read statements in the press, purporting to be from the Graham family, expressing a willingness to turn over their property to save the depositors, and I expect to meet attorneys for the Graham family before the end of the week to take up this phase of the question.

No Hasty Action.

"I have no intention of doing anything hastily and believe that we can afford to wait a reasonable length of time before taking action. I want to say, though, that this bank will be handled, so far as criminal action is concerned, precisely like every other private bank that has failed, and neither the prominence nor political standing of the Graham brothers—whom I know—nor the political influence of any of their friends will have the slightest weight with this office.

"The sole escape from criminal prosecution in this, as in other private bank cases, will be complete restitution."

All Straight, Says Niblack.

"Everything in the Graham bank has been found absolutely straight as far as we have gone," said William C. Niblack, receiver of the institution. "If there was crookedness it was carried on outside of the bank and under assumed names. There are assets not easily disposed of, but not essentially bad."

He said further that results of his day's investigation led him to believe that the depositors will receive 100 cents on the dollar.

Safety Boxes Opened.

Safety deposit boxes belonging to Mrs. Graham and her family were opened during the day in the presence of Mr. Niblack. Few assets were found—only such papers as were described by Mrs. Graham and her sons on the witness stand Monday.

TANANEVICZ WAS WARNED OF CRASH, CASHIER SWEARS

"The devil knows how it can be better."

It was the swan song of John M. Tananevics, head of the defunct private bank at 3203 South Morgan street, according to the testimony of Tananevich's cashier on the witness stand before Judge Pam yesterday, where Tananevics is on trial for wrecking his institution.

Martin C. Kadziewski, former cashier of the bank, was the witness. He said that on Sept. 29 of last year Tananevics was refused return of his checks at the Chicago clearing house unless the Standard Trust and Savings bank, which handled the clearings, would cover them with a certified check.

Tananevics was refused the certified check because his account was already overdrawn $11,000, according to Kadziewski. Tananevics then went to his lawyer, Edward Bauman, who advised him to accept no more deposits.

"He came back and told me to take the deposits, but to keep them aside from the former accounts," said the cashier. "He said we might be in trouble with the law. After a few days I asked him again what had better be done.

"He said, 'The devil knows how it can be better,' and then, in half an hour, sent me to accept the deposits and put them with the rest of the cash."

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—The sum of $809,215,997.66 in internal revenue taxes was collected during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, according to announcement by the treasury department today. This sum is approximately 50 per cent greater than internal revenue collections for any previous year in the history of the United States.

The revenue was divided as follows:

Ordinary receipts	$449,200,855.96
Corporation income tax receipts	180,064,663.97
Personal income tax receipts	179,941,477.73
Total	$809,215,997.66

The expense of collecting this amount was about 95 cents per $100, this being the smallest pro rata expense of collection in the history of the department. At this rate the expense of collection was about $7,687,551, which is probably the highest amount ever expended by the government in the collection of its revenue.

Teamster Killed by Fall.

DECORATED

U. of C. Athlete Wins War Cross in France.

W. Henry Rubinkam

Wyncoop Henry Rubinkam of 1020 East Sixty-first street has been decorated with the French war cross for bravery displayed in driving his ambulance during a recent battle in France. Mr. Rubinkam is 22 years old and was a junior at the University of Chicago. He has won numerous medals and trophies in athletic events at the university, at Keewatin academy and at Hyde Park High school. He is now a member of unit No. 13 of the American ambulance field service and was decorated yesterday by Gen. Gourand during a review of troops. Benjamin F. Butler and J. M. Grierson Jr. of New York and Brownlee B. Gould of Toledo, O., were also awarded the war cross.

GERMANS PLAN ON TWO YEARS MORE OF WORLD'S WAR

Prepare to Battle Two Million American Soldiers.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

STOCKHOLM, July 3.—I have been informed from cautious German sources that the general staff is arranging its program on a basis that the war will continue for two years and that 2,000,000 American troops will participate in the conflict during that time.

The Russian government, in appealing to the Ukranian independence fomenters to cease their activities, says:

"In your zeal to be free, don't give Russia this blow and yourselves a blow that may mean death."

Ukranians Stand Pat.

In spite of this plea, the Ukranian lawyers' assembly declares that the Ukranian judiciary is functioning independently of Russia and only judges speaking the Ukranian language shall sit. The central council of the Ukranian movement has addressed the Russian law council a note asserting the legality of the autonomy movement.

English observers declare that the Ukranian movement is for no "doll house" republic like Kronstadt, but is a genuine independence movement in the richest part of Russia.

Finland Flooded with Rubles.

The heavy compulsory Finnish export to Russia is flooding Finland with a river of rubles. Imports from Russia having ceased, Finland's bank is overloaded with rubles, which nobody will accept as a medium of exchange. The people are crying, "You are swamping us with rubles, devouring our bread and meat, and cutting our forests. We cannot live on fair words and beautiful hopes. These questions must be settled soon."

It has just been revealed that only one of the dozen municipal or provincial Russian republics elected its old governor. The reason for this, it is declared, is because the candidates refused franchise to males of 18 years.

Should Organize Cossacks.

Conservative duma members declare that the best assurance of an effective Russian offensive is to get the Cossacks well organized. It is an outstanding fact that there are few Cossack deserters from the army.

Some Cossack troops succumbed temporarily to Bolscharute blandishments and agreed not to fight, but they forgot their agreement when a Turkish force attacked. They sprang from their trenches and drove the Turks five miles.

Submarines are causing food distress in the Fargoe islands because they are preventing fishing vessels from going about their tasks.

U. S. APPEALS FOR ENGINEERS TO RUN MERCHANT SHIPS

The government shipping board wants engineers for the new mercantile marine. Training schools have already been established in Chicago and Cleveland, and applicants are asked to visit the office of the United States steamboat inspectors, room 529 Federal building. The tuition is free, but candidates are expected to pay their own living expenses. Classes are held from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Although men with engineering experience on ocean ships are especially desired, fresh water sailors can qualify for good positions and stationary engineers and machinists without water training are also invited. An examination is given at the conclusion of the month's training, and those who are successful receive marine engineers' licenses. The road to advancement, according to the government's circular, is rapid.

The shipping board, which expects to construct a large number of vessels for use in prosecution of the war, has made an urgent appeal for men. The dirth of material is so great that in one Atlantic port fifty-five ships are tied up because of the lack of men to operate them.

RIVAL FORCES IN CHINA CLASH, CABLE REPORTS

Civil War On, Coast Hears; Emperor Outlines His Policies.

BULLETIN.

(Copyright: 1917: By New York Tribune.)

SHANGHAI, July 3.—The leaders of the southern provinces of China have issued a manifesto here refusing to recognise the monarchy set up by the young Manchu emperor. The navy is leading the revolt which is expected to develop serious consequences.

San Francisco, Cal., July 3.—Reports of a clash between loyal troops of the republic and the soldiers of the emperor over the restoration of the monarchy in China reached here today in a cablegram received by the Young China, a local newspaper.

According to the cable, the northern army, fighting for the emperor, is commanded by Gen. Chaong Fun, while the southern troops, united to preserve the republic, are commanded by Gen. Chuck Wong-Yuen.

According to a message made public by the Chinese Nationalist league, President Li Yuan Hung has declared he would lay down his life in the fight for the preservation of the republic.

The Nationalist league partly financed and directed the revolution in 1912 that overthrew the Manchus.

CHINA'S FUTURE GOVERNMENT.

PEKING, July 1.—[Delayed.]—The imperial emblem is everywhere displayed, marking the restoration of the Manchu monarchy. There has been no disorder. China's future government will be based on the following:

"The country shall be administered according to the constitutional laws promulgated by the late emperor.

"There shall be no difference between Manchu and Chinese. Marriage between them is allowed.

"All foreign treaties and contracts shall remain in force.

Gen. Chang-Hsun Premier.

Gen. Chang-Hsun, who led the move that overthrew the republic, has been named premier and has picked his cabinet.

According to an edict issued in the name of Hsuan-Tung, the young emperor, President Li Yuan Hung has submitted to the monarchy. The edict follows:

"Li Yuan Hung memorializes us to take over the government, stating that he was forced by the troops during the first revolution to become the nation's head. He denounces his defects as head of the republic and asks us to punish him. We recognize his mistakes and also his merits. We hereby appoint him a duke of the first class."

WAR EMPHASIZES BRITISH WISDOM ON SEA POLICIES

Control of Routes Chief Business of Empire for Years.

BY COL. HENRY J. REILLY.

The various parts of the British empire being mostly widely separated by stretches of sea, the communications of this empire are primarily sea ones. As the growth of the empire, and its overseas commerce which is the foundation of its wealth has depended all along upon these communications, the necessity to hold them open both in peace and war, has been thoroughly understood for a good many years. The result has been that the British policy has steadily been directed towards obtaining the shortest sea routes throughout the world properly connected by canals or railways where land intervened and properly guarded by the largest fleet in the world with bases of supply along all these routes.

The old route to India lay around Africa. Since the building of the Suez canal the route through the Mediterranean, the Red sea, the Gulf of Aden, and the Indian ocean has taken its place. As was pointed out in a previous article a large part of British diplomacy and some of her wars have been concerned with keeping rivals away from this route. This is also one of the principal roads to Australia and New Zealand.

Other Important Routes.

Other all water routes are around Africa and then due east or around South America and then due west. As a rule this latter route is used from Australia and New Zealand to Europe rather than from Europe to these countries.

The building of a transcontinental railway across Canada not only put all parts of this country in touch with the mother country, but also opened a new and shorter route to Australia and New Zealand via the Pacific ocean. The various African colonies are largely connected by railways with each other and the various African ports at the present time.

The completion of the Cape to Cairo road will mean quick rail communication from most of the British African possessions to the Egyptian sea ports. An alternate route from India to England is by way of Singapore across the Pacific to Vancouver and thence by rail to one of the eastern Canadian ports and so on across the Atlantic.

"All British" Routes.

All these routes are what are called all British, in that along each one are scattered British possessions which even if they have no commercial value have great value as bases for a battle fleet, and have been prepared as such.

At the time we were British colonists and for some time after the West Indies had a tremendous commercial value. This also gave them a military value which was so thoroughly appreciated by the British government that they gained control of a good many of them and established bases.

One of the most important chapters of the British struggle with the French for commercial and colonial supremacy in various parts of the world had to do with the West Indies.

An Important Line.

A canal in this region meant a very direct route from Great Britain to Australia and New Zealand, another route than the Suez, to far eastern ports, and a very short route to the northern part of the Pacific coast of South America, in place of the long trip down this coast through the straits of Magellan or around Cape Horn and up through the south and north Atlantic.

All this was thoroughly appreciated by the British and was the occasion of most of our disputes with her for a considerable number of years. The result of this thorough understanding of the value of overseas communication and proper preparation throughout a long period of peace was that immediately war was declared Great Britain was able to stop the overseas commerce of the enemy, to entirely stop him from communicating with his overseas possessions and his warships at large, and practically entirely from sending any news or messages other than what Britain was willing to let pass to neutral countries.

SHRAPNEL

Field mass will be celebrated by the Seventh Illinois infantry this morning at 9:30 o'clock in the armory, Thirty-fourth street and Wentworth avenue. The Rev. John O'Hearn, regimental chaplain, will officiate.

An athletic field day will be held for the members of the Third Reserve Engineers, stationed at the municipal pier this morning. Thirteen events will be run off. The meet will be held in the field west of the pier. The regiment will be on parade Friday. It will march from the pier to Lincoln park, where it will be reviewed by Col. W. C. Langfitt.

The Taylor-Critchfield-Clague company has sent seven men to the colors with Battery E, First Illinois artillery. They are: Raymond C. Blackwell of the cost department; R. Tuttle, business manager, agricultural advertising; Roy Scrymiger of the copy department; and H. Beck, H. H. Hudson, Trygve Tveter, and William J. Barren of the service department.

PEONY SHOW

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 5, 6 and 7, the public is invited to view in our rooms, 937-41 Marquette Bldg., an extraordinary display of peonies and other perennial flowers from our nurseries in Glenview.

These are the largest and most brilliantly colored flowers that are produced outdoors in this latitude. Our collection, accumulated in 60 years in business, is one of the finest in the country. The sight will well repay a visit.

While sales are not the purpose of this exhibition, it affords an excellent chance to select varieties for the home grounds. Plants from 50 cents upward will be delivered in September, which is the proper time for planting.

We invite every one interested in flowers, whether he is fortunate enough to possess a garden or not.

An Enchanting Journey from NIAGARA to the SEA

A HUNDRED years ago the Indians used to "Shoot the Rapids"—these same wonderful St. Lawrence Rapids—in canoes. A few of the few white men dared attempt.

But we have done what the Indians could not. We have built steamboats capable, under expert guidance, of traversing these tempestuous stretches of water that make the all-water route from Toronto to Montreal a trip worth travelling hundreds of miles to enjoy.

Midmost cap waves, the staunch boats of the Canada Steamship Lines, shaken but slightly by the quick rush of water, steer their careful course through the narrow channels; the passengers crowding on deck to view the wonderful scenes of those swirling, frothing waters.

Well worth the price of the entire trip, is that two-hour experience in the several sets of "Rapids"—in the course of which the grand old St. Lawrence River shakes its mane and flecks itself with foam, as it hurries in ever-faster straining on to the sea.

But by no means is this the whole of the trip's enjoyment. Equally important to the tourist are the delightful vistas of the more quiet river waters, both on the St. Lawrence and the Saguenay.

The boats touch at Murray Bay and Tadousac; where the traveller will find up-to-date Canada Steamship Lines' Hotels. All this you get; as part of the trip we call "Niagara to the Sea." The boat fares are as follows; from Niagara Falls:

HERE'S HOW WAR TAX ON PROFITS WILL BE FIXED

$1,670,000,000 Revenue Measure Reported to the Senate.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.] The war revenue bill providing for the raising of $1,670,000,000 was reported to the senate today by Chairman Simmons of the senate committee on finance.

The text of the principal sections of the measure was presented in THE TRIBUNE today. The first section provides that "in addition to the normal tax" imposed on incomes by the act of Sept. 8, 1916, "there shall be levied, assessed, collected and paid a like normal tax of 2 per centum upon the income of every individual, a citizen or a resident of the United States, received in the calendar year 1917 and every calendar year thereafter."

Then follow the new surtaxes to be paid in addition to the surtaxes provided by the act of 1916 and the reduction of exemptions to $2,000 for married and $1,000 for unmarried persons. The senate committee did not change the provisions of the corporation tax section passed by the house.

Defines Excess Profits.

Then follows the provision for the war excess profits, beginning with a definition of terms, which in part follow.

"The term 'taxable years' means the twelve months ending Dec. 31, except in the case of a corporation or partnership which has fixed its own fiscal year, in which case it means such fiscal year. The first taxable year shall be the year ending Dec. 31, 1917, except that in the case of a corporation or partnership which has fixed its own fiscal year it shall be the fiscal year ending during the calendar year 1917. If a corporation or partnership, prior to March 1, 1918, makes a return covering its own fiscal year, and includes therein the income received during that part of the fiscal year falling within the calendar year 1916, the tax for such taxable year shall be that proportion of the tax computed upon the excess profits during such full fiscal year which the time from Jan. 1, 1917, to the end of such fiscal year bears to the full fiscal year.

"The term 'pre-war period' means the calendar years 1911, 1912, and 1913, or, if a corporation or partnership was not in existence or an individual was not engaged in a trade or business during the whole of such period, then as many of such years during the whole of which the corporation or partnership was in existence or the individual was engaged in the trade or business."

HOW CAPITAL IS AVERAGED

War profits are to be determined by deducting the average income for the pre-war period from the net income for the taxable year. The tax on war profits, graduated from 12 to 50 per cent, is as presented in THE TRIBUNE today.

In addition to the rules for determining war profits the senate committee bill provides:

"If the average capital (or in the case of a foreign corporation or partnership or a nonresident alien individual that proportion thereof which the net income of the trade or business from sources within the United States bears to the entire net income) employed in the trade or business during the taxable year is greater than the average capital or proportion thereof so employed during the pre-war period, the excess profits shall be determined by deducting from the net income for the taxable year an amount which bears the same proportion to the average annual net income for the pre-war period, which the average capital or proportion thereof employed during the taxable year bears to the average capital or proportion thereof employed during the pre-war period.

Treatment of New Concerns.

"If a taxpayer fails to present satisfactory evidence as to the average amount of the annual net income of the trade or business during the prewar period, the excess profits shall be determined as provided in section 208."

The provision affecting a newly organized business follows:

"If the net income of the trade or business for the taxable year, in the case of a corporation or a partnership which has fixed its own fiscal year, or for the calendar year, in the case of a corporation or partnership which has not fixed its own fiscal year, or of an individual who was not engaged in the trade or business prior to Jan. 2, 1913, is less than 8 per centum per annum on the average capital employed in such trade or business, there shall be deemed to be no excess profits."

Settlement of Disputes.

Questions over taxable war profits are to be settled in this way:

The tax shall be assessed on the basis of the excess profits determined as provided in section 208, but the taxpayer claiming the benefit of this section may at the time of making the return file a claim for abatement of the amount by which tax so assessed exceeds a tax at like rate computed upon the basis of excess profits determined as provided in this section. In such event collection of the part of the tax covered by such claim for abatement shall not be made until the claim is decided; but if in the judgment of the commissioner of internal revenue the interests of the United States would be jeopardized thereby he may require the claimant to give a bond in such amount and with such sureties as the commissioner may think wise to safeguard such interests, conditioned for the payment of any tax found to be due, with the interest thereon, and if such bond, satisfactory to the commissioner, is not given within such time as he prescribes, the full amount of tax assessed shall be collected and the amount overpaid, if any, shall upon final decision of the application be refunded as a tax erroneously or illegally collected."

FIXING OF NET INCOMES

Other provisions of the war profits tax follow:

"The net income of a partnership or individual shall be ascertained and returned for the calendar years 1911, 1912, and 1913, and for the taxable year upon the same basis and in the same manner as provided in title I. of such act of Sept. 8, 1916, as amended, except that the credit allowed by subdivision (B) of section 5 of such act shall also be deducted. There shall be allowed (a), in the case of a domestic partnership, the same deductions as allowed to individuals in subdivision (a) of section 5 of such act, as amended; and (b) in the case of a foreign partnership, the same deductions as allowed to individuals in subdivisions (a) of section 6 of such act, as amended.

"That every partnership having a gross income of $5,000 or more for the taxable year and every individual having such a gross income from a trade or business shall render a correct return of the income of the trade or business for the taxable year, setting forth specifically the gross income for such year and the deductions allowed in this title. Such returns shall be rendered at the same time and in the same manner and form as is prescribed for income tax returns under title I. of such act of Sept. 8, 1916, as amended."

TAX IMPORTED PERFUMES

The senate committee did not change the additional tax of $1.10 a gallon on whisky imposed by the house, but added a tax of $1.10 a wine gallon on imported perfumes containing distilled spirits. On cereals used in the production of distilled spirits a tax of $60 a hundredweight and on molasses and sirups a tax of $5 a wine gallon are imposed. Additional provisions follow:

"Under such rules, regulations, and bonds as the commissioner of internal revenue, with the approval of the secretary of the treasury, may prescribe, the provisions of this section shall not apply to materials used in the production of distilled spirits withdrawn exclusively for other than beverage purposes, or for the fortification of pure sweet wines, as defined by the act entitled 'An act to increase the revenue, and for other purposes,' approved Sept. 8, 1916; but such spirits shall not be withdrawn for export except upon the application of an accredited representative of a nation at war with the imperial German government, or of any neutral nation in which application it is declared that such spirits are withdrawn for other than beverage purposes.

"That no distilled spirits produced after the enactment of this act shall be imported into the United States from any foreign country, or from the West Indian islands recently acquired from Denmark (unless produced from products the growth of such islands), or from Porto Rico or the Philippine islands. Under such rules, regulations, and bonds as the secretary of the treasury may prescribe, the provisions of this section shall not apply to distilled spirits imported for other than beverage purposes."

"Soft Drinks" Taxed.

The house increase of $1.25 a barrel in the tax on beer is retained, but the tax on "soft drinks" was changed to provide:

"If so sold for not more than $1.25 per gallon, a tax of 3 cents per gallon; if so sold for more than $1.25 per gallon and not more than $2 per gallon, a tax of 4 cents per gallon; if so sold for more than $2 and not more than $3 per gallon, a tax of 6 cents per gallon; if so sold for more than $3 and not more than $4 per gallon, a tax of 8 cents per gallon; and if so sold for more than $4 per gallon, a tax of 12 cents per gallon."

The tax on carbonic gas in drums for production of carbonated water and other drinks was reduced to 5 cents a pound.

WHAT AUTOISTS MUST PAY

Cigar and tobacco taxes are as stated in THE TRIBUNE today.

The section on automobile taxes provides:

"That on the date this act takes effect, and thereafter on July 1 in each year, and also at the time of the original purchase of a new automobile or motorcycle by a user, if on any other date than July 1, there shall be levied, assessed, collected, and paid, upon the use of automobiles and motorcycles not exclusively for business, an excise tax at basic rates, as follows: Motorcycles, $2.50; automobiles the original listed retail price of which is not over $500, $5; original listed price over $700 and not over $750, $7.50; original listed retail price over $750 and not over $1,000, $10; for each further increase of $500 or fractional part thereof of original listed retail price an additional tax of $5.

"In the case of a tax imposed at the time of the original purchase of a new automobile or motorcycle on any other date than July 1 the amount to be paid shall be the same number of twelfths of the amount of the tax as the number of calendar months, including the month of sale, remaining prior to the following July 1.

"The tax payable in any year shall be reduced by 10 per centum of its basic amount for each twelve months elapsed since the original sale of the automobile or motorcycle by the manufacturer or importer, but in no case shall it be reduced to less than 50 per centum of such basic amount."

"That from and after the first day of ——, nineteen hundred and seventeen, there shall be levied, assessed, collected, and paid (a) a tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof of the amount paid for admission to any place, including admission by season ticket or subscription, to be paid by the person making such payment: Provided, that the tax on admission of children where an admission charge for such children is made shall in every case be 1 cent; and (b) a tax of 5 cents for each admission of each person (except in the case of a bona fide employé and children under 13 years of age and municipal officers on official business) admitted free to any place for admission to which a charge is made, to be paid by the person so admitted; and (c) a tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof paid for admission to any public performance for profit at any cabaret or other similar entertainment to which the charge for admission is wholly or in part included in the price paid for refreshment, service, or merchandise; the amount paid for such admission to be computed under rules prescribed by the commissioner of internal revenue, with the approval of the secretary of the treasury, such tax to be paid by the person paying for such refreshment, service, or merchandise; and, in addition to the above, (d) upon tickets of admission to theaters, operas, and other places of amusement, sold at news stands, hotels, and places other than the ticket offices of such theaters, operas, or other places of amusement, at not to exceed 50 cents in excess of the sum of the established price therefor at such ticket offices, plus the amount of any tax imposed under clause A of this section, a tax equivalent to 5 per cent of the amount of such excess, and if sold for more than 50 cents in excess of the sum of such established price, plus the amount of any tax imposed under clause A of this section, a tax equivalent to 10 per cent of the whole amount of such excess, such taxes to be paid by the person, corporation, partnership, or association selling such tickets; and, in addition to the above, (e) a tax equivalent to 40 per cent of the amount for which the proprietors, managers, or employés of any opera house, theater, or other place of amusement sell or dispose of tickets or cards of admission in excess of the regular or established price or charge therefor, such tax to be paid by the person, corporation, partnership, or association selling such tickets."

FOOD CONSUMPTION TAXES

The principal change in the stamp taxes made by the committee is the addition of a 1 cent tax on drafts and checks of $5 or more and of 1 cent on each parcel post package for each 25 cents or part thereof charged for its transportation.

The food consumption taxes follow:

(a) Upon all coffee substitutes therefor produced, or imported, and sold or removed for consumption or sale, a tax 2 cents per pound, to be paid by the producer or importer.

(b) Upon all tea produced or imported, and sold or removed for consumption or sale (except impure tea, tea waste, tea siftings or sweepings, for manufacturing purposes in bond, pursuant to the provisions of the act of May 16, 1908) a tax of 5 cents per pound to be paid by the producer or importer.

(c) Upon all crude cocoa, produced or imported, and sold or removed for consumption or sale, a tax of 3 cents per pound, and upon all prepared or manufactured cocoa and chocolate imported and sold, or removed for consumption or sale, a tax of 5 cents per pound, such taxes to be paid by the producer or importer.

Levies in Sugar

(d) Upon (1) all refined sugar, refined or imported, and sold or removed for consumption or sale, and (2) all sugar manufactured or imported, if suitable for consumption, as an article of human food without further refining, and sold or removed for consumption or sale, a tax of ½ cent per pound, to be paid by the refiner, manufacturer or importer.

(e) Upon all saccharine or similar products, glucose, grape sugar, sirup of cane juice and molasses, produced or imported, and sold or removed for consumption or sale, a tax of $2.50 per pound in the case of saccharine or similar products, ¼ cent per pound in the case of glucose and grape sugar, 1 cent per gallon in the case of molasses (except best molasses), and sirup of cane juice, testing by polariscope above 40 degrees and not above 56 degrees, and 2 cents per gallon in the case of molasses and sirup of cane juice testing above 56 degrees, such taxes to be paid by the producer or importer.

10,000 SLOGANS FOUND WANTING; TIME EXTENDED

Judges Say Something with More Snap Is Needed.

After working all the afternoon and until 1 o'clock this morning, during which time more than 10,000 slogans were passed upon, the judges in THE TRIBUNE'S naval poster slogan contest were unable to find anything sufficiently appropriate to be used in connection with Robert Reid's wonderful painting at Michigan boulevard and Randolph street. In the hope that something answering the purpose will be submitted, the closing date of the contest has therefore been extended one week and will close definitely next Tuesday night, July 10. The awards will be announced on the following day, July 11.

Many Offerings Too Long.

All entrants failed to grasp the meaning of the picture in a way that could be used. Many struck the right chord, but their slogans were of such length that, if used, an extra signboard would have to be added.

What is wanted is something short and snappy, something with a punch. Mr. Reid intended originally to use the famous saying of Admiral Farragut, "Damn the torpedoes, go ahead," and that of John Paul Jones, "We've just begun to fight."

Two Prizes Offered.

Prizes of $50 each will be given for the two best slogans and only males between the ages of 17 and 25 are eligible to compete. If you have already sent in a slogan don't be discouraged, but try again. Send in as many as you want to, but remember the shorter the better.

REDS GET HITS WHEN NEEDED; BEAT CUBS, 3-1

BY I. E. SANBORN.

One blow for three bases by G. Neale was sufficient to give Cincinnati a second consecutive victory over the Cubs yesterday. Said blow came behind a single by Hal Chase and was followed by a long fly, the combination producing the difference between the two ends of a 3 to 1 score.

The Cubs could not connect successfully with the stuff handed out by Pete Schneider, although they hit him almost as hard as the Reds did Al Demaree. There was a wide difference in the support given the two hurlers, but only one of Cincinnati's runs was the result of an error. The Reds simply were lucky in bunching their offensive.

Driscoll Misses Three Chances.

Pattie Driscoll, who played his first complete game for the Cubs, missed three of the five fielding chances that came his way, but got the hardest ones, and his errors proved costly only in one inning, when the visitors registered their first tally on one of his fumbles, followed by a wild chuck by Wortman.

The game was in marked contrast to that of the day before, in that it lacked most of the elements of surprise and the supernatural which featured the inaugural battle of the series. The absence of Mitchell from first base, to which Chase returned, was responsible for considerable of the rationality of the contest.

Mann Runs Past His Station.

A couple of freak plays were pulled at that. Mann was caught at third on a throw to the plate in the third inning because his brakes refused to work and he skidded past the station. Neale was caught at the plate when he overran third on a bunt by Shean in the second inning. But mostly it was air tight baseball of the ready to wear variety.

Cincinnati gained the lead in the second inning. Chase led with a bounder which Driscoll fumbled. Griffith flew out, but Neale pushed a fast one between third and short. Wortman negotiated it far back on the grass, too late to get his man, and threw the ball wildly to first, letting Chase go third and Neale to second. They worked the squeeze play for the run, Shean dumping a bunt toward third on which Chase registered easily. Zelder pegged out Shean at first, and when Neale overran third on the play Merkle returned the ball in time to cut off his retreat. Neale dug for the plate, but Zelder handed the ball to Elliott for the out. A muff by Merkle gave the Reds an opening in the third, but Mann closed it by nailing Schneider at the plate when he tried to score from second on Roush's single.

Cubs Tie It in Third.

The Cubs tied it up in their third after two were gone. Flack produced a single and Mann whaled a liner into the right field corner on which Flack rode all the way home. Mann made third on the throw to the plate, but could not stop, had Wingo winged the ball to Groh before Leslie could get back to his sack.

The Reds copped in the fourth. Chase led with a single to center. Griffith perished easily, but Neale drove a screecher through right center for three bases, scoring Hal. Shean's fly went so far to left that Mann could not keep Neale from scoring after the catch. Demaree let the visitors down with two more hits in the next four innings, then gave way to a pinch hitter in the home eighth, letting Hendrix finish. But the Cubs were pie for Schneider after the third, only three more hits being made off him.

Notes

Cincinnati twice today—a. m. and p. m.

Schneider got Williams twice on strikes, whiffing him on three pitched balls in the seventh. Six Cubs were set down by the strike out route.

Cubs and Reds will celebrate the holiday with a split double bill, the morning game begining at 10:30 and the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Today's battles will wind up the present home series. Both teams will hurry eastward tonight for a second swing around that end of the circuit.

Secretary Bancroft of the Reds inquired if the morning game today was to be secret practice, as there was no announcement on the score board that such a game was to be played.

Groh stole a base hit from Zelder in the fifth inning by a pretty play, but Rollie sneaked a single through the infield in the seventh. Just for that he was taken out to let Ruether strike out for him in the ninth.

Merkle raised hopes of a tie in the ninth by driving out a double after one was out. Williams' grounder to Shean advanced Merkle to third, but he perished there when Ruether struck out for Zelder.

Notes

Detroit, Mich., July 3.—[Special.]—Two games tomorrow, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

They are firing crackers in Detroit tonight and it looks like a noisy Fourth. The Sox are likely to be in the thick of the fight.

Rab Russell is on hand prepared to hurl a game of ball tomorrow, and Claude Williams or Eddie Cicotte is slated to hurl one also.

Hap Felsch got the bad end of another close decision at the plate in the eighth. He was on third with one out when Schalk hit to the pitcher. Hap stuck close to third until the pitcher threw to first, then he dug out for home and was out.

Weaver and Jim Scott might double in brass while here if they wished because the "four Cook sisters" are booked at a local vaudeville house and it was the "four Cooks" who voldiviled for one season with Buck and Jim. One of the "four Cooks" is Mrs. Buck Weaver.

RALLY A FIZZLE; PIRATES BEATEN

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 3.—With men on second and third bases and no outs in the ninth, Pittsburgh was unable to hit safely, and lost to St. Louis, 5 to 6. Pittsburgh had driven Meadows from the slab with seven hits in the second and third innings, netting five runs. Score:

SOX HAND OUT DEFEAT TO TIGERS BY SCORE OF 5-1

Victory Impressive One, Three Detroit Hurlers Failing to Stop 'Em.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Detroit, Mich., July 3.—[Special.]—When the White Sox finished licking the Detroit Tigers today a Detroit fan said: "I don't see how any team can beat these fellows out of the pennant. They certainly looked good."

The Detroit fan didn't see the Sox in a lot of other ball games and he was right, for the Sox were in their championship stride and thrashed the Tigers, 5 to 1, and all the time looked capable of going out and getting a lot more runs if more runs were needed.

Red Faber was on the slab and he was a whale of a pitcher. He had the slugging Detroiters badly fussed all afternoon. He allowed five hits and never was in danger. His mates gave him a couple of runs in the first inning and Red didn't need any more.

Three Tiger Hurlers Work.

Jennings used three twirlers in his effort to stop the antics of the Sox, but one was little better than the others. Coveleskie began and his southpaw slants were easy. He stuck until the fifth, when the Sox drove him to the bench. All five runs were made off him. Mr. C. Jones, young and ambitious, came to his rescue, and hurled nicely until the seventh, when he gave his place at bat to Sam Crawford. Then Mr. Cunningham finished the game. The game really was finished before Mr. Cunningham appeared.

There was just a bit more fire in the Sox attack and it proved to be worth while. In the first inning, after one was out, Buck Weaver reached first base on Bush's error and Eddie Collins poled one safely to left center that sent Buck to third, from where he trotted home when Jackson poled to right. E. Collins scooted to third on Jackson's blow and came home when Felsch forced the General at second.

Drive Coveleskie Off Slab.

The Sox threatened again in the fourth, but the umpires took a play from them at third which killed the chance, so they had to wait until the next inning to drive Coveleskie off the rubber. That round started by John Collins being hit by a pitched ball. Weaver sacrificed. Eddie Collins slammed safely to left. J. Collins stopped at third, but Veach pegged home and Eddie Collins took second on the peg.

Jackson then hit safely to left and J. Collins scored, but Eddie C. stopped at third. Again Veach pegged home and Jackson took second. Then Felsch drove safely to left and both E. Collins and Jackson scored while Felsch took second. Coveleskie was yanked and C. Jones came forth and restored order.

Sox Pay Out Real Coin for Two New Players

ANOTHER SAFETY FOR TYRUS COBB; THIS ONE FLUKY

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Detroit, Mich., July 3.—[Special.]—Ty Cobb hit safely against the White Sox in his thirty-second consecutive game today, but even the Detroit fans were a trifle disappointed in the way he made his hits.

Ty had been up three times. He flied out twice and walked once. When he came up for the fourth and last time two men were out and things looked bad. The White Sox were leading, 5 to 0.

Bunts and Reaches First.

Ty indicated on the first pitched ball that he might bunt. Weaver dashed in as usual, but the ball was wide and Ty let it go for one ball. He bunted the next one and fouled it for one strike. Then he took another wide one for a second ball and bunted the next one.

It was a swell bunt all right, rolling down toward third base, but this time Weaver was playing away back and by the time he got in and picked up the ball Ty was at first and hadn't even hurried.

Help Cobb to Make Record?

Now the fans are wondering if Faber laid it over and Buck stayed back just so Ty's chance for a record would not be ruined. Veach followed with a triple, scoring Ty, and then the Sox tightened up again.

LONDON TALE OF YANKEE-CANUCK BASEBALL 'SHOW'

Lord Mayor Among Fans as Canadians Win; Ump Is Panned.

[From the London Morning Post, as Republished in Baseball Magazine.]

The Canadian military side, consisting mostly of men from one of the convalescent homes, and a team of London Americans played a second match at Queen's club on Saturday for the fund for widows and orphans of Canadian soldiers.

Among those who had given their patronage to these baseball matches as a means of assisting the charity were Earl Grey, the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, Mr. Balfour, and Mr. Robert P. Skinner, the United States consul general.

Lord Mayor Pitches First Ball.

The lord mayor of London visited Queen's club and gave practical support to the match, for in addition to a brief talk with the players he undertook the task of pitching the first ball.

After this beginning the teams settled down and gave a demonstration of the game that was quite typical of the manner in which it is played in the great cities of the United States and Canada.

The bantering and the exhortation—all part of the game—from the various "corners" of the crowd were quite properly fulfilled.

Rooting "Music" to English.

Such "music" seemed strange to English ears. It was at least amusing, and made it possible to imagine what a real baseball show is like on the "other side."

It was a hard and skillful match and the Canadians won with a score of eight runs to four. It was when the Canadians were in for the eighth time that the issue was determined under something like protest from the Americans. The umpire had decided a nice point on the question of running to second base for Canada. It brought on him a storm of argument; but he stood to his guns.

As a result of the two matches at Queen's a sum of over £200 has been raised for this fund for Canadian soldiers' widows and orphans.

The Nation's Needs First
The illustration shows a military officer hurrying to the telephone for important military business and a civilian cheerfully according him the right of way. This typifies the attitude of the nation and it also typifies the attitude of the Bell System.
The nation is at war and it is necessary that private interests shall be subordinated to the Government's need for telephone service.
During these weeks of military preparedness the Government has had the service of the most comprehensive and efficient telephone system in the world.
As our military strength grows, and we become larger participants in the great war, the demands of the Government upon our service will continue to increase, and must be met.
An extraordinary increase in telephone traffic, due to the unprecedented commercial and industrial activity incident to the war, must be adequately provided for.
We shall endeavor to make this patriotic service, and to bear cheerfully any unavoidable inconveniences or delay in your telephone service.

FARLEY'S PLAY BIG FEATURE OF NET EVENT

Beats Gill by Spurt in Third Set; Old Timers Win.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

J. A. Farley won the feature match of yesterday's play in the Illinois Patriotic tennis tournament for the Red Cross at the new South Side Tennis club. He beat F. H. Gill in the fourth round, 6—7, 7—5, 6—4, after the lead alternated through three sets. Gill weakened in the third frame after he had led the games at 4-all, and Farley finished in a great spurt, knocking the kids down the alleys, then passing Gill with chop cross court shots.

None of the big contenders was eliminated during the day. Mel Rosenberg of San Francisco, regarded by many as the dark horse of the tournament, beat Walter Becker, University of Illinois western college conference champion, in the third round, the coast man playing even a better game than his backers expected. Rosenberg is one of the steadiest players in the meet, also one of the fastest, and has run all opponents off their feet to date.

Old Timers Score Victories.

A trio of players who met in their first clashes in local and western championships almost twenty years ago figured in victories yesterday. The three are Samuel Hardy, formerly of Los Angeles, now of London, who won his first championship in the Pacific sectional singles in 1907 and his last a few weeks ago in the Chicago city tournament; L. Echoes

WHILE we who live in Illinois are adjusting our Fourth of July motoring to the easy going provisions of our new state headlight law, folks at the extremities of the continent—in New York and California—are getting ready to obey statutes that regulate their night driving with considerably more strictness, and it seems they're having an awful time of it.

New York's new law, which goes into effect Aug. 1, provides that at seventy-five feet from the car the headlight beam shall not attain a height greater than forty-two inches from the ground and at the same time that the lamps shall be of sufficient intensity to illumine objects clearly at a distance of 200 feet. Thus the type of lamp most commonly used is put out of business, for few dimmers provide light enough to comply with the second provision, while the ordinary bright headlight is barred by the first. An added difficulty, concerning which much woe is being expressed, is that the law gives no one any authority to designate approved types of lighting devices, so that a lens approved by the police in one city or town may not be permitted in neighboring communities.

In California a law which takes effect July 27 restricts the headlight ray in the same manner. Californians, however, are disturbed not so much about their spotlights. The headlights as about their spotlights. The law provides that lamps must be so fixed that their beams cannot be raised above the forty-two inch level, and this, it is feared, may mean the end of the flashy attached spotlight.

The principle of deflecting light rays downward, keeping them on the road and out of the eyes of approaching motorists, has been approved by the Society of Automotive Engineers after a long series of tests and has already been incorporated in the laws of several states. It is more than likely that it will be the basis of the next "safety first" crusade in Illinois, for the present law, providing simply that a driver must dim his lights when another car approaches, is one that cannot possibly be enforced with any degree of thoroughness.

The Brighton Motorcycle club announces an endurance run to Rockford, Ill., and return, to be held Sunday, July 15. The start will be made from the club headquarters at Thirty-eighth street and Archer avenue, and there will be intermediate checking controls at Elgin and Marengo. The contest will be governed by the rules of the Federation of American Motorcyclists.

For today the center of interest in the motorcycle world is the two mile motor speedway at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., where the eastern championship races will be run this afternoon.

To Quickly Relieve Soreness and Inflammation

Rub in a few drops of Absorbine, Jr. It is surprising how promptly it penetrates and acts—how clean and pleasant it is to use and how economical, because only a few drops are required to do the work.

In addition to being a dependable liniment, Absorbine, Jr., is a safe, powerful, trustworthy antiseptic and germicide which doubles its efficiency and its uses.

When applied to cuts, bruises, and sores, it kills the germs, makes the wound aseptically clean and promotes rapid, healthy healing. It allays pain and inflammation promptly. Swollen glands, painful varicose veins, weak, and bursal enlargements yield readily to the application of Absorbine, Jr.

McGraw to Face Scribes at Rehearing on July 6

New York, July 3.—President John K. Tener of the National league has notified the chairman of the local chapter of the Baseball Writers' association that there will be a rehearing of the McGraw case on July 6. The meeting will be attended by all members of the board of directors of the National league and the Writers' association has been notified to have present all those necessary in the capacity of witnesses. Manager McGraw will be confronted in open session by the writers whose alleged interviews he repudiated at the last meeting of the league.

Ebbets Hearing Goes Over.

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—The court hearings of President Charles Ebbets and Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn baseball club, charged with permitting Sunday baseball to be played at Ebbets field on Sunday, were adjourned until on Friday by Magistrate Geismar of the Flatbush police court.

West Side Harness Meet Today.

Six harness events are carded at the west side track today. Fourteen new horses will appear in the various classes, which will make the task of picking the winners a hard one. In the free for all pace Hazel Armstrong, 2:06¾; Blue Line, 2:06¾, and Change III., 2:12¾, will meet again.

AMONG THE CASTERS.

THE Anglers Club held a number of casting events at their pool in Douglass park Sunday. George Chatt took about everything takable. Too bad the national tournament was postponed, as there would be some real competition between Chatt and Call McCarthy, winner of the championship at last year's tournament, to say nothing of some of those Pacific coast casters who are making some remarkable scores.

* *

Quarter ounce accuracy bait—Stanley, 99.4; Nordholm, 99.2; Arado, 99.1; Houlehan, 98.8; Arado, 98.8; Lucks, 98.7; Gustafson, 98.6; Donahoe, 98.3.

Light tackle accuracy fly—Donaldson, 99 7-16; Lucks, 99 6-16; Arado, 98 8-15; Nordholm, 98 1-16.

* *

Good fishing weather and vacations do not seem to have much effect on the attendance at the casting clubs' meets every Saturday and Sunday. Most of the members are week-ending every other week and arranging their trips so that they will be at the pool when there is "sumting diddings."

* *

We were fishing recently with a new member of one of the clubs who never had a fly rod in his hand until this spring. He handles a good line with remarkable ease and is a good example of what a few hours' instruction and practice at a club pool will do for a novice.

* *

Maurice Clarke, Fred Locky and some of the other boys were fishing last week end at High Lake, Wis. They report fishing good, but say that many of the bass have not even started to go on the spawning beds, which tallies with our observation farther south.

The Illinois Casting club will cast Saturday afternoon and Sunday at their pool in Washington park. Visitors will be welcome.

BY RAY PEARSON.

For a little while yesterday it looked as if the boxing fans of Chicago weren't going to enjoy a lake trip with a scrap at the other end to assist in making a "perfect day" of the Fourth. Gov. Sleeper of Michigan during the day sent a telegram to Sheriff Hoque of Berrien county, in which Benton Harbor is situated, ordering him to refuse to permit the bout between Greek Knockout Brown and Phil Harrison of Chicago.

That made it look like a knockout for the sport and a disappointment for the fans, but the situation cleared when District Attorney John J. Sterling examined the articles of agreement and gave the opinion that it was a boxing contest instead of a prizefight, the latter being unlawful under the Michigan statutes. The sheriff took the same view, with the result there will be no interference in the program for today. The district attorney will be a ringsider.

Governor's Action Usual Custom.

Floyd Fitzsimmons, the promoter, as soon as it was certain there would be no interference, got in communication with Nate Lewis, manager of Brown, over long distance phone and notified him that everything was O. K. for the bouts. It is said that the action of the governor in ordering the sheriff to stop the bout is the customary procedure, and that it is done in advance of all contests in the Wolverine state.

Brown and Harrison, principals in the windup, and Sailor Freedman and Walter Jacobson, who will furnish the semi-windup, will be in the Michigan resort early in the morning, and all are reported as fit and anxious for the clang of the gong to start them into action.

Three Boats for Ring Fans.

Chicago fans will make the trip by boats, the first of which leaves at 9 o'clock, the second at 9:35, and the last at 10 o'clock. It was reported last night that all the tickets sent to Chicago for sale had been disposed of.

On the other side of the lake, or at Racine, Wis., there will be a rival show this afternoon, and the local fans who prefer the rails to the boats may see Bryan Downey and Eddie Loha engage in a ten rounder, along with several other bouts. One of the preliminaries will bring a baptism of fire for Jack Witt, the naval station boxer, who is going to try his hand at the "pro" game by meeting Harry Lehnert, John Wagner is staging this show. Many motoring fans will make the trip by the Milwaukee road course, now open.

Aurora, Ill., also gets back on the pugilistic map with a show promoted by Jack Sager, the windup being between Spike Kelly and Tommy Sheehan, a couple of husky welterweights.

Decide Boys' and Junior Tennis Titles Next Week

The annual boys' and junior tennis championships will be run off next week, starting Monday at the Sherwood Tennis club, Huron and St. Clair streets. The boys' event is open to players under 16 years old and the junior meet includes those under 19 years old. Singles and doubles will be decided in each. The Chicago champion players will represent this city in further eliminations against champions of other western cities to decide the western sectional titles, and those winners will then get a trip to the national meet. Entries close on Friday with Harry S. Walsh, 1510 First National Bank building. All receipts above expenses will go to the Red Cross.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Peterson [21] defeated Senf [28], 21 to 10, in the three cushion tournament at Sutton's.

Charley Morin and Otto Reisell of Philadelphia will meet John Moore and Augie Kieckhefer in a 150 point three cushion match starting at Mussey's Monroe street room tomorrow night.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS

by RING W. LARDNER

POEMS YOU NEEDN'T READ.

Go buy yourself some fireworks, Joe,
Spend all the coin you've got.
The fireworks dealers need your dough;
Your government does not.

Go fire your firecrackers, Bill,
For that is what they're for;
Shoot off an arm, which means you will
Not have to go to war.

Don't trifle with the popgun, Gus,
A real revolver's louder;
What difference does it make to us
That Pershing needs the powder.

Let's fire together next time, Dave,
It's great when they go double!
And if we lose a hand, 'twill save
The Kaiser that much trouble.

But, wait a minute, not so fast!
Let's wait till bye and bye,
Your powder and your guns will last.
We'll use them next July.

A bigger celebration;
P'haps the whole world will then be free;
One great contented nation.

Save them a year, and—who can say?—
We may be staging then
A world-wide Independence day.
We and our fellow men.

But it doesn't seem quite loyal, boys,
It doesn't seem quite fair,
To waste and spend and make a noise,
While THEY are over THERE.

IN THE SMOKING ROOM.

I'm writing these lines on the Pere Marquette,
In the smoking room, with a cigaret
And believe me, fellows, they've been around.
Well, it's hard to write on a topic which
Has nothing to do with a game of pitch,
Or the sales I put over in Manistee,
Or the Seattle girl who was stuck on me.

I 'spose I could write on the Pere Marquette
If I could dispense with a cigaret,
For then I could flee from your game of pitch
Has nothing to do with Manistee
Or the Seattle girl who was stuck on me,
Or the drinks that I had and the dames I saw
Last time that I visited Omaha.

But I cannot write on the Pere Marquette,
Or anywhere else with no cigaret,
And I will not write on a subject which
Has something to do with your game of pitch,

Or with Omaha or with Manistee,
Or the numerous girls who were stuck on me—

LINCOLN PARK CREWS ENGAGE IN REGATTA ON LAGOON TODAY

Oarsmen and paddlers of the Lincoln Park Boat club are ready for their big regatta celebration, to begin at 2:30 o'clock today. It is expected that fans will fill the banks of the lagoon from the high bridge to the concrete bridge, where the races will finish.

The big event is the eight in which there is much rivalry and this race should be decided by inches. The Juniors have the opportunity of receiving both gold medals and a banquet which will be given by President Green of the club if they are successful.

Joie Ray Is Going East for Mile Race July 22

NOTES FOR SOCCER PLAYERS.

After a decade of rivalry the Campbell Rovers and MacDuff soccer clubs have amalgamated and next season will compete in the first division of the Chicago District league as the Scottish-Americans. Officers of the new club will be elected at Van Buren hall, California avenue and Madison street on Monday night, and all Scottish societies are invited to send representatives.

Sixteen soccer teams will compete in the five-a-side contest at the Scotch picnic at Kolze's park, Sixty-fourth avenue and Irving Park boulevard, today. Play will start at 13 o'clock.

PENNY A STROKE

Women Golfers' Red Cross Event Will Provide Three Ambulances.

The Red Cross Events, conducted by the Women's Western Golf association last week, has passed all expectations, as $903.27 has been collected from twenty clubs. The idea of a penny a stroke, orginated by the W. W. G. A., will furnish three and possibly four ambulances for the American Red Cross. When all the clubs, which number 100, have been heard from it is expected the total will be between $2,500 and $3,000. Each ambulance will cost $750. The local list is headed by the Edgewater Golf club with a donation of $138. Idlewild Country club is second with $132.60, while Exmoor reported $107 and Cuwentsia $102.70.

Charley Cutler Throws Olin.

Houston, Tex., July 3.—Charles Cutler, Chicago heavyweight wrestler, won two straight falls over John Olin, Flint, last night, in 30:00 and 29:00, respectively.

MICHIGAN STARS ENTER TO PLAY FOR GOLF TITLE

BY JOE DAVIS.

Among the recent entries received for the western amateur championship at the Midlothian Country club next week are those of James D. Standish of Detroit, runner up to Charles Evans Jr. in 1914 and 1915, and Michigan champion in 1909 and 1915; Phil Stanton of Grand Rapids, champion of Michigan in 1913; Guy Miller of Detroit, and C. H. Van Vleck Jr. of Belturgel, N. J.

Another prominent eastern player expected is John G. Anderson of the Winnwanoy C. C. of New York, runner up in the national amateur championship in 1913 and 1915. Several other eastern players have yet to be heard from, and as their invitations were sent later than the original notices, the list will be kept open for their benefit.

Southern Stars Enter.

In addition to Bobby Jones and Perry Adair, the southern delegation will include Richard Hickey, Thomas Prescott, and George W. Adair.

Ned Sawyer of Wheaton, western amateur champion in 1906, and Donald Edwards and Kenneth P. Edwards of Midlothian are announced among the Chicago entries.

Nebraska has six players slated for the championships, and probably will enter for the Olympic cup. So far the Chicago District Golf association has not entered, but enough players are in to make up a strong quartet. If enough players come from the Metropolitan District association, it probably will be represented.

Bob O'Link Club Open Today.

The opening of the Bob O'Link Golf club at Highland Park, the latest of the north shore courses, will be one of the main features of many holiday events carded at the local clubs. President Walter W. Ross announced last night that the new clubhouse, which, with its furnishings, cost $100,000, is completed, while the new course, begun thirteen months ago and finished in record time, is in fine shape.

At 10:15 there will be a children's match and flag raising exercises at which the Declaration of Independence will be read and Col. Ryan of Fort Sheridan will make an address. A Red Cross event for certificates furnished by the United States Golf association will be played in the morning and a star event in the afternoon.

Every club in the city has events carded, a number of them being in connection with the U. S. G. A. Red Cross plan.

Improvement is the key to progress. No one would think of using Watt's first steam engine in 1917. Every day, some fryer is improving something and other fryers are using it. Just as soon as Mennen's improved shaving methods, men started to find out why it's so good. If you find that it makes your shaving easier, quicker, better than old fashioned shaving soaps—that will be compensation. Won't it? Then tomorrow morning try

FILM FIRE LEADS TO INJUNCTION AGAINST UNIONS

Steps Also Taken to Get Movie Exchanges Out of the Loop.

As a result of the recent fire in the Pathé offices in the Consumers building steps were taken yesterday which are likely to result in a housecleaning in both the supplying and labor ends of the moving picture business.

Louis F. Jacobson, attorney for the National Film Producers, Manufacturers, and Distributors of Chicago, was granted a temporary injunction by Judge Baldwin yesterday to restrain locals 110, 134, and 167 of the Moving Picture Machine Operators' union from interfering in any way with the employers.

The Petitioners.

The petitioners are the Famous Players Film service, Triangle Distributing corporation, World Film corporation, Metro Film corporation, Fox Film corporation, Mutual Film corporation, Can Film corporation, V. L. S. E., Vitagraph Film corporation, Metro Pictures service, Central Film company, Pathé Lasiledo Film corporation, General Film company, Lasmais Film service, Celebrated Players Film company, and Ralph O. Proctor.

The injunction was directed against the three locals and all their officers. Judge Baldwin's injunction restrains them from picketing, spying, assaulting or intimidating, congregating near, at, or near the places of business of the complainants; from attempting to deal with employés toward unionization, and from boycotting or otherwise coercing exhibitors using the films of the complainants.

Pathe Fire Chief Reason.

The petition cites numerous attempts of Anarchistic motion picture theaters, illegal attempts to coerce the film companies to employ union men and mentions the $50,000 fire in the Pathe exchange Monday as a direct reason for the necessity for an injunction.

The following theaters are mentioned as having been the objects of alleged unlawful attempts on the part of the union:

The Rose, Vitagraph, Argyle,
Kinodrome, Biograph, Palace,
Kenwood, Strand, Royal,
Colonial, Vision.

The Rose, Castmo, and Alcazar are named as theaters where stink bombs were thrown in an attempt to force the change to a closed shop policy.

The petition cites a letter written June 14 by J. P. Armstrong, president of the operators' union, asking that the film exchange girls be taken back to work. This letter threatens to "resort to methods best known to the operators" unless the demands were met.

Want Exchanges Out of Loop.

While the petition was being presented steps were being taken to force all moving picture film exchanges and film inspecting companies to move from the loop district. According to Assistant Corporation Counsel Kandlik, flagrant violations of city ordinances in regard to the handling of moving pictures had been discovered.

Third Assistant Fire Marshal McConnell, in charge of the fire prevention bureau, who was present at the inquiry, declared he would prepare an ordinance resulting from the loop district all concerns handling moving picture films because of the danger of explosions.

In testifying in that effect Armstrong, president of local 110, denied to the assistant corporation counsel that his union had any connection with the fire in the Pathe plant. He believed the fire was due to spontaneous combustion.

SINGER MAY HAVE TO CHANGE SONGS OR APARTMENT

"He stops, judge; all the time he does" said the short man with the long coat, nose, and whiskers before Judge La Buy in the Desplaines street court yesterday.

"And, judge, he always sings that song of the Green,' and 'The River Shannon,' and 'Tipperary,' and his name is John Stack," protested the short man with expressive gestures.

"They are all good old Irish songs, and Stack is a good old Irish name—I don't object to that," said the complainant.

"Humph, humph, judge"—he of the coat collar and nose drew himself up proudly—"mine name is Hirsch. The man across from me, his name is Levy; and Mr. Rosenthal live upstairs. We like them songs. And the neighbors like them. We live at 1204 Blue street."

"I'll have to hear Stack's voice, at once," said the judge as he issued a warrant. "Maybe it would be better for him to change his music, or move out back of the yards."

ALFRED BROWN TRACED TO HOTEL ON THE WEST SIDE

The first trace of Alfred R. Brown, 600 West Harrison street, Austin, missing since June 5, was obtained yesterday when a clerk in the Ironsides hotel, 61 West Madison street, identified a photograph of the missing man as that of a man who had stayed there Sunday night.

The clew was found by Dr. F. L. Prentice of the government immigration bureau, who is a friend of the family and when the disappearance of Brown had created much of his time to a search for the missing man.

Mr. Brown, who is believed to be temporarily deranged, was head instructor at a business college.

"Little American" in Other Cities Passed by Censors.

By Mae Tinée.

Because they have good reason to! In Evanston, Oak Park, New York, Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Worcester, Mass.; Newark, Pittsburgh and Scranton, Pa.; Washington, Rochester, Detroit, Bridgeport, Conn.; Paterson, N. J., and other small provincial places devotees of the screen are reveling, or are about to revel, in beholding the manifest excellencies of "The Little American."

The people in these small burgs have, presumably, grown up. For those who want the bottle there are plenty of sweet, mild films, but the strong meat is not denied them provided that meat is not tainted.

Gotham Taken by Storm.

"The Little American," playing at the Strand theater, New York, is reported to be doing a record breaking business. Here's what the New York Tribune says of it:

"One hundred miles of the ordinary war film never could give the intimate, personal view of the world's conflict that is found in Mary Pickford's new picture, 'The Little American,' which is playing at the Strand this week. It is the most wonderful five reel picture that ever has been shown, and it does not depend on the charms of our Mary for its success, either."

But Chicagoans may not see it. Maj. Funkhouser reiterated his decision yesterday.

Passed by Other Cities.

In response to "queries" sent out by THE TRIBUNE to various cities where "The Little American" is being shown or is booked, the following replies have been received:

WASHINGTON—Pickford film scheduled to be shown here in two weeks. No permit is required, unless objection is made to film. So far no objection has been made, and advertisements in film have already been sent out.

BOSTON—"The Little American" is being shown at a local theater. Having been passed by national board of censors, no permit is necessary here. Local board of censors pass upon it only in case of complaint. None made yet.

PITTSBURGH.—"The Little American" is showing at the theaters. The managements say they are running the picture without permits since the film passed the state board of censors, which is all that is necessary.

Approved in Ohio.

CLEVELAND, O.—Pickford film has permit here.

COLUMBUS, O.—"The Little American" being witnessed by large crowds. The film has been offered since Sunday, following its approval Friday by the Ohio state censor board. "I think it a very good film to show at this time," says Mrs. Maude Murray Miller of the state board, who censored it.

TOLEDO, O.—"The Little American" began week's engagement here last Sunday. No permit was asked and film is praised. Passed by state board of censors.

Billed in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich.—"The Little American" is billed to show here next week.

SCRANTON, Pa.—"The Little American" is showing here. No permission is necessary in this city if state board of censorship has passed on film. The picture bears the O. K. of the state board.

WORCESTER, Mass.—"The Little American" has license here for Aug. 16.

Showing in New York State.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"The Little American" to show here next week. No local censorship board. Exhibiters accept films passed by national board of review. Film is now showing elsewhere in state.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—"The Little American" to be shown here. Local censorship department notified and no objection has been made.

FEDERAL BOARD TO FIX ALL WAR PRICES PLANNED

Secretary Lane Admits Difficulties in System Now Used.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Creation by congress of a tribunal to fix prices both for the government and the public consumer for the period of the war is a proposal given serious consideration by the administration.

Another war development under deliberation is a centralization of government purchases in a board to be created for the purpose, thus to do away with the many sided purchasing agencies of the various departments and also to get one price for given commodities.

Secretary of the Interior Lane discussed these proposals today when asked regarding the issue which has arisen regarding the voluntary fixing of a maximum price for bituminous coal by operators of the country in collaboration with himself, the federal trade commission, and the committee on coal production of the council of national defense.

Lane Admits Prices High.

Secretary Lane deprecated reports of dissension in the cabinet over the action of the operators, although he stated that the prices agreed upon as maximums—$3.50 a ton for lump and $3 for other grades, at the mine—might be a trifle high. This is the contention of Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, who have stated that the government did not propose to be bound by these prices or anything like them.

"The voluntary agreement upon tentative maximum prices for coal made by the operators is going to work out all right, in my opinion," Secretary Lane said. "Of course, there has been no definite price fixed, and there is no government agency now that can fix prices. The trade commission is now investigating coal production costs and will make a report. Then, in all probability, the department of the government making coal purchases will determine the price to be paid. Meanwhile the operators have voluntarily agreed to a great reduction in bituminous coal prices."

No Reduction Here.

Secretary Lane, when shown today reports from Chicago that the Indiana and Illinois operators announced no reduction in the price of bituminous coal, yesterday, and that Pocahontas was being quoted at $3.75 per ton, said he could not understand the figures.

"The price for lump coal for Illinois and Indiana as agreed to by the operators was $3.50 'at the mines,' he said. "For other coal at the mine the Illinois and Indiana price was fixed at $2.75. The report from Chicago is that the operators maintained a price of $3.50 for run of mine and $3.75 for Pocahontas. I think that those must be the prices quoted for Chicago, which would include an addition of the freight charge to the maximum price."

MASTER BARBERS OF LOOP VOTE TO OPPOSE UNION

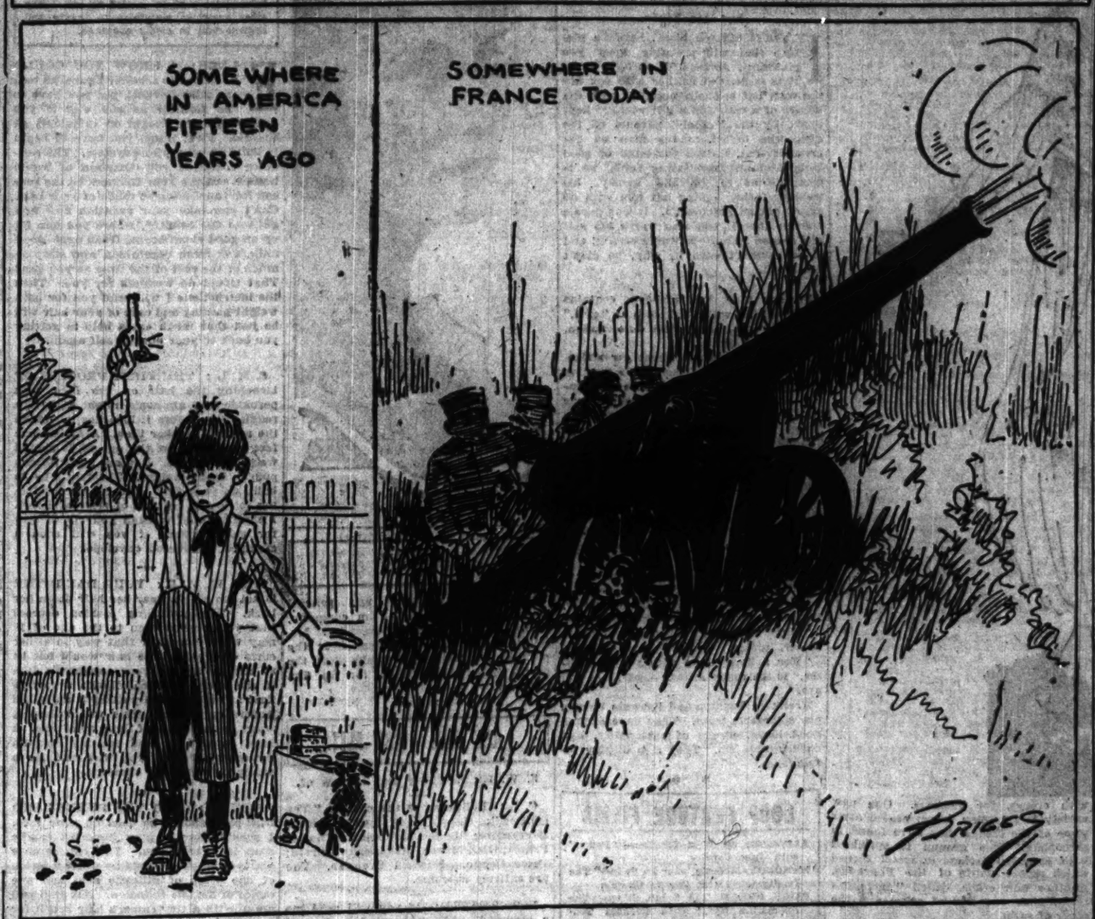
All the dynamite bombs in Chicago will not scare the loop barber shop proprietor into unionizing, it was announced last night after a meeting of the Loop Master Barbers' association.

The announcement followed a statement by Ray Williams, secretary of the barbers' union, that "95 per cent of the loop barbers had signed the union agreement."

"We've voted unanimously to make a fight of it," said a representative of the Master Barbers' association after the meeting. "Despite what Williams says, not 1 per cent of the loop proprietors belonging to the association—and that's a big majority of 'em—have signed the agreement. Furthermore, we won't, and if the police force isn't strong enough to put an end to dynamiting there'll be nothing left for us but to lock our doors and throw the keys away."

The association is not connected with organizations outside the loop, the officials of which are charged by Assistant State's Attorney Michaels with having formed a "closed corporation" with the union.

CELEBRATIONS HAVE CHANGED



SENATORS FROM SOUTH FIGHT U.S. COTTON CONTROL

Threaten Food Bill if Amendment Is Not Removed.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Strong opposition by southern senators to having cotton and cotton products put in the list of articles over which the measures give the government control, in accordance with an amendment adopted yesterday, threatened to delay the progress of the food control bill today.

A canvass of the situation by these senators, however, developed the fact that they and their friends would probably be strong enough to vote the amendment out of the bill in the senate, or, failing that, to strike the cotton feature from the bill in conference.

All Business Under Control.

So strongly did senators feel about this matter that even Senator Simmons, stanch administration supporter that he is, threatened to vote against the entire bill if the cotton feature is retained.

The argument was made by these senators that instead of being a food control bill the measure, as amended by the senate, now places almost the entire business of the country under government control. They said the bill had been loaded down with these amendments by its enemies, who hoped to make it unpopular, and by extremists, who really desired to see the government control prices of all products.

Must Fix Hour for Vote.

Believing some progress had been made by the food control bill and that a final vote could be had on the measure before the end of this week, Senator Chamberlain, in charge of the bill, abandoned tonight his plan to move for cloture at this time and on his initiative the senate adjourned over the Fourth of July.

Senator Chamberlain gave notice, however, that when the senate meets on Thursday he will first ask unanimous consent that a time be fixed for voting on the bill. If consent is not given, he said, he will then move the adoption of cloture.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Floyd Gibbons, in a cablegram printed in THE TRIBUNE of June 30, told of British tars' objecting when they heard the North Sea spoken of as the German Ocean, by which name, Mr. Gibbons added, it "is universally known within the city limits of Berlin." Numerous readers send protests that such is not the case—that it is called the North Sea generally in Germany, but is often called the German Ocean in Great Britain.

Geographers wellnigh unanimously call it the North Sea. The Century Atlas shows both names, but uses the German Ocean in minor lettering, and only to carry out the editors' plan of making identification complete for the reader.

La Marquise de Fontenoy, in Monday's issue, told of the appeal against the Bishop of Oxford of an English clergyman, rector of the parish of Sympson, which La Marquise said was in Oxfordshire. It is in Buckinghamshire, which belongs to the diocese of Oxford.

WAR OF LIBERTY JUST THAT FOR HORATIO ROGERS

Horatio Rogers, 16 year old son of the Rev. Arthur Rogers, pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston, will leave with a Red Cross ambulance for service in France this morning.

Yesterday he was arrested for speeding and arraigned before Justice Boyer under the Evanston ordinance prohibiting minors from driving motor cars.

"I guess if you're old enough to drive an ambulance for your country you are old enough to drive in Evanston," said the justice. "Discharged, and good luck."

Lieut. J. P. Allman Made Captain at Hyde Park

Lieut. James P. Allman of the detective bureau and No. 1 on the civil service lists for two years under former Chief Healey, was promoted to a captaincy and assigned to the Hyde Park station last night. He will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Capt. William P. O'Brien. Capt. Allman is a bachelor, one of a captains' quartet, composed of William Ryan, William Russell, Thomas Costello and himself.

MILK DEALERS OFFER SERVICES TO FOOD BUREAU

Appoint Board of Seven to Co-operate with Hoover.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—The International Milk Dealers' association today offered its services to the food administration and has appointed a committee of seven to act as an advisory board under Herbert C. Hoover.

Need of conservation of the dairy cow, the milk dealers declared in their conference with the food administration leaders, is emphasized by the terrific infant mortality in the European countries now at war. Reports from the Red Cross society show that the death rate of the children under 2 years of age in these countries ranges from 52 to 96 per cent.

Through an investigation conducted by the national dairy council the grave situation regarding the dairy cow has been confirmed. During the past twelve months the dairy cows have decreased through slaughter in Ohio 19 per cent; in Minnesota, 20 per cent, and a like survey in the state of New York for the area supplying milk to New York City and other large cities shows a decrease of 24 per cent. Surveys in other localities of the country give a similar falling off.

Boy Crushed Under Car, but Escapes Death

Solomon Cohen, 10 years old, 1089 West Thirteenth street, was crushed under a Blue Island avenue car last night. Realizing that if the car was moved it would cause the child's death, truck company No. 5 "jacked" up the car and extricated the unconscious boy. He was taken to the county hospital, where it was found his right arm had been broken and he was injured internally.

Dress Torn; Sues for $10,000.

For an assault in which her dress is said to have been torn and several other mishaps occurred, Mrs. Etta Rauchwerger of 1000 North Campbell avenue is asking $10,000 damages from Mrs. Gussie Maier of 3317 Haddon avenue.

TIRES OF BEING SECRETARY, SO MARRIES BOSS

Miss Susan Mary Sproul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sproul of 928 Crescent place, gave up the excitement of private secretary and married her boss. She changed her name to Mrs. Richard A. Cavenaugh yesterday at the Holy Name cathedral, with Fr. Dennis J. Dunne officiating, and is now on her honeymoon in the east. On their return they will live at 1020 Ardmore avenue.

Mr. Cavenaugh, as the chief "Knight of the Grip," is known from coast to coast, and has been reelected many successive terms as secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Commercial Men's association.

At the first of the year his wife, Mrs. Ida Kellogg Cavenaugh, who was active in the affairs of the South Shore Country club and who had been spending the winters in the south with her two sons for several years, was killed in an automobile accident at San Antonio while returning from a dance at Fort Sam Houston.

SOCIALIST POSES AS CAPITALIST AND GETS CAUGHT

The vibrant issue came up when Robert W. Howe, who was one of the speakers at the recent Auditorium peace meeting, appeared before Judge William N. Gemmill in behalf of George Boyer of 6018 Prairie avenue, charged with disrespect to the flag and its soldiers. Boyer was discharged for lack of evidence.

"What's your business?" Judge Gemmill asked Howe.

"I'm a capitalist," said Howe.

"You are a Socialist, are you not?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then why did you testify you were a capitalist?"

Howe finally admitted that his sole claim to being a capitalist was based on his being employed by one. He was scolded by the judge for attempting to pass as a capitalist when he was a Socialist.

Stray Dog Attacks Baby.

Mildred Horlock, 3 years old, 6735 St. Lawrence avenue, was bitten several times by a stray dog yesterday while playing in the rear of her home. Mounted Policeman T. G. Wood killed the dog.

WARM REMARKS BY ROSENWALD ANGER SENATORS

Some Denounce Chicagoan for Interview on Food Control.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Vigorous condemnation of Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, chairman of the committee on supplies of the council of national defense, was voiced in the senate today when a dispatch was read quoting him pronouncing "stupid" the proposed amendment to the food control bill prohibiting the members of the council and its advisory committees from making contracts for supplies with the government.

Mr. Rosenwald's comment was characterized by Senator Vardaman of Mississippi as "the impudence of wealth." Senator McKellar of Tennessee said that a "man with such views should not be intrusted with the position Mr. Rosenwald now holds."

"It is very humiliating," Senator Reed of Missouri said, "to get a business man's opinion of the senate committee on agriculture which drafted this amendment which Mr. Rosenwald says is "stupid, shortsighted, nonsensical, and foolish."

Many Boards Under Rosenwald.

Senator Reed insisted the bill would accomplish much if it did no more than provide that "no man can represent the United States who deals with himself." He read from a list of the advisory committees of the council of national defense showing that Mr. Rosenwald was not only at the head of the committee on supplies for the government but that he had under him many subcommittees.

"Who's Who for 1917," Senator Reed said, "shows that Mr. Rosenwald is a merchant and a member of a clothing concern, among other things. Of course the chairman of the committee on supplies will have much to do with contracts for the government for clothing."

"It is the impudence of wealth. It is the contemptuousness of a man of wealth for one who wants to do something in government affairs," Senator Vardaman said. "It is arrogance. I think that the senate should take notice of it and prevent such a man from holding office."

Upheld by Senator Lewis.

Senator Lewis, questioned about Mr. Rosenwald, explained that he was a Chicago business man. He added he did not believe Mr. Rosenwald would take advantage of his position to make profit for himself out of government contracts.

"Does Mr. Rosenwald's concern deal in clothing that could be sold to the government for the army?" Senator McKellar asked.

Senator Lewis replied that it probably did, but said: "It is my sincere conviction he would not attempt to benefit himself in any way."

It remained for Senator Brandegee of Connecticut to take up the cudgels for Mr. Rosenwald. He said that he was not sure but what Mr. Rosenwald was right when he urged Congress to go slowly in doing away with the organization which has been built up among the business men of the country by the council of national defense to aid the government.

SHOULD SUPPORT BOARDS.

Julius Rosenwald, when apprised of the debate in the United States senate over his interview, said:

"I do not care to make any further statements at this time, except to say that if the United States senate will make a thorough investigation it will find that these committees they now want to legislate out of existence have performed services that should merit the unanimous support of both houses of congress."

JUDGE GEMMILL FINES THIS MAN ON KNEE CHARGE

Maybe it was the manner in which Policewoman Alice Clement was recently rebuked by Judge William N. Gemmill, who declared that Copeaus Clement frequently encouraged attentions along knee-fatigue lines.

At any rate, William Forbes, manager of the Hippodrome, had received several complaints from women of late concerning an individual who listed not to the performers, but was Johnknee on the spot. Mr. Forbes called in Policewomen Van Amber and Hughes of the First precinct.

Policewoman Hughes took an isolated seat near the aisle; her partner sat near by. Sure enough, Ellis Davis, 2733 North Halsted street, a barber, breezed in, gazed around, spied the demure policewoman, and sat him down beside her.

Yesterday he appeared before Judge Gemmill and was comforted by the recollection of what the judge said to Mrs. Clement until the judge fined him $100 and costs.

LANDIS MUST ACT AS MUSIC CRITIC

Federal Judge Landis will be called upon to act as a musical critic and harmony observer extraordinary in the near future when the question of who wrote the music for "Your Flag and My Flag" will be put up to him for decision. Mrs. Georgia De Pue Bryson started injunction proceedings in the Superior court recently, claiming that she composed the song despite the fact that the name of Frederick L. Ryder appears as its composer on published copies of it. It was announced by Attorney Leo R. La Beaty yesterday that the case had been transferred to the federal District court because of a claim put in by the defendants that the copyright is involved.

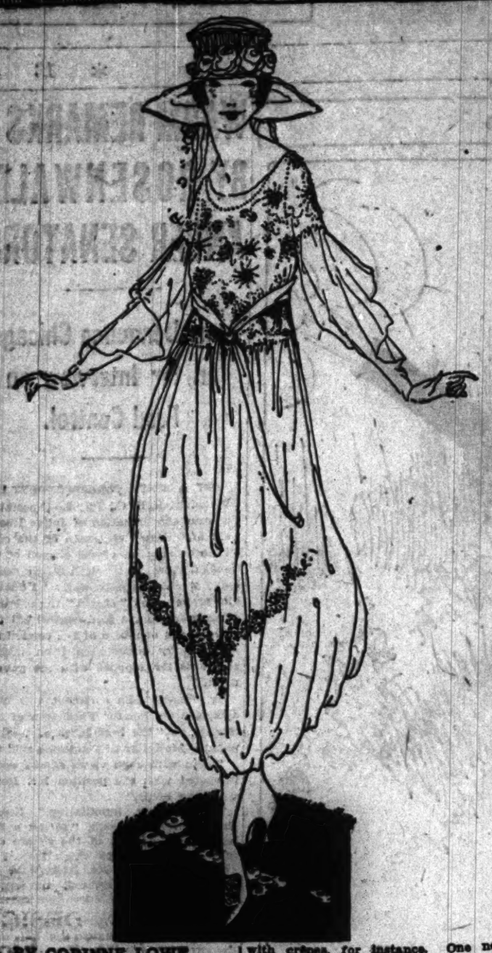
FASHION'S BLUE BOOK



BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—If it can't be of crêpe de chine, let it be of Georgette—that is one of the favorite wail mottoes of the fashionable. Both of these materials are seen every place this summer, and the general rule in making is not to be fussy in line.

The model shown today is white Georgette, made simply with the assistance of white china beads and a sleeve which tells you at once it is something new and original. The skirt is just slightly puffed. Altogether, a charming little gown for the afternoon bride.

Meanwhile, over in Paris the fabric poets are at work on our winter things. They are doing some spectacular work with crêpes, for instance. One new variety is Egyptian crêpe, copied after some of the things they have found in sarcophagi. The ground is sprinkled with brocaded designs in metal thread which repeat motifs of the Pharaohs. Another new crêpe, called "enchantement," has one side of crêpe and the other of satin.

As for metal cloth, it is the old story of gilding refined gold. Both gold and silver cloth are given wonderful new refinements. For example, one such cloth has a high finish in color and is brocaded with velvet bouquets repeating the same color. Other silver cloths have flowers embroidered in metal or else printed in translucent shades. Velvets, too, are subject to checks, stripes, and printed designs.

By Mae Tinée.

IF you're not too blasé, here's a picture that will probably keep you pleasantly amused for an hour or so. It is concerned neither with sex nor the war, but is busily occupied with the affairs of a man and a girl who are kept apart by the "crool" parents of the girl, who object to the man on the grounds that, though possessed of good looks and an ingratiating smile, he is destitute as to job and money, his wealthy father having left him with no assets but an automobile. It was papa's opinion that if son was worth his salt and needed money—he would earn it, and if he wouldn't earn it, why, he didn't deserve it.

Proving that his makeup contains plenty of that which is known as "grit," son puts the automobile into action, using it as a jitney.

Then along comes a street car strike. Cruel father is president of the traction company and it looks like the corporation would win out until somebody—one Mr. Baird, foiled lover—organizes a jitney line which he calls the Social Transit company. He and his friends put their machines into action and carry the former patrons of street cars from home to work and back again in "ease and luxury" for the price of a dime. Money pours in, the population, reveling in the "ease and luxury" worry not at all whether cars run again ever.

Franklyn Farnum and Brownie Vernon are a likeable team. They have enough good looks, plenty of personality, and considerable sip. They also display intelligence.

ASK ME! ASK ME!

S. W. R.: Nothing that I know of.

INTERESTED: If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall take great pleasure in mailing you the printed material I have on scenario writing and a list of firms that accept scenarios. I certainly would, if I were you.

Sleep Aplenty, Eggs, and Ozone Are Needed Here

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Eva Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks, or how she added twenty pounds to Eva Wade, or Miss Violet Ramsey's weight, or how she overcame a bad case of dry, thin, falling hair and an oily scalp with dandruff, or the article on treating Miss Hill's complexion for pimples and blackheads, send a stamped, addressed envelope and the information will be mailed to you. Any other questions pertaining to beauty and hygiene will be gladly answered.

ELLEN: I KNOW YOU COULD be helped to a better figure, as well as Miss Barnett, but you have to be faithful as she was if you want to get the weight on as quickly as she did. First thing, you have to begin to build up your whole system. The run-down condition you complain of would besides causing your thinness be the reason for your losing so much of your hair. Can't you take your vacation now and get into the country, where you can fill up on good clean ozone, fresh eggs, good milk, and fresh vegetables, and sleep as much of the rest of the time as you can? That would do wonders for you. Then the instructions I will send you for both weight gaining and care of your hair will be just that much extra help in getting you back to your normal self again.

S. M. L.: THE FIRST PROCESS OF bleaching the hair on the face with peroxide and ammonia might give it a reddish tint before it bleaches it. Make the solution weaker then. A person five feet two inches at the age of 20 should weigh 116 pounds. You are about fifteen pounds under weight. The best way to build up your flesh is to eat fat producing foods and get lots of sleep and rest. I shall be glad to send you my dietary for gaining flesh if you will send a stamped, addressed envelope.

MRS. W. M. S.: YOUR DAUGHTER is not too old to wear her hair down her back. The prevailing fashion decrees that young girls even to the age of 17 may wear their hair that way in either curls or braids. The hair would not be so stringy around your daughter's face if she would moisten it with a curling fluid at night before putting it up in kid curlers or papers. This would keep it wavy for a couple of days at a time. I shall be glad to send you my formula for curling fluid if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

STELLA: ONLY THE PUREST AND best soap should be used on your face. I should use the pure imported castile soap if I were you. You can remove warts from your hands by using a lotion of one dram of salicylic acid and one ounce of flexible collodion. Mix well and apply with a tiny enamel's hair brush for four nights. Then soak in hot water. This will take away part of the horn covering. Continue the treatment until the warts have disappeared. No, you have not bothered me at all. Write me every time you have "beauty" troubles.

Bright Sayings of the Children

I was lifting my little cousin to the handle bars of my bicycle when, finding her weight more than I expected, I let her fall a short distance to the ground, whereupon she exclaimed: "O, please don't be so careless with me."
M. G.

Junior and his mamma had been invited to a 1 o'clock luncheon. Junior did not want to stop playing to be dressed, and consequently the 1 o'clock whistle blew before he was ready.

His mother impatiently said, "There is the whistle. We should have been at the house by this time."

Somewhat subdued, the little fellow said, "O, God, please make it the fire whistle."
E. G. D.

Nathalie was visiting her uncle in the city and the family party were taking dinner at a café. After a hearty dinner there was both ice cream and strawberries on the bill of fare for dessert, but Nathalie's mother, fearing she was eating too much and wishing to limit her choice, asked: "Nathalie, which would you rather have, ice cream or strawberries?"

"I'll take ice keem on my tawberries," she replied.
O. H. S.

Louise is proud of a recently acquired accomplishment of earning to turn somersauts. One day an unmarried school teacher passed the yard where Louise was playing.

"Have you a little girl?" inquired Louise.

"Yes," replied the teacher in fast.

"Well, then," said Louise, "some day I am coming out and show her how to turn somersaults."
G. K. H.

While conversing with our new neighbor her daughter came running up to her with her big eyes full of tears and said through her sobs, "Brudder swapt my face." Her mother soothed her and then continued her conversation with me by saying, "And she was such a good girl, too." The next day as I was going out I found the little girl sitting on the front steps crying, and I asked at once what was the matter. She answered me, saying, "Brudder swapt me again," and after a little pause she added indignantly, "and I's such a good girl, too."

NOTES OF THE CLUBS

The latest bulletin of the American Red Cross is called a hospital supplies number, and it is filled with the need for the forwarding of more and more of these consumable supplies without which no hospital can operate. They include bedding, bandages, splints, surgical dressings of all kinds, and garments worn by the wounded and by the surgeons on duty. All of the surgical dressings must measure up to the United States army standard. Sample boxes, containing one article of the regular list, are put up and shipped to out of town points so that those in the small towns may know just how to go about the work.

"Meeting a present need at our doors," says the bulletin, "the following supplies were sent this week to the Great Lakeside hospital. One thousand pairs of pajamas, 48 operating gowns, 200 bed shirts, 250 bath robes, 120 pairs of slippers, 48 operating caps, 48 pairs of operating leggings, 300 pairs of socks, and 300 washcloths."

"Young men who have responded to their country's call and are in training for the 'Forward, march' order, are to be the beneficiaries of a card party at the home of Mme. De Smet, 5048 Winthrop avenue, next Wednesday afternoon," according to an announcement of the Catholic Woman's club of Rogers Park. The proceeds of the card party will go to provide religious articles for the Catholic soldiers of Illinois. Mrs. George H. Brennan is chairman of arrangements.

A social reception and dance will be given for the Red Cross by the women of the Holy Cross church, Deerfield, on Saturday in the school assembly hall.

The year's subject of the Ridge Woman's club's education department has been "Our City and Her Children." As a result of investigation of juvenile delinquency a "big sister" circle has been organized in the club with the idea of stimulating interest in children with no friend and "no chance."

How the Jitney Bus Helped.

THE day the jitney bus started in San Diego I began to use it instead of the street car, going to and from work. I got on at the corner of Fifth and G streets. A few days later I noticed a trim, blue-eyed lady board the bus at the same place, and always after that she was on the jitney both morning and night. I had lost out with the girl I had been engaged to and thought I was soured on all girls.

Riding on that jitney both morning and evening for two months, I never even spoke a pleasant word or smiled at her—just looked the other way. After the first week she always smiled when I appeared and nodded to me, but I was boorish enough to refuse to be friendly.

One morning she wasn't there, and, would you believe it, I missed her dreadfully! I thought of her all day. Next morning she was there as usual. This time I nodded and smiled. It ran on that way for four weeks and I never said a word to her. Then, going back from work one evening, we got in a smashup. The little lady lay senseless on the pavement. They say I acted like a fool, kissing her hands and calling for aid. We got her home some way and she was laid up for six weeks.

I was there every day to inquire about her, till she was able to sit up. Then I was there every evening, almost, till she got well. Loved her? Well, I guess yes! I was awfully worried for fear she would reject me, but, plucking up courage, I proposed, and to my surprise was accepted. Yes, sir, she really did, such a bear as I was. Say, but she is the dearest wife in the world—not another like her. I can't bear to be away from her a minute. Four years have gone by and I'm just as—O, daffy, I guess, you'd call it, over her. God bless that jitney bus, though the street cars did run it out of business.

The Quill Will Do.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have a very good love story in mind from my own experience, but would like to know if I could write it with pen and ink, for I have no typewriter.

Certainly, send it in. It does not have to be typewritten. Your writing is most legible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.—Our beans are withering and have white globules all over the roots. Is there any way to save them? Will they spoil the row of good beans?—H. J. D.

Ans.—Your description is not sufficient to base an opinion on it. The small tubercles or globules on the roots have nothing to do with the trouble. They are a sign of thrift, the work of nitrogen fixing bacteria, found on all legumes: beans, peas, clovers, peanuts, etc.

If your beans have reddish brown scablike spots on the stems and on the veins of the leaves, it is bean anthracnose; if there are large papery spots on the leaves, it is bean blight; the treatment for both is the same. (See answer to M. A., June 1, No. 87.) In case of cutworms, if the stems are encircled and cut off just below the surface, use slaked lime or wood ashes, hoeing it in around the plants.

In case of further trouble, please examine the plants carefully and describe any unusual appearance of every part of the plant, that an intelligent diagnosis may be made.

Q.—1. Is it too late to plant more navy beans? 2. Is it absolutely too late to plant potatoes?—B. L. B.

Ans.—1. There is still a possibility for navy beans planted this week. Whether or not they would mature for drying depends on the first frost. The chance is worth taking, but Longfellow variety has the better prospect. Soak the seeds in lukewarm water over night for quicker germination. 2. Early Ohio may still be planted this week and grow to maturity.

Sugar Orders and Peanuts.

OFFERS of sugar in quantity with $1, $2, etc., orders at a price per pound which is 2 or 3 cents under that paid when only a small quantity is purchased are always tempting, but not always worth while unless we have prepared for such buying. Preparation consists in having ready a list of staples which we can get along without or utilize successfully if we have them.

Fifty cents looks worth saving, especially if we really need the sugar for the canning sirups. Suppose we keep on hand constantly a list of things that we can at any date profitably add to our supplies. Here is perhaps a suggestive list: Peanuts, raisins, dates, crackers, macaroni, and spaghetti, dried beans, flavoring extracts, rice, hominy, corn meal, and other cereals that we have learned to use to good advantage.

Of course we must know how to take care of every one of these things, or even small quantities may not be utilized economically. Weevils will attack any of these things in hot weather except the extracts and the peanuts, and roasted peanuts are better kept rather cool.

It is perhaps more worth while to have peanuts on hand as a staple than most people realize. A pound of peanuts in the shell contains 1,885 food units, or almost as much as a pound of cheese, and costs half as much, or less than half as much. A pound of shelled peanuts averages 2,580 food units.

Picnic luncheons are often made much more substantial than they need to be because peanuts are added to other heavy foods. With peanuts we can spare cheese and butter. With peanuts we can make an acceptable candy by simply melting some sugar to the caramel stage and pouring it over them, preferably chopped first. This candy has a great number of food units. Long crackers spread with whipped and sweetened egg white, well thickened with chopped peanuts and browned lightly in the oven, make a good substitute for cake. We may use the same for icing cake and puddings.

SOCIETY and Entertainments

Country Clubs' Fourth Fetes to Aid Red Cross

EVERYTHING about the Fourth of July—which used to take expression in noise and display is being turned into Red Cross benefit channels this year at most of the leading country clubs about the city, where there will be golf matches all day long and, with the prizes, fines, strokes, and everything else to be turned into funds for the cause of war relief.

At Onwentsia club all members are to be asked to contribute $5 apiece to the Red Cross fund, whether or not they take part in the games. The matches will continue all day, with several of the special events to be played for the regular cups. There will be dancing in the afternoon and evening, and the usual number of young officers from Fort Sheridan, it is expected, will attend and give a peculiar significance to the patriotic atmosphere of things.

Among those giving dinner parties in connection with the club will be Mr. and Mrs. William P. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Clow jr., Mr. and Mrs. John [illegible], and Mr. and Mrs. George [illegible].

At the Indian Hill Country club there will be a Liberty tournament, the proceeds to go to the Red Cross. No definite reservations have been made for the informal luncheon to be served at the club, but a large attendance is expected.

The flag and liberty tournaments to be played all day at the Exmoor club will be followed by a dinner dance in the evening, with a large number giving parties.

Children will be especially provided for at Glen View club, with a luncheon at noon at 12:30 o'clock, and the annual club parade, flag raising, and salute to the colors, merry-go-rounds, and games. Following the dinner dance in the evening there will be pavilion dancing by moonlight, if the weather permits.

The Ridge Country club will have an all day program of golf events. At the South Shore Country club the formal opening of the bathing beach will be a feature of the sports program, with trap shooting, tennis, horseback riding, and golf. Charles J. Vopicka, United States minister to the Balkan states, will deliver a patriotic address and there will be a tea dance in the afternoon, as well as the regular weekly dinner dance brought a day forward for the occasion.

The Chicago Yacht club members intend to have a quiet time of it today in their little clubhouse removed far from the center of the city by the parks of Grand park. No unseemly noise or unbecoming amusements are to disturb them, they are assured in their club announcement, and there will be dancing from 2 o'clock until midnight. A menu which includes "filet dreadnaught," "grilled grenades," "sliced torpedoes," and "mizzentop salad" is enticing many of the yachtsmen to dine at the club in the evening.

Family parties will be found supping at the Brynwood Country club, where there will be a basket picnic on the grounds, with open house all day and dancing in the afternoon and evening. A liberty tournament, a flag tournament, and other golf events will fill the program at the Edgewood Golf club. Other clubs which have made special arrangements for Independence day are the Evanston Golf club, the Saddle and Cycle club, the Chicago Golf club, Midlothian club, Homewood Country club, Westmoreland club, and Wheaton Golf club.

At the Lake Geneva Country club, which is having its formal opening this week, many of the members to be found there today will be those who are Chicago society people with their summer homes at the Wisconsin lake. Mr. and Mrs. Tracy C. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Countiss, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, and many others are usually seen at the gala events of this club. There will be a Red Cross benefit golf match there today.

To assist the Red Cross Mrs. J. F. O'Connor of 4045 Ellis avenue will give a card party and garden fête on Friday afternoon and evening at her home. Miss Ruth Oppenheimer and Earl Lewy, children dancers, will give several numbers on the entertainment program.

Mrs. Edwin Rosenberg, who is about to leave with her family to spend the summer in California, was the guest of honor on Monday at a luncheon given at the Chicago Beach hotel by the directorate of Maimonides hospital, for which she has been an active worker.

Announcement is made that the amount made by the benefit card party given by the Henry Dearborn chapter of the D. A. R. last week was $1,300. The money is to be used to purchase supplies for hospitals in France. The supplies are made up by the chapter here and shipped to Paris. Mrs. A. D. Curtis was in charge of the party.

At another recent benefit the lecture given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor in Lake Forest when Miss Herts spoke for the Belgians, the proceeds amounted to $1,000. Announcement has just come from Los Angeles, where Miss Jeannette Jenkins, the fiancée of Adolph Frederick Garts, is spending some time, that her marriage to Mr. Garts will not take place until November on account of the war. Miss Jennings is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Jennings of 4th Drexel boulevard, and Mr. Garts is the grandson of the late Richard T. Crane.

Mrs. C. A. White is an officer of the Women's Kennel Club of Illinois, which will hold its first dog show at the Edgewater Beach hotel on July 13 and 14. The proceeds are to go to the Navy league.

Onwentsia Women Beat Indian Hill

To earn the privilege of a day's sport, Lake Forest's conscientious golfers rise an hour earlier and put in a couple of hours' work at the Red Cross shop before starting for the Onwentsia links. The day was fine yesterday, and a match with the team from Indian Hill, Winnetka, was on the day's card. There was a big bunch of players besides those of the competing teams. The Indian Hill club was represented by Mrs. Hathaway Watson, captain; Mrs. Frederick Letts, Miss Elizabeth Klots, Miss Dorothy Klots, Miss Katharine Blossom, Miss Jean Hopkins, Mrs. L. Spalding, and Mrs. Klots. The Onwentsia players were Mrs. George A. McKinlock, captain; Mrs. Bruce Smith, Mrs. E. Cudahy, Mrs. Frank Letts, Mrs. George McLaughlin, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Miss Edith Cummings, and Miss E. Hoyt.

The Onwentsia team won by 4 points. There were over fifty women at the golfers' table for luncheon. Among them, besides the two teams, who were seated at the head of the table, near the president, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, were Mrs. John Chapman, Mrs. William P. Martin, Miss Helene Martin, Mrs. Lawrence Viles, Mrs. Paul Gardner, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. John Stevenson, Mrs. John Pitcher, Mrs. Stanley Keith, Mrs. Walter Kirk, Miss Genevra King, Miss Sarah Farwell, Mrs. Reuben Donnelley, Mrs. J. Selden, Mrs. Lawrence Armour, Mrs. Donald McLennon, Mrs. Ezra Warner, and Miss Elisabeth Adsit.

MARRIAGES

The marriage of Miss Jane Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Harris of 5469 Blackstone avenue, to Dr. Davies Lasear took place last week Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents and was followed by a reception at the South Shore Country club. The attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Elisabeth Harris, who was maid of honor; Miss Rena Mallory of Indianapolis, Ind.; Weston Lasear of New York, who was best man, and David T. Harris jr. Lester Cook was master of ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hoof of La Grange announce the marriage of their daughter, Frances, to Capt. Leslie N. Conger, U. S. A., who is now stationed at Fort Sheridan.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Emilia O. Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Jordan of 1438 Warner avenue, to Mark Wilson Bradway of Los Angeles, Cal.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Florence Ella Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dixon of 5819 West Ohio street, to Allen B. Henrikson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Henrikson of 729 North Pine avenue. The couple are spending their honeymoon in Wisconsin.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Zuvart M. Gaulian to Lazarus K. Condrajian. The couple will be at home after Aug. 7 at 5803 Winthrop avenue.

Mrs. J. T. Bowen Gives $1,000 to Defense Workers

A BUSY meeting indeed was that of the executive department of the women's committee of the council of national defense yesterday at headquarters, 120 West Adams street.

The finance committee announced a gift of $1,000 from Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen to be divided among various departments. Then, since generosity is contagious, it was announced that in response to numerous pleading letters from heads of departments downstate, the 10 cent registration fee should be split, half of it being turned over to the various organizations registering women with the committee for service throughout the state and half of it to be turned over to the Chicago headquarters.

An executive department has been formed in the finance committee. The members are Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Logan Hay, Mrs. W. G. Hibbard, Mrs. Frank Funk, Mrs. Antoinette Funk, and Mrs. Frank G. Allen. It was further decided there should never be a collection taken at any meeting of the woman's committee, which, however, doesn't mean that the committee is too proud to accept any donations people may be moved to give.

The question of industrial standards for working women on government contracts was then taken up. The following were indorsed: Adult labor only, equal pay for equal work, eight hour day, one day rest in seven, prohibition of night work, standards of sanitation and fire prevention, protection against overfatigue and industrial diseases, prohibition of tenement house labor, exemption of women with small children, and exemption of women for two months before and after childbirth.

Then the home charities department made its report and sent out a plea for automobiles and chauffeurs to aid in the volunteer work of the various charities. It seems it's rather hard sometimes to carry the old ladies and gentlemen around on street cars, and moreover social workers in a hurry could make excellent use of the cars that are not being used by the government. More volunteers are wanted for all the charity offices, too, and the better trained they are the more valuable, of course.

The Chicago chapter of the Red Cross announces that it will have forty slides ready for lecture work in a few days. The work is being done by the Art institute. Application for the loan of these slides may be made to the executive office of the Chicago chapter.

WEATHER FACTOR IN CORN TRADE; CASH OATS FIRM

Weather conditions over the southwest are expected to influence prices in the corn market to a large extent. Drought conditions have already hurt the crop badly in Texas, and the crop is beginning to suffer in Kansas and Oklahoma. The last day or so temperatures were not so high in southern Kansas, but there has not been much rainfall, and the crop is badly in need of moisture.

While rain is needed in the southwest to save the crop in the big surplus states, there has been plenty of moisture and the crop is generally regarded as about two weeks late. Consequently warm growing weather is a necessity.

Cash Demand Big Factor.

At the present time the cash market is exerting more influence over the market than the weather conditions, but any unfavorable crop developments are expected to be reflected in the December. On Monday the September was relatively stronger than the December, with No. 2 grades of cash corn selling at $1.78¼, or about 28c premium over the September, and 13¼c over the maximum set for trade in futures. At the same time the December was about 40 cents discount under the September at $1.30. Bulls are of the opinion this discount is too great if the old corp is scarce enough to compel the payment of current premiums.

The cash situation continues strong in corn, with offerings light, while there appears to be no abatement in the demand from exporters, who are bidding the highest prices on the crop.

Stocks Small Despite Receipts.

Receipts of corn at western points for the last month or six weeks have been extremely heavy, much larger than a year ago, but there has been no accumulation of stocks, and total visible supply is now only about half as large as a year ago. Judging from the foreign demand there will be no letup in shipments to the other side, unless perhaps exports to neutral countries are held up. Argentine reports are not encouraging to the bears, as the arrivals at ports are said to be of inferior quality, with much unfit for shipment. With the Argentine shipments small the United States will be the main source of supply for Europe for a long time to come.

Oats Supplies Dwindle.

In oats buying has been induced to a large extent by the strength in corn, but the rapid disposal of stocks has been a disquisting feature for the bulls. Standards in store are 4c over the July, and no deliveries are likely of old oats, while it is questioned if there are any new oats received in time for delivery in any quantity. Crop news is favorable except in the southwest, where there have been losses due to the extremely dry and hot weather. Elsewhere the outlook is for a big crop, barring bad weather during harvest.

Exporters have been in the market for oats and there has been business transacted nearly every day. Canadian reports on the oats outlook are mixed, some complaints being received.

Sees Record Corn Crop if Weather Plays Fair

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway crop report says:

"Weather has been favorable and all crops have made rapid progress. Early oats, wheat, and barley heading out as far north as the Iowa-Minnesota line and farmers are well satisfied with prospects. In some sections the hay crop will be short because of winter killing, but on the whole the yield will be fully up to the average.

"Corn has made wonderful progress and with favorable weather the next week or two will recover all time previously lost. July 6 will see about one-third of the crop laid by and all of it not later than July 10. With just average conditions after that the crop will easily be the largest in the country's history.

"Throughout the country there is a heavy increase in the acreage planted to potatoes and other garden truck, considerable of the railway company's right of way being used. These crops are in excellent condition."

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, July 3.—SUGAR—Prices were quoted by the wholesale dealers per 100 lbs: Powdered, standard, $8.50; standard cane, granulated, $8.10; beet granulated, $8.00; extra C, $7.85; canary, $7.35.

NEW YORK, July 3.—SUGAR—With the exception of refined, the sugar market was easier today in all departments. Raws declined 1-16c on sales of 20,000 to 30,000 bags of Cubans for last half July shipment at 5 7-16c cost and freight, equal to 6.46c for centrifugal. There were other sales, including 37,000 bags of Porto Ricos at 6.57c for centrifugal, 1,000 tons St. Croix at the same price, 500 tons Peru at 5¼c c. i. f., and 2,000 bags of Venezuela at 5¼c, c. i. f., all for July shipment. The market closed easy at 5 7-16c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 6.46c for centrifugal and 5.54c for molasses, which prices represent the last sale of Cubas, although it was possible to secure sugar at 1-16c under this level, but there were no buyers. The market for refined sugar was steady and unchanged at 7¼@8c for fine granulated, with only a moderate business reported. The easier feeling in the spot market was responsible for quite a severe break in futures. Stop orders were uncovered on the break, which carried prices ten to fifteen points below their finals of last night, and there was also scattered liquidation for over the holders and considerable selling by Cuban interests. Toward the close there was a partial rally on covering, but final prices were still 8 to 10 points net lower. Sales, 82,100 tons: July sold from 5.31@5.50c, closing 5.33c; September, 5.40@5.52c, closing 5.42c; December, 5.37@5.46c, closing 5.37c; March, 4.90c, closing 4.82c.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, July 3.—COTTON—There was another and very severe break in the cotton market, with nervousness over legislative uncertainties reflected in heavy general liquidation. October contracts sold off, making a decline of 105 points from last night's closing figure and of 265 points from the high record of last week. Offerings then became less urgent and reports that the inclusion of cotton in the food control bill was meeting substantial opposition in Washington were followed by sharp rallies. Talk of improved crop conditions in the southwest were contributory factor on the break, but local brokers said the decline was chiefly due to the unsettling effect of the Washington news on general sentiment. No exports were reported today. Exports so far this season, 5,183,048. Port receipts, 12,967. United States port stocks, 782,125. Futures:

Sustained strength was shown in the market for hogs at Chicago yesterday and fresh receipts of 12,000 head found a prompt outlet at an advance of 15@20c from Monday's figures. Sales were made at a gain of 30@50c from last week's closing level. Top hogs made $15.95 and the bulk sold at $14.75@15.75. Shippers took about 1,500 of the fresh receipts, while packers bought 9,900, of which 400 were direct from an outside point.

Beef steers met with a limited demand, but the supply was not large and prices held about unchanged. There were no prime beeves offered and the best sale made was at $13.25. Cows and heifers sold slowly and closed on a weak basis, with prices showing further losses of 10@20c from recent high point. Calves sold on a steady basis, with prime, assorted vealers at $15.00@15.25, while the bulk of the good to choice killers made $14.50@14.75.

Sheep and lamb market had a firmer undertone, and sales were mostly 25c higher than on Monday. Receipts were estimated late at only 2,000 head. This was far short of expectations and was the principal reason for the rally in prices. Native lambs topped at $16.50.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, July 3.—COFFEE—The market for coffee futures was very quiet today, sales being reported of only 18,250 bags. The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 2 points, and there was a little covering in near months, which sent July up to 7.64c early, or about 4 points net higher. This demand was soon supplied, however, and the market later broke under selling of later deliveries, which may have come partly from Wall street sources. December eased off from 7.93c to 7.80c, and the market closed at a net decline of 8@14 points. Closing bids: July, 7.42c; August, 7.57c; September, 7.66c; October, 7.70c; November, 7.74c; December, 7.79c; January, 7.84c; February, 7.89c; March, 7.94c; April, 7.99c; May, 8.04c. Spot dull. Independent Oils

¶ Prices for petroleum and its products are now at record levels, but are working even higher and will undoubtedly continue high for years to come.

¶ The present unbounded prosperity of the oil industry is being reflected in the tremendous earnings for the well seasoned producing and refining companies. Many of these companies are now enjoying the strongest position in their history and stockholders are being rewarded with regular and substantial dividends.

¶ In our opinion the dividend paying Independent Oils represent the premier security in the present investment field. They offer an investment for "war times" that should prove even more satisfactory under peace conditions.

¶ We advocate immediate purchases in the Independent Oil group both for investment as well as speculative profits.

¶ As specialists in Dividend Paying Independent Oil Securities we will accept orders under the easy terms of our

DAVIS FAILS TO GET INSURANCE BIDS ON SCHOOL

New Board President Is Contradicted by Assistant Manager.

Three things stood out preeminently yesterday in the meeting of the Thompson board of education. The first was the refusal of the board to go on record as in favor of opening its books to the public for an investigation. The second was the first rupture between Supt. Shoop and the new board, in which Margaret Haley of the Chicago Teachers' federation triumphed over the superintendent. Lastly there was a verbal controversy between the old and the new presidents over the renewal of fire insurance on property valued at $244,775.

The insurance matter was brought up by Jacob M. Loeb, president of the old board.

"What did you do," he asked President Edwin S. Davis, "about the insurance on the Parental school which expired June 29?"

Says He Got Bids.

"It was given to W. L. Bennett of the Hartford Insurance company," replied Mr. Davis.

"Why didn't you get bids on it," asked Mr. Loeb, "in accordance with the custom established some time ago?"

"We did get bids on it," replied Mr. Davis.

"I have several friends in the fire insurance business," said Mr. Loeb, "and they were not asked to bid. I could have saved the board $1,000 on the premiums."

"Maybe you will have a chance to bid on the insurance," said Mr. Davis.

"My firm will not accept any school board insurance while I am on the board," said Mr. Loeb. "You have no right to place insurance with any company without taking the matter up with the board. The law doesn't permit you to award contracts. That's a matter for the board. I would like to see the bids."

"I move that the matter of fire insurance be referred to the committee on finance," said Percy B. Coffin, business manager for the new board."

"Even if you were the legal business manager," said Mr. Loeb, "you haven't a right to make motions on this board. I should like to see the bids."

Guilford Contradicts Davis.

"Did you get verbal or written bids?" Mr. Davis asked John Guilford, new assistant business manager.

"I received no bids on that insurance," said Mr. Guilford.

"Now we've got it," said Mr. Loeb. Later Mr. Bennett said it was a renewal of the old insurance given to Mr. Bennett's firm five years ago. The premium then was $3,182. At that time the insurance was awarded to Robert M. Cunningham, an insurance broker in the same office. Mr. Bennett is said to be a brother of Frank I. Bennett, commissioner of public works under Mayor Thompson. When the award was made five years ago Frank I. Bennett was chairman of the finance committee of the school board which, on July 10, 1912, recommended that the insurance be given to Mr. Cunningham.

Miss Haley Wins Out.

Miss Haley, who has held a number of conferences with the officers of the new board, succeeded in getting a recommendation by the committee of the new board investigating the cases of the sixty-eight discharged teachers, overturning a previous recommendation made by Mr. Shoop. The new recommendation provided that all of the members of the federation who were reinstated by the old board be sent back to their former rooms, and in case other teachers had been assigned they, and not the federation teachers, should be sent to other schools.

There is to be a special meeting of the new board to consider the matter next Tuesday.

ANOTHER DULL SESSION.

New York, July 2.—In its essential features today's stock market was a repetition of recent dull and irregular sessions. Business was much curtailed because of the impending holiday and the continued absence of public participation.

Many conditions were actually conducive to speculation for the bull account, but trading in that quarter was checked by increasing perplexities regarding war profits and taxes. Call loans were in free supply at 3½% and the money was more abundant than at any period in the last three weeks.

Rails renewed their attacks upon the more industrial issues, chiefly motors, some of the lesser equipments and minor specialties. Studebaker showing an extreme loss of about six points and others of the motor division yielding 2 to 4.

Rails also experienced additional price shrinkage, a few of the dividend issues reaching lowest quotations for the current decline. That group rallied briskly in the covering movement of the final hour, St. Paul making material recovery from yesterday's severe loss. Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Great Northern and Reading were equally responsive to the support.

Gains in Coppers and Oils.

Pronounced betterment also was shown in coppers, oils, tobaccos and certain high-priced specialties under professional control. Industrial Alcohol, Ohio Cities Gas, Mexican Petroleum and American Sumatra Tobacco finished at gains of 1 to 4 points.

United States Steel and kindred shares were depressed during the greater part of the day, but hardened later on the strength of allied equipments. Virtually all the activity occurred in the first hour, the balance of the session being characterized by extreme apathy.

The strength of Swiss exchange featured the market for foreign remittances, rubles holding at the minimum recorded yesterday. Railroad bonds were heavy, miscellaneous irregular and liberty bonds firm at par to 100 5-32. U. S. coupon and registered 2s and 4s declined one-half per cent on call. Registered 4s lost one per cent on a single sale.

MOIR HOTEL CO. PAYS 6 PER CENT FOR $300,000

Real Estate Transfers

Real estate transfers filed for record yesterday totaled 221, of which 177 were in the city and 44 outside, including 15 under the Torrens system. Transfers were as follows:

Rogers Park	6	Cicero	9

South Town	6	New Trier	4
Hyde Park	35	Norwood Park	1

The Moir Hotel company has given a trust deed to the Chicago Title and Trust company, which covers a loan of $300,000 at 6 per cent. The money is to be used in connection with recent improvements. The loan is to be repaid with a series of notes, the last of which is payable Dec. 1, 1922.

Prior incumbrances against the hotel property, at the southeast corner of Madison and Clark streets, include a trust deed for $2,000,000 at 6 per cent, dated April 15, 1913, for which Andrew J. Graham was trustee; a trust deed to the Chicago Title and Trust company for $3,500,000 at 6 per cent, dated Nov. 1, 1916, and a trust deed to J. Gist Search for $150,000, also at 6 per cent.

Explains Graham's Connection.

Harry C. Moir, proprietor of the Morrison hotel, said yesterday that the first $2,000,000 was taken up by the $3,500,000., and that the $1,500,000 difference was used on the Edelweiss restaurant, which adjoins the hotel on Madison street. With reference to "Andy" Graham's connection with the deal Mr. Moir said:

"Andy Graham made $150,000 by selling our issue of bonds, for we paid him a commission of 7½ per cent, out of which he paid for some advertising and the small expense in connection with the selling the securities. At first they sold well, but the outbreak of war caused the sale to slow down." All were sold, however. The total obligation against the hotel proper is $2,450,000. The Grahams were entirely taken out of the transaction when the $3,500,000 was obtained. There is absolutely no truth in rumors that Graham lost anything on the deal."

Buys Sheridan Road Residence.

Joseph P. Griffin, president of the board of trade, has purchased the new residence at 7324 Sheridan road from John W. Snyder, the builder. The lot is 80x150 feet, and the house stands on a high terrace. The building is of pressed brick and contains ten rooms, with a sun porch, two sleeping porches and three bathrooms. Mr. Griffin expects to move in during the next few weeks. It is believed that the consideration was about $25,000. Victor J. Curto represented both buyer and seller.

Stanley K. Gage has purchased from Catherine McCarthy the modern six flat building at 136 West Sixty-ninth street for $19,500, the incumbrance being $9,000. The lot is 65x100 feet. Rentals are about $2,700. In part payment Mr. Gage gave vacant manufacturing property at the southeast corner of Flournoy and De Kalb streets, with a frontage of 186 feet on Flournoy street, for $3,500, and a four flat building at 3843 Langley avenue for $13,500, subject to an incumbrance of $6,000. It is said that Miss McCarthy intends to put up a building to cost $35,000 on the Flournoy corner. Thomas Conran & Co., in connection with W. C. Gunn, were the brokers.

West Side Sale.

An apartment and store building at the southeast corner of Ogden avenue and Van Buren street has been sold by Louis Solomon to Byron J. Schoenmann for $45,000. The frontage on Ogden avenue is 145 feet, the depth being irregular. In part payment Mr. Schoenmann gave the southeast corner of Grand boulevard and Forty-fifth street, 82x150 feet, for $31,500. The south twenty-five feet is improved with a three story brick residence and plans have been drawn for a twenty-four apartment building to be put up on the vacant corner. The transaction was negotiated by George S. Lurie & Co. and Whiteside & Wentworth.

The South park commissioners have made two additional purchases west and south of Gage park. Seven and one-half acres are being purchased for an addition to the park. The purchases are now about 70 per cent complete.

Michigan Avenue Loan.

Samuel Kohn has obtained a loan of $60,000 for five years at 5 per cent from the Berkshire Life Insurance company. The property is at the southeast corner of Michigan avenue and Forty-seventh street, 100x143 feet.

The City Ice and Supply company has given a trust deed covering a loan for $60,000, for ten years at 6 per cent. A. G. Peabody is trustee. The property is at the northeast corner of Seventy-fourth place and East End avenue. It is irregular, and is 450x230x580 feet.

Diversity in Evanston.

The diversity in the figures listed for Evanston and the town of Ridgeville is caused by a portion of each municipality's assessment included in the other in both years.

Cut Studebaker Assessment from $2,170,980 to $250,000

South Bend, Ind., July 3.—[Special.]—Because Joseph Voorde, township assessor, assessed the property of the late J. M. Studebaker Sr. at $2,170,980 in 1917, when the appraised valuation last year was but $14,000, officials of the Studebaker corporation and George W. Witwer, private secretary to the late Studebaker Sr., appeared before the county board of review this morning and remonstrated against the action, with the result that the appraisement was reduced to $250,000. The tremendous increase was due to the fact that the assessor, Joseph Voorde, according to his statement, was never before able to ascertain the exact amount of property the late Mr. Studebaker owned.

Help Wanted

Like thousands of others, believing farming is going to be the best business, I have decided to go back to the soil. Have closely inspected and walked over about 2,000 acres of railroad land in Louisiana and know that the very best portion of this land, by taking an option on this whole tract I have been able to secure a good price and easy terms, but I haven't the money to handle more than 160 acres and want German friends to take up the other farms in such size tracts as they are able to handle. Until a few years have been thirteen years in South and have a success of farming. If you mean business let me hear from you, as my time is limited. Address G L 442, Tribune.
